DRASTIC ORDER FREEZES U. S. SOFT COAL SUPPLY

EXPECT KERR TO HEAD DEMOCRATS

Reported To Be Choice Of Party Leaders To Succeed Hannegan

CHOICE REPORTED VIEWED FAVORABLY BY PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Gov. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma was reported today to be the choice of party leaders to succeed Robert E. Hannegan as Democratic national chairman if the latter resigns in January as expected.

President Truman was said by associates to look with favor on the selection of Kerr, who keynoted the 1944 party convention at which Mr. Truman was nominated for vice-president.

Kerr threw the 22 Oklahoma votes he received for vice-president on the first ballot of the 1944 convention to Mr. Truman on the second ballot, when the latter was nominated.

Friends of Hannegan, who recently went to Walter Reed Hospital here for a physical checkup, report he has expressed a desire to step out as chairman at the annual meeting of the Democratic committee here shortly after the first of the year.

However, Hannegan is expected to retain his place in the cabinet as postmaster general.

The fact that Oklahoma remained in the Democratic column in this year's Republican turnover, electing Roy Turner governor to succeed Kerr, brought the latter again into the limelight. Kerr often has been mentioned as a possible cabinet appointee.

On the other hand, the Democrats'

TRUMAN SPEAKS TO MIDSHIPMEN

Tells Students U. S. Must Be Run For Welfare Of World

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 16.—(AP)—President Truman, greeted by cheers of midshipmen assembled in their mess hall, told the United States Naval Academy students today that the United States "must be run for the welfare of the world—not selfishly."

"It must be run for the peace of the world," he asserted, adding in his extemporaneous speech that the men at the naval academy were "being educated to keep the peace of the world. You must keep the peace of the world. If you don't keep the peace of the world, there will be no peace."

The president arrived here at 9:30 a. m., aboard the presidential yacht, U. S. S. Williamsburg, after an overnight trip from Washington to inspect the academy and attend the Navy-Penn State game.

As he debarked, Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said Mr. Truman had been informed that United Mine Workers Chief John L. Lewis had notified Secretary of Interior Krug of the cancellation of his work contract with the government next Wednesday.

"There have been no new developments from the White House since yesterday — no overnight developments," Ross said.

Ross said Mr. Truman would leave the handing of the coal crisis to Krug and Reconversion Director John L. Steelman and would fly tomorrow to Key West, Fla., for a week's rest.

As Mr. Truman stepped from the yacht at the academy, a 21-gun salute

PLANE'S WRECKAGE REACHED BY POSSE

BURBANK, Calif., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Marshall Wooster, Western Airlines chief pilot, said tonight that nine members of a ground posse had reached the wreckage of a Western plane which crashed Wednesday on White Mountain with 11 persons aboard.

Wooster said there was no indication from the posse that any of the 11 aboard the plane were still alive, and he presumed all were dead.

Two of the nine men to reach the wreckage made camp and prepared to spend the night on the snow-covered peak, Wooster reported. The other seven started back to the camp at the base of the mountain at dusk.

The new information Wooster said was radioed to the camp from a Walkie Talkie carried by the main searching party, which he earlier reported had turned back after struggling upward to within 300 yards of the wreck.

Wooster said he dropped a note to the men afoot, telling them they apparently were within 300 yards of the plane, asking if they could go to it if food and sleeping bag were dropped to them and requesting them to write "yes" or "no" in the snow.

He said they got the note, wrote "no" in the snow and continued backtracking down the mountain, evidently feeling it was unsafe to remain on the peak longer.

Jes' Ramblin'

Who set off the blast that threw Monroe into a frenzied pandemonium last Friday night? We will gladly recompense the person who will explain a mystery that no city, parish or state peace officer can unravel. The north part of the city rocked in the intonation and frenzied persons rushed pell mell by foot and car hither and thither in quest of a solution. Everybody wants to know how it happened and the extent of the damage which as far as can be ascertained, comprised the forcible hurling out of their beds of two young women, names undisclosed. Someone has suggested that Neville High School football fans, drunk with victory over the winning of that game with Arcadia, were responsible for that thunderous blast; others are sure that the former wartime ammonia plant at Sterlington suddenly coming back to life was responsible; others genuinely curious as to what an atomic bomb might be like, were sure it was one of those things dropped down by emissaries of Red Moscow. One man was sure that some butane gas tank miles distant had exploded, and that was what had shaken the daylights out of Monroe. Be all this as it may, we are still from Missouri and must be shown what really did

Predict Government Onslaught Will Be Made In 10 To 14 Days

By John Roderick

YENAN, Nov. 14.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Chinese Communists rushed their women and children to the hills today and vowed to defend this headquarters city to the death against a government onslaught which they predicted in 10 to 14 days.

As I arrived from Peiping aboard an American army transport plane, air raid sirens wailed a warning against a government P-38 Lightning reconnaissance craft, which methodically circled high overhead.

(The Yenan radio, which transmitted this dispatch for Roderick, said his trip from the air field to the city was delayed more than two hours by alarms caused by government observation planes.)

Government authorities in Nanking have repeatedly denied plans to assault Yenan, but a Communist spokesman said Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's armies were massing in great strength for an imminent four-way

G. O. P. DRIVE TO BAR BILBO AIDED

Some Democrats Support Movement Against Mississippi Senator

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The Republican drive to bar Senator Bilbo, Democrat, Mississippi, from his seat, gained some Democratic aid today as the Senate campaign investigating committee voted a full scale inquiry into his anti-Negro stand.

The vote was unanimous on the part of the three Democratic as well as the two Republican committee members.

Public hearings will be held in Mississippi no later than Dec. 2.

Specifically, they will explore sworn complaints that Bilbo violated the constitution by preventing Negroes from voting in the primary in which he won renomination.

If the charges are upheld, they would provide a basis for the Republican steering committee to proceed with its avowed intention of challenging Bilbo's right to the seat.

The steering committee has appointed Senators Bridges, Republican, New Hampshire, and Hickenlooper, Republican, Iowa, as a subcommittee to plan the strategy. They also are members of the campaign investigating committee. The Democratic members are Chairman Ellender of Louisiana and Senators Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma and Maybank of South Carolina. Maybank did not attend today's session but his vote was cast by proxy.

The campaign investigating committee also:

1. Decided to ask Attorney General Clark to prosecute, if possible, those responsible for a book entitled "Plot Against American," which figured in the Democratic senatorial primary in Montana. The veteran Senator Burton K. Wheeler lost the Democratic nomination to Leif Erickson but Erickson was defeated in the November election. Ellender termed the book, which attacked Wheeler, "one of the vilest and most contemptible and obscene pieces of literature" ever used against a public office holder.

Selection of next convention city.

Address, "Today's and Tomorrow's Market"—A. R. Jaqua, director Institute of Insurance, S. M. U., Dallas, Texas.

The convention, attended by approximately 200 insurance men from all parts of the state, was regarded one of the most enthusiastic and generally successful than has ever been held by the organization.

Millionaire Owner Of United Distillery Products Acquitted

N. Tully Semel, millionaire owner of the United Distillery Products Company of Amston, Conn., was acquitted and his three New York co-defendants were convicted by a jury in the Tallulah black market whiskey case in federal district court here yesterday afternoon.

Harry Weiner, president, and Israel Needleman, general manager of the Distillers Corporation of New Brunswick, N. J., and New York, and Irwin (Ike) Kott, a liquor broker, were found guilty of conspiracy to violate the OPA law and of having sold 356 cases of whiskey to the John Beverage Company of Tallulah at an above-ceiling price in September, 1945. The jury had been instructed to disregard the two counts of the indictment that charged offering and agreeing to sell if they should vote guilt on the third, which covered the actual sale.

Pending arguments on a motion for a new trial, which Judge Ben C. Dawkins said he would hear at Shreveport on December 3, the three convicted men remained at liberty

RECOVER BULK OF U. S. BLOOD PLASMA

SHANGHAI, Nov. 16. —(AP)— The bulk of a 3,500-case shipment of American blood plasma which inadvertently got into the Chinese market was found in two warehouses today.

U. S. navy shore patrol guards were placed at both while U. S. Counsel General Monett B. Davis and federal liquidation commission officials conferred on means of regaining the plasma through the Chinese government.

The plasma was part of an uninventoried navy medical stock on Okinawa recently sold to Chinese purchasers. It had been readily retailing at $25 a pint in Shanghai—a price making the whole consignment worth well over $1,000,000.

The amount located today was not fully determined, but American officials said one warehouse contained at least 2,000 cases of 12 pints each, and the other "several hundred" cases.

It was found through a tip given by a Russian warehouse manager to Fred Hampson and Spencer Moosa of the Associated Press after various officials had spent a month searching for it. The Russian happened to mention that he had seen plasma being taken from a warehouse across the street from his own. Clues there led to the second cache.

METHODISTS TO END CONFERENCE TODAY

ALEXANDRIA, La., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Reports of committees and boards today constituted the business of the 101st annual conference of the Methodist Church here.

The conference will close tomorrow afternoon with the reading of the ministorial assignments for 1947 by Bishop Paul E. Martin.

The financial report was submitted by the Rev. R. W. Vaughan, Ruston, and the Rev. L. E. Douglas, Sulphur, submitted a report for the extension section of the board of missions. The Rev. W. E. Trice, Baton Rouge, said $147,412 was now in the fund for a student center at Louisiana State University.

NAZI WOMAN FLIER TELLS OF HITLER'S LAST FRANTIC DAYS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(AP)—A German woman flier's wierd story of the "comic-tragedy" last days in Adolf Hitler's air raid shelter in Berlin was published tonight by Justice Jackson's war crimes prosecution staff.

The flier, Hanna Reitsch, internationally known test pilot, told American questioners that Hitler's personality underwent "complete disintegration" in the final days before the Russians overran the shelter beneath the Reichs chancellery.

Her 10,000-word account was included in the latest of an official series of volumes, along with Hitler's private and political wills and other documents which were not placed in the Nuernberg trial record. In it she said:

1. Almost to the last Hitler clung to the hope of rescue, waved papers in nervous, twitching hands, or moved buttons to represent his non-existent armies on a sweat-stained map "like a young boy playing at war."

2. Both he and Goebbels were incensed at the "treachery" of Goering and Himmler, whom Hitler in his political will ordered expelled from the Nazi party.

3. Goebbels strode and orated about his small quarters, while Martin Bormann, Hitler's designated heir, kept busy "recording the momentous events in the bunker for posterity."

4. Eva Braun remained true to her role as the show piece of the fuerher's entourage. The rumor of the last-minute marriage ceremony Fraulein Reitsch considered "highly unlikely."

5. The possibility that Hitler might have escaped alive was "completely absurd," because he would not have had the strength to leave even had

C. I. O. SEEKING TO CLOSE RIFT

Harmony Committee Named In Effort To Put Own House In Order

ACTS ON ASSUMPTION WAR IS DECLARED BY BUSINESS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 17.—(AP)—The C. I. O., acting on an assumption that big business has "declared war" on it, was making a determined effort today to get its own house in order.

Existence of a division between the C. I. O.'s "right wing" and "left wing" was recognized more bluntly than ever before by the C. I. O. leadership as they prepared for the C. I. O. convention which opens Monday.

President Philip Murray, regarded as virtually certain to accept reelection, acknowledged today in a brief news conference the existence of a special C. I. O. committee which is working on harmony.

Other leaders have disclosed that it has six members, equally divided between the right and left wings.

It was learned that Murray told the executive board yesterday in emphatic terms that C. I. O. unions will meet strong resistance this winter in their fight for a second post-war round of wage increases.

Others present at the meeting said Murray referred specially to recent utterances of Alfred P. Sloan, board chairman of General Motors and that Murray interpreted such utteranges as a "declaration of war."

Sloan's most recent speech was Nov. 13 in Chicago when he told the 26th annual American Petroleum Institute convention that;

"Collective bargaining must be permitted to follow the full course without interference from any outside influence and irrespective of the economic consequences of the contending parties.

"When the public interests are substantially involved, they must be protected by law limiting the scope of strikes or of decentralizing the economic power of labor to the point where the public interests are not substantially affected."

The 60-year-old Murray has been C. I. O. president for six years. This week-end he has taken two actions:

1. He sponsored new rules and won unanimous approval of the C. I. O. executive board bringing city and state C. I. O. councils under tighter control of the national C. I. O. Some of these councils have been accused of leftist activities.

2. Pressed by right wingers, Murray appointed the six-man harmony com-

TRIESTE CONTROL NEARER SOLUTION

Molotov Agrees To Placing Supreme Powers In Governor's Hands

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The council of foreign ministers made progress today toward reaching a solution on the thorny issue of control of Trieste, but ran into a new snag on the problem of a deadline for removal of occupation troops.

A three-hour session ended with a decision to turn over to Deputy Foreign Minister Couve de Murville of France the problem of drafting an agreement on the issue of who should have control of Trieste police—a point which Secretary of State James F. Byrnes has termed essential to a solution on administration of the ancient Adriatic port, and to the prestige of the United Nations.

Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov of Russia once again raised the issue of a deadline for departure of occupation troops from Trieste.

This, in itself, may prove an issue

Lewis Is Firm On Strike Challenge

Government Takes Over Not Only Future Production But Stocks In Transit And In Dealers' Yards; Will Dole Supply

By Norman Walker

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—A drastic government order froze the nation's meager soft coal supplies and placed them under rationing today as John L. Lewis stonily stood pat on the challenge which threatens a strike at midnight Wednesday.

Going far beyond the freeze order issued at the time of the bituminous strike last spring, the government seized control not only of future coal production but also of all stocks now in transit and in dealers' yards. It will be doled out only to utilities, railroads, ships, hospitals, laundries, food plants and householders having less than ten days' supply on hand.

"Issuance of these orders is an essential precaution in view of the unwillingness of the president of the United Mine Workers to accede with the president's request to reconsider the government's proposal looking toward a settlement of the coal controversy," Secretary of the Interior Krug told the worried public in a statement.

As the government thus prepared for the worst, Lewis ignored the administration's second appeal for a 60-day truce and its pointed warning that he has no legal grounds for terminating the miners' present contract.

Members of the operators' negotiating committee, who had agreed to the administration proposal for negotiations with Lewis over his new wage demands, took Lewis' refusal at its face and scattered to their homes.

And the impasse continued without signs of a break. A high government official reported privately that the administration has not decided what further steps to take. Charles G. Ross, White House press secretary, accompanying Mr. Truman to the Navy-Penn State football game at Annapolis, told reporters that "there have been absolutely no developments overnight."

The freeze of the coal supplies, effective as of noon today, was in three orders. One covered coal in transit and that which may be produced hereafter, estimated to come to 8,500,000 tons by midnight Wednesday with normal production. Another covered all coal in shipment on the Great Lakes or other waterways, including tidewater shipments not affected by earlier freeze orders. The third covered all coal in retail yards.

None of this coal may be distributed to consumers from now on except upon permission of the Solid Fuels Administration, This agency authorized its area and regional representatives to issue special coal supplies sparingly "if such action is necessary to safeguard the health or safety of the community."

Stocks now on hand are estimated to amount to a 37-day supply under normal consumption, compared to a 42-day supply on hand at the time of the strike last spring.

The freeze covers only soft coal. Anthracite may be distributed normally.

Freeze orders in the past have come only a few hours before or after a

PRIVATE PACT ON VETO IS SOUGHT

Big Powers Ready To Take Question Out Of Assembly's Hands

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 16.—(AP)—The big five powers tonight were ready to take the bitter battle over the veto out of the hands of the United Nations assembly and try for private agreement on some sort of modifications after presenting a solid front against changing the charter.

Following up a British call for consultations among the major countries next Monday, France asked the general assembly's 51-nation political committee to suspend the debate that has brought the special voting right under continuous barrage from the small nations.

British sources said the Monday meeting would go on regardless of the disposition of the French proposal and declared assurances to attend had been received from all principals, including Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

In advancing his plan to close the debate, French Delegate Alexandre Parodi lined up with the other big powers in opposing any revision of the charter but called for improvement of the procedure of voting in the security council.

Now all of the five major powers except Russia have taken the position that the council itself should limit the use of the veto to rare and exceptional cases.

The Soviet Union has not indicated its willingness to approve even modifications and clarificatons, but Molotov's acceptance of an invitation to confer raised hopes that an eventual agreement might be reached to satisfy all the 51 nations.

V. K. Wellington Koo of China warned the committee that any hasty attempt to revise the charter "might undermine the very foundations of our organization," but agreed that the use of the veto should be voluntarily limited by the exercising members.

Koo specifically called for the security council to study its rules in the light of the vigorous objections by small nations in the assembly and for the big five to meet and clarify their definition of questions which should or should not be subject to veto.

Parodi advanced two specific suggestions for the big five to consider:

1. That the security council make greater use of sub-commissions and rapporteurs to reduce voting to a minimum. He said the council's treatment of problems was "too sketchy and too brutal" and in the glare of publicity appeared "something like a boxing match."

2. That a rule be adopted to make the use of the veto optional instead of atomatic. He declared that under present conditions, a big nation voting with the minority or abstaining

SAY STEPINAC MAY BE NAMED CARDINAL

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Vatican sources said tonight that Archbishop Alojzijc Stepinac of Yugoslavia, who is serving a 16-year prison term in that country following his conviction of "crimes against the people," might possibly be named a cardinal if a special Christmas consistory is convened.

These sources said, however, that only Pope Pius XII could say at this time whether such a consistory would be called.

The sources made the statement in connection with a broadcast by the Moscow radio, which quoted "Rome journalistic circles" as saying that Pope Pius XII planned to appoint the archbishop to the college of cardinals.

During the last few weeks, some Vatican prelates have swung to the belief that a special Christmas consistory would be called, because six Cardinals have died this year, thus lowering the membership of the college from its maximum of 70 to 64.

The Vatican radio and the Vatican newspaper L'Oservatore Romano have criticized the Stepinac trial almost daily, devoting considerable time and space to world reaction.

GAS FRANCHISE TERMS ARE DISCUSSED AGAIN

Another discussion of the United Gas Corporation's application for a 25-year renewal of its recently expired 30-year franchise for supplying gas in Monroe was held in the mayor's office yesterday and at its conclusion announcement was made that terms had not yet been agreed upon.

Present at the conference were H. P. Carroll, of Houston, Texas, executive manager, and J. Shelby Cage, local manager of the company, and Mayor H. H. Benoit, Commissioners C. R. Tidwell and W. D. H. Rodriguez and City Attorney S. L. Digby.

ONLY 111 CONFEDERATE VETS OF 600,000 ARE STILL ALIVE

By Harry L. Smith

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Records in 14 states in the south and southwest show that of the hundreds of thousands of troops that fought under the stars and bars of the Confederacy only 111 are alive today.

These are all that are known to remain of the 600,000 or more men who answered the call to the colors from the time the war started until the surrender at Appomattox.

When taps sound for these the south's strongest link with the past will be broken. These are the few who can say "I remember" the men and the places that became a vital part of southern history.

Johnny Reb mustered an estimated 71,000 men at Chicamaugua Creek, 62,000 at Chancellorsville; 70,000 at Malvern Hill and 58,000 at Cold Harbor to fight some of his fiercest battles. Now he can call up no more than a company for the last great battle against time.

The replacements are lean, white-haired men whose ages average around the century mark. More than 6,000 of his comrades have died for each one who remains alive.

Nine of the 111 are reported living in the state of Oklahoma, which was part of the Indian Territory at the time of the War Between the States. On the basis of records which in many instances are not complete, Wiley Bearden, of Wadill, Oklahoma, is the oldest of the group. He is 106.

Available records show one regular commissioned officer still living. He is Captain Alden Howell, of Waynesville, North Carolina, who now resides in Los Angeles. Captain Howell, 105, served with Company B, Sixth Regiment, N. C. S. T. and Company

RODEO REVUE IS SLATED TWO DAYS

The All-Star Cowgirl Rodeo-Revue, sponsored by the West Monroe V. F. W. Post, announced to be held Saturday night and Sunday afternoon in the Gentry stadium in West Monroe, ran into bad weather Saturday. Saturday's show was of necessity cancelled.

It is now announced that the show will be given Sunday afternoon and also Monday night.

Among the performers is Miss Vaughan Kreig, who has at her home, the famous "Flying V" dude ranch in Fort Towson, Okla., entertained Gene Autry. She will direct arena activities of the all girl revue. Autry left Oklahoma to make a personal appearance in the Dixie Jubilee Horse Show in Baton Rouge the past week-end. Miss Kreig has been a spotlight star in great outdoor sport shows and is a cowgirl world's champion bronc rider.

BRITISH MAGNATE EAST SIDE NEW YORKER WHO MADE GOOD

By Jean Meegan
(AP News Feature Writer)

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Manhattan's rowdy, hardbitten, poverty-ridden lower east side has had a guest from London this fall, a knighted millionaire from Regent Park, who got lonesome for the boyhood pals of his old Grand street neighborhood.

Sir Louis Sterling is a British magnate who put a switch on the old adage "America is the land of opportunity" by leaving it at 20 to make a fortune in England. "I left," he says, "because I had the job second to the boss in an exporting business—and he didn't look to me like he was going to die!"

Sterling set out for England with a diploma from the Hebrew Technical Institute, six English pounds, and a gramaphone. It was the gramaphone that made him his British fortune. Within five years he was European representative of the Columbia Phonograph Company and within 15 years he merged the four largest phonograph manufacturing companies under the title "His Masters Voice" with a capital of $18,000,000. Thus the lad from Grand street became a magnate of Threadneedle street.

The dramatic story of the boy who was born in a railroad tenement is not how much money he has accumulated but how much he has dispensed. "I've given away as much as I've kept" he estimates.

On his 50th birthday (May 1929) he handed out $1,500,000. "My employees got a half million, the managers and heads of departments got another half million and charity got a pretty good whack."

He has a theory that as soon as a person finds his own standard of living level he should hold it—and give away the rest of his money. All surplus, he says, "is just paper in the vault."

Cheerily, he announced at 68: "I don't care about money except to spend it. I've got enough for my wife and myself to get along pretty comfortably and I've arranged for the rest of the family."

Nobody, however, is going to walk away with Sterling's suspenders in a business deal. "I'll always make money," he says. "I chucked the phonograph business in 1939 but have an interest in some plastics now." He also is a partner in the English banking house of S. G. Warburg and Company.

When he arrived in New York he said he had given his library, valued at over $1,000,000 and considered the most valuable private library in England, to the University of London. "It was something," he said, "that took me 35 years to build up and I hated to have it scattered all over the place when I kick the bucket. I made my money there and the university didn't have a library of literature. Mine is composed of first editions from Shakespeare onward."

Sir Louis is a socialist. "I just always believed in the underdog, I was an underdog," he says, "and happened to be lucky and make money."

In 1933 he became a British subject and in 1937 on the coronation of George VI, the new monarch made him a knight bachelor. The Grand Street Boys' Association rose to the occasion and wrote the king thanking him for honoring their "ambassador of good will to the court of St. James.' The best part of it was that the king wrote back!

The New Yorker gave a party when he achieved his title that some of his guests still are talking about. Sir Thomas Beecham was master of ceremonies and the rooms swarmed with entertainers. It was what the English call a "posh" affair.

Even the New York Sun got a little giddy and printed a verse:

"Once he played ball in gutters
And knew well 'cheese it! Cops!'
Now he's come into a knighthood,
Which is close to East Side tops."

Louis Sterling changed himself from the son of a poor Russian immigrant to a member of British aristocracy, but his old friends from the east side say that he still is the same. After 45 years in London his speech has something of an English patina but still is unmistakably old - fashioned New York. He says "fetch" and "chuck" but he also says "sperl" instead of "spoil."

Short, slight of frame, with soft gray hair, his entertaining probably has been the only thing about him definitely in the millionaire manner. The Sterlings have held open house for Americans on Sunday nights for 30 years in the Regent Park mansion. Recently Sir Louis said, "I don't know who the guys were that came, but 40 people sat down to dinner there every Sunday. We mixed in adventurers and stuffed shirts, everybody from burglars up."

During the war they cut back to just tea and cocktails for American servicemen. "We couldn't keep them for food, you know," Sir Louis said when he came back. He ran a half dozen war factories in the war years and administered the funds for "Grand Street House" in Surrey, England, "a home for the convalescence of nerve-wracked mothers and children—from New York's one-time east siders to London's east enders."

The boy who started out nearly 50 years ago on his maiden voyage across the Atlantic since has crossed the ocean 94 times. This time he and Cissy, his wife, came "because we hadn't been here in a long time and we wanted to see our brothers and sisters, nieces and nephews."

They were in residence at a Park Avenue hotel but the climax of the trip was the party given by the friends from the old neighborhood "for Sir Louis Sterling and Lady Sterling—(Louis and Cissy to Grand street)."

NEW LOAN PLAN NOW AVAILABLE

Local residents and many people in nearby towns are taking advantage of a new loan plan offering one-day service on loans from $50 to $5,000 on autos paid for or not or almost anything else. Usually the owner gets the actual cash within 10 minutes. PRESCOTT SEES EDUCATION NEED

Emotional, Physical Child Development Declared Essential

"Teachers must be taught to understand children, physically and emotionally as well as mentally; they must be trained as never before to achieve this end, and they must be paid the salary that professional persons receive or our Democracy will crumble," stated Dr. Daniel Prescott, of the faculty of the University of Chicago, who was interviewed by a Morning World reporter in Hotel Virginia Saturday. His presence here was to address school supervisors and teachers studying his program in the Fifth congressional district.

Incidentally, he stated that in many schools there were pupils who, in off hours, made far more money than their teachers who have spent long years of study at large expense. In Maryland, boys catch and sell fish and in many cases make as much as $50 a week while attending school, far outclassing earnings of their teachers. Bus drivers learn their duties in a few hours, and earn far more in most cases than do school teachers, he said.

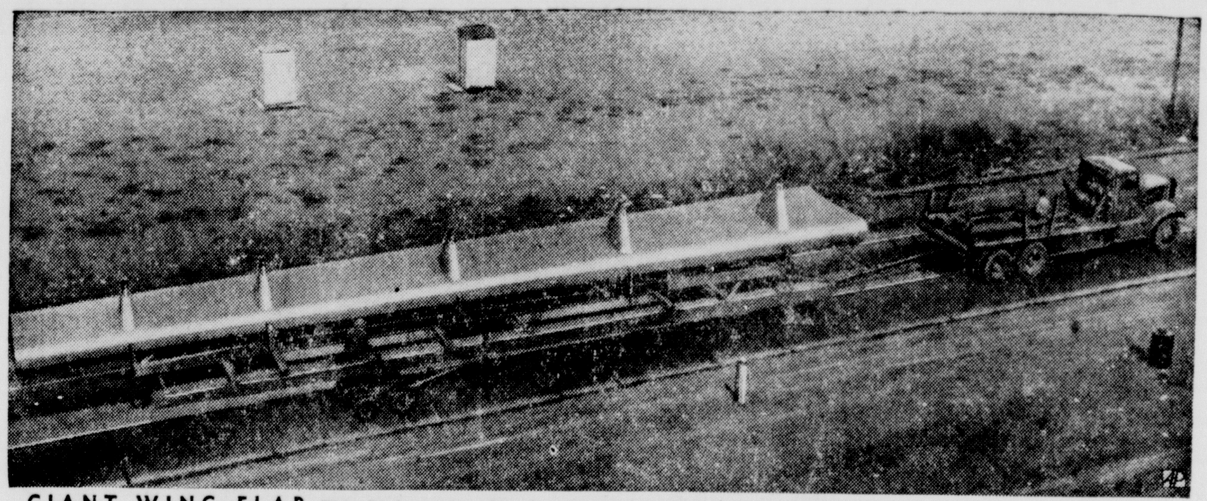

Dr. Prescott outlined the present work in which he is engaged and in which he has become an authority. Back in 1939, he said, the general education board received a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation in connection with the expenditure of millions of dollars to the American Council of Education to plan education of boys and girls. The section in which the doctor was affiliated received $250,000.

This sum has been used for five years in collecting recent research work in finding out what influences most the development of children. This data has been collected at the University of Chicago and educators were given instruction there for a period of one year on this subject. They came from colleges and universities scattered through the country. There also were 14 groups formed to study the school systems in an effort to help teachers diffuse needed instruction. This work, widely scattered, extended to such cities as Philadelphia, Spokane, Los Angeles, and Houston. Rural sections also were included and comprised Vermont, Virginia and Georgia in an effort to obtain a cross section of American education as it is to be found today.

At this time Chicago University carries on practical instruction for 6,000 teachers who range in their home localities from New York to the Rio Grande. Teachers are taught to take new interests in all that concerns their pupils. The practical side of life is given as much attention as the theoretical. Three times yearly, he said, the university sends consultants to visit in order to disseminate closeup knowledge.

Dr. Prescott is author of several helpful textbooks. One is entitled: "Emotion and the Educational Process" and another, "Helping Teachers to Understand Children." He receives no royalties on these books although they are widely circulated and highly prized by school executives and teachers.

Workshops, some two weeks, some six weeks are held at the University of Chicago for various groups of teachers and leaders. Last summer five from the Northeast Louisiana area attended, Monroe's representative being Miss Marjorie Oliver, supervisor of the city schools, and the meeting Saturday morning in Monroe in which Dr. Prescott was speaker resulted.

A Courageous Rebuke

Russia's Deputy Foreign Minister, Mr. Vishinsky, heard some plain words spoken about his country's policies by an old and patient friend of the Soviet Union last week. The speaker was Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, and the occasion was a meeting of the UN International Refugee Organization.

Mrs. Roosevelt's words were in reply to Mr. Vishinsky's latest insistence on the Russian demand that all displaced persons be returned to the place of their birth. She defended the proposed IRO constitution, which would not force a refugee to go home to changed political conditions which might threaten his safety or his freedom.

Mr. Vishinsky had spoken again of Russian "democracy." He had repeated the familiar accusations of "fascism," and had attacked the freedom of speech and press permitted in refugee camps as "hostile propaganda."

To this Mrs. Roosevelt made some pointed answers. "As Mr. Vishinsky uses it," she said, "it would seem that democracy is synonymous with Soviet. . . . Under that formula I am very sure he would not accept some of the other nations of the world who consider themselves democracies and who are as willing to die for their beliefs as are the people of the Soviet Union."

Elsewhere in her speech Mrs. Roosevelt gave about as concise a statement of the cause and remedy of Soviet-American differences as has been offered in the whole period of those unfortunate misunderstandings.

"We in the United States tolerate opposition," she said, "provided it does not extend to the point of advocacy of overthrow of the government by force. Unless the right of opposition is conceded, it seems to me that there is very little possibility that countries with differing conceptions of democracy can live together without friction in the same world."

If we could believe that Russia would take advice from an old friend with better grace than from a casual and suspicious acquaintance, then we might dare to hope that Mrs. Roosevelt's counsel would be heeded. But Russia's reaction to advice in the past makes such a hope a very faint one.

Nevertheless, Mrs. Roosevelt accomplished two things. She gave Mr. Vishinsky a courteous but pointed reminder that Russia's sweeping generalities and illogical assumptions of a monopoly of political and social virtues are decidedly unpalatable to most of the other countries which are trying to work and live with the Soviet Union.

And, although she may not have intended it, she also gave an answer to those of her country men who have repeatedly charged her, unkindly and untruly, with Communist sympathies.

Mrs. Roosevelt's speech before the IRO should silence those accusations definitely and finally. She proclaimed a philosophy of free government which is the antithesis of Russian Communism, a philosophy which as a nation we proudly cherish, even though as individuals we sometimes refute it.

Mrs. Roosevelt deserves the thanks of intelligent Americans for the courage as well as the honesty with which she rebuked the Russian government for its consistently unreasonable attitude.

WAIT AND SEE

Commenting on President Truman's price decontrol order, the president of the New York state C. I. O. said: "The inevitable effect of the president's surrender to reactionary pressure will be to force a wave of demands for higher wages, followed by strikes in many industries. Labor is too well organized to permit 'big business' to wipe out its gains and depress its living standards."

We would suggest to this gentleman and those of like mind that the president's "surrender" might possibly have been to the wishes of a majority of his countrymen, as expressed on November 5, and that "big business" is not big enough to have rolled up the November 5 majority for a party pledged to end price controls.

We would also suggest that the government did not intend price control to be permanent, but that it was imposed as a wartime safeguard.

We would further suggest that this C. I. O. official could serve his unions and his country better by at least waiting to see whether "big business" will be foolish enough to do all the horrible things that he so confidently predicts.

Otherwise, he is simply promising a wave of political strikes. And political strikes have never been very popular with the people on the sidelines.

THOSE, HANDY, HORRIBLE DOLLARS

It never seems to embarrass the Communistic, Socialistic and semi-Socialistic governments to hold out one hand for a loan of American dollars while, with the other, they point with scorn and dismay at American capitalism. This contradictory feat was most recently performed in the United Nations when Russia, after Mr. Molotov had made several nasty remarks about "dollar diplomacy" and "dollar democracy," was perfectly willing to let American dollars pay half the U. N.'s annual operating cost.

Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, in presenting the American view, took a good-natured poke at these critics, as well he might. If our economic system has worked so well, Mr. Vandenberg said in effect, that the United States with five per cent of the world's population has 50 per cent of the world's wealth (as the division of U. N. costs implied) then perhaps it might be well if all other nations adopted the same system.

Sometimes it seems that the bad taste and bad manners of various governments which damn us for our greed, then shamelessly ask for loans and as shamelessly resent the suggestion of repayment, deserve more of a rebuke from us than they have ever received. Perhaps, however, some of them will get the point of Mr. Vandenberg's gentle chiding.

Jimmie Fidler
IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 16.—Lana Turner enjoyed her South American tour so much that she's plotting another jaunt for spring; Europe, this time . . . Romantic: Victor Mature and Coila Sturdevant, a San Francisco model . . . Clark Gable and Marilyn Maxwell will co-star in a re-make of "Red Dust," in which Gable once teamed with the late Jean Harlow . . . Altar-bound: Steve Fisher, author of "Winter Kill" and "Gallant Man," and New York actress Kitty Irish . . . Storm damage to Jimmy Cagney's sailing yacht, Swift, will run into big money.

Expect Sonja Henie and Stuart Barthelmess, son of ex-star Richard Barthelmess, to swap "I do's" before 1947 . . . Time out for Elizabeth Taylor, victim of flu bugs . . . Jackie Cooper, who's been vacationing in Oregon, likes it so well that he's dickering for a Rogue River ranch . . . It's good news that Bessie Love, a silent screen favorite, is coming out of retirement to play a stage lead in London . . . Donald Meek, veteran character actor who suffered a heart attack last week, is in critical condition . . . Wot's this about Andy Devine threatening screen retirement to devote full time to an airplane factory in which he's financially interested?

Frank Sinatra and his Nancy, now fully reconciled, will second-honeymoon in Bermuda . . . Martha (radio song-star) Mears has checked into a Hollywood hospital for a major operation . . . Talking marriage: Alex D'Arcy, ex-husband of Arleen Whelan, and Future Fulton, Broadway dancer.

PREVIEW NIGHT: Pic of an emaciated week: Republic's "That Brennan Girl" (James Dunn-Mona Freeman-William Marshall-June Duprez). Sentimental melodrama that will send the ladies home with tear-streaked but happy faces . . . FAIR: RKO's "Dick Tracy Versus Cueball" (Morgan Conway-Anne Jeffreys). A thriller series that got off to a good start clinches its position with an even better installment . . . Warner Brothers' "The Verdict" (Sidney Greenstreet-Peter Lorre-Joan Loring). Heavy, sombre melodrama that's long on histronics and shy on entertainment values. "The Verdict" is "thumbs down" for all but confirmed whodunit fans . . . BEST PERFORMANCE: Mona Freeman in "That Brennan Girl."

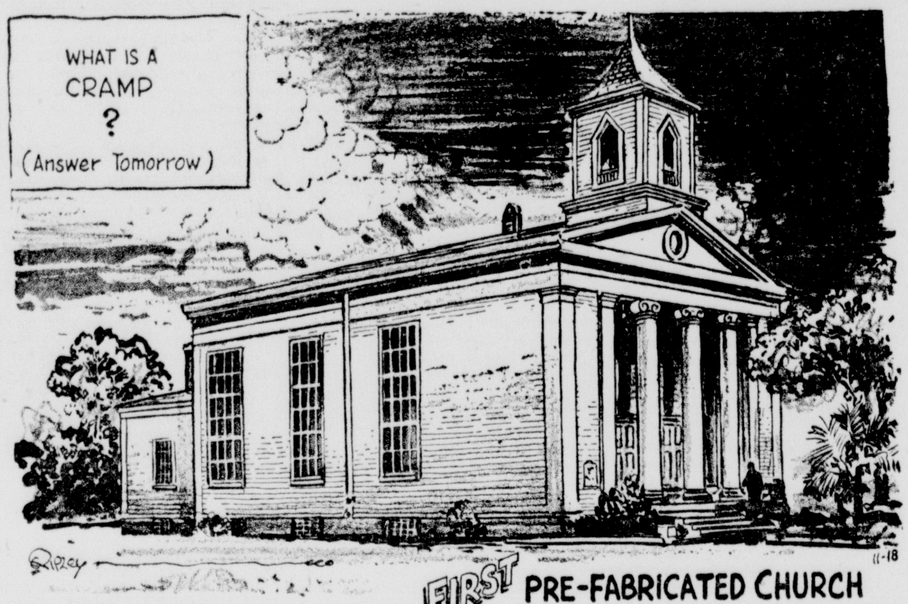

I was informed on good authority the other day that studio efficiency men, finding that production costs have increased 65 percent since 1940, are telling their bosses that admission prices and film rental must be raised accordingly. I'd like to challenge that conclusion while at the same time praising the movie industry for having kept theatre prices at comparatively low levels throughout the past few years. A great part of that 65 percent increase in production costs is due to the fabulous salary boosts given to a favored few—stars, directors, writers and executives. Those wage boosts, nine times out of ten, could have been avoided had the producers put up a determined and united front against cost inflation. It seems to me that it's time to start cutting costs rather than time to start hiking admission fees. The major portion of Hollywood top-heavy salaries are ear-marked for income taxes, anyway.

According to "insiders" at Warner Brothers, Bette Davis is now demanding a contract which would let her direct her own pictures. If that report is true, Miss Davis, in my opinion, will find that she's bitten off more than she can chew. Undeniably, she's thoroughly conversant with directorial techniques; I have no doubt that if she were to confine herself to directing, she would be outstanding in that field. But the two jobs of acting and directing seem to be like oil and water; they just don't mix, particularly when they're undertaken by a person as temperamental as Bette has proven herself to be on occasion. The only star who has been a thorough-going success in both posts, simultaneously, is Charlie Chaplin. He's succeeded, primarily, because his roles are the only ones of real importance in his pictures.

Local newspapers, reporting 17 Filmville martial rifts within the past week, quoted the rifters, in each case, to the effect that they were still "devoted friends." Such declarations are almost invariably made when Hollywood marriages go on the rocks. It occurs to me that John and Jane Public might have more respect for the institution of marriage in Hollywood if some of our divorce-bound stars who declare themselves anything but friendly to their estranged mates would do so in public. By so doing, they might give the outside world the impression that they have troubles serious enough to warrant divorce.

SCOUT LEADERS TO HAVE STUDY

Girl Sponsors To Take Program In Training Youth

Intermediate leaders of the Girl Scouts in the Twin Cities will be offered a three-day training program, November 19-21, from 9 to 11 a. m., in the Girl Scout office. The study will comprise general organization procedures for new leaders, program planning for the second class and program planning for badge work.

Growth of the Girl Scout movement in the Twin Cities has brought a corresponding growth in adult leadership. Following the leadership drive last February, the Girl Scout program has grown in activities and types of service, explains Mrs. Rodney Cline, chairman of the program committee.

More girls have become interested in the things that Brownies and Scouts do. Providing places for them in the organization called for additional leaders to form troops and assist in their various projects.

Women of Monroe and West Monroe who recently joined the list of leaders include the following:

Mesdames O. T. Lindsey, assistant of troop 1, West Monroe; J. H. Morgan and B. F. Dunagan, leaders of Brownie troop 2, Mitchell School; Carroll Todd, Jr., leader of troop 5, Georgia Tucker School; Edward Rinehart, assistant of troop 9, Georgia Tucker School; Harry L. Stone, assistant of troop 15, Georgia Tucker School; Ross Eady and Miss Agnes Shaw, leaders of troop 4, Neville High School; Norman Huckabye, assistant of troop 13, Sherrouse School; R. T. Norman, assistant of troop 24, St. Matthew's School; C. J. Shirah and F. H. Peterson, leaders of Brownies, Barkdull faulk School; Paul Blackman and L. C. Nolan, Jr., leaders of new Brownie troop, Georgia Tucker School; Paul Mackey, leader of troop 8, Ouachita Parish High School; Frank Manley, leader of Intermediate troop, Barkdull Faulk School; C. B. Parsons, assistant of troop 12, Barkdull Faulk School; Clay Albright and James Stewart, leaders of new Brownie troop, Georgia Tucker School; J. H. Bradley, leader of new Brownie troop, Central Grammar School.

A periodic check-up of motor vehicle lights was begun by Troop F of the Monroe state police barracks during the week and 12 drivers were placed under arrest.

The accused motorists, none of whom had been arraigned in court Saturday, were listed as Tillman Wollerson, 22, of Winnsboro; George Singleton, 26, colored, of Crowville; Albert Lacey, 43, of Mer Rouge; L. C. Holmes, 32, colored, of Gallion; J. D. Miles, 28, of Mer Rouge; Jimmy Baker, 44, colored, of Bastrop; L. A. Simpson, 29, of Bastrop; Charles Dickerson, 20, colored, of Mer Rouge; James Calvin Harris, 23, of Jones, and W. K. Porter, 62, Robert Penick, 40, and Billy Washington, 16, of Bastrop.

Arretsed by troopers and charged with operating motor vehicles while under the influence of alcohol during the week were Horace Arnold, 40, colored, of Lake Providence, who was additionally booked for causing personal injury and property damage and leaving the scene of an accident; Raymond Daile, 48, of Delhi; Frank Lewis, 66, colored, Tallulah route 1, and J. M. Head, 48, of 1300 South Third street, Monroe.

Other arrests listed were Mrs. E. A. Robinson, 55, of Tallulah, passing a loading school bus; Madison Hall, 50, of Ruston, reckless driving, and Martin Camile, 19, of Winnsboro, reckless driving.

Convictions reported during the week, with addresses not listed were: D. M. Drake, reckless driving, fined $25; Jessie Bryant, passing unloading school bus, fined $10; Willie Priest, drunk driving, fined $100 and costs and given 30 days in jail; Spencer Burton, drunk driving, $200 fine and 60 days in jail; C. W. Waller, drunk driving, $100 fine and 30 days in jail; Carl Reynolds, reckless driving, $10 fine; James Newman, operating taxicab without bond, $5 fine; Judge Moore, negligent homicide, one year in state prison, and J. W. Futrell, drunk driving, $100 fine.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

SCRIPTURE: Acts 17:22-28, 18:1-4; I Corinthians 1:22-25
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

Athens and Corinth were the two outstanding cities of ancient Greece. Athens had back of it a long history of culture, and in Paul's day it was the university city of the Roman world. Corinth, aspiring to rival Athens, was a city of commerce, noted more for the luxurious and indulgent living of its inhabitants than for its culture.

The Scriptures give no account of a church at Athens, so the brilliant address that Paul gave on Mars Hill to the assembled philosophers apparently had no permanent result.

But the record, in Acts 17, of his visit to Athens and of the sermon he preached there, is among the most colorful and vital pages of the New Testament. Paul's address was a declaration concerning the nature of God and the meaning of faith in Him, in direct and courageous challenge to cultured paganism and the vagaries of the speculatively minded.

In Corinth, however, Paul made what was for him a long stay, at least 18 months, on his first visit. The fruits of his labors are seen in the two longest of his Epistles, with their intimate picture of life in the church there.

Apparently the church at Corinth was composed mostly of Gentile converts, though there adhered to the Christian way a few noted Jews—Crispus, the ruler of the synagogue, and Acquila and Priscilla, with whom Paul lived and worked.

As the Corinthian church grew in numbers dissensions developed, as is clear from the Epistles. How sharp these were is not so clear, but Paul found it necessary to rebuke those who were occasioning division, and some of the finest passages in the Epistles deal with the nature and need of Chirstian unity.

A part of the trouble arose when Apollos, an eloquent preacher, came to Corinth after Paul had left. He was a good man (Acts 18:24-28), and there was apparently no rivalry between him and Paul, but partisans foolishly made a seeming rivalry between them, some saying, "I am of Paul," and others, "I am of Apollos."

Paul refers to his own presence as being weak, so it is possible that he was lacking in eloquence. Some have suggested, to, that "the thorn in the flesh" to which he refers was a weakness of the eyes. In any case, the contrast between him and the eloquent Apollos was enough to occasion the thoughtless partisan ship which Paul rebuked most vigorously.

"Is Christ divided?" he asked. "Was Paul crucified for you?" He wanted no glory for himself, but he was stirred up about these un-Christian divisions—as he would be about un-Christian divisions today.

The two Epistles to the Corinthians throw much light upon conditions in the early Christian church, but they are also full of warning and instruction for the church of today.

It is not enough to name the name of Christ, or to profess fellowship in His name. "If any man have not the spirit of Christ, he is none of His." That applies to churches as well as to individuals.

OUR CHILDREN

GOOD STORIES

Children need to hear good stories in the years before going to school. Little children live largely in a world of imagination. Their actual experience is limited and the world about them is illimitable and to span the gap and make it possible for them to live in this world they must fall back on imagination of which they have a great supply at this period.

A good story always teaches children more than it might seem to carry. In the old tale of the Old Woman and the Pig there is a lot of knowledge packed in little space. There are the animals; the difficulties, the plight of the hungry old woman; the function of each actor in the tale; the final solution and the relief of the heroine. The child follows the story intently engaged on learning what is going to happen and his power of attention, his strength of interest, his knowledge of the characteristics of each actor is heightened and linked to a chain of circumstances that make a valuable reference background in time to come.

Dog will bite, stick will beat, fire will burn, water will quench fire—and the child stores those facts which are going to be useful to him some day. The rhythm of the story is perfect. Children thrive on rhythm. When it is applied to language it makes their language musical, pleasant to the ear. The repetition is delightful to the children. They love to hear the familiar words as they love familiar ways, familiar people and things. That feeling of comfort in the mind is a great healing force at any age but is especially comforting and restful and assuring to little children. The story is best loved and is most useful in the early years of childhood.

The moral of the story is conveyed in its telling. If it is not plain on the face of the events there is no necessity of forcing it upon the attention of the child. Let the moral speak for itself or be silent. If it is inherent in the tale, it will speak to the child in time and if it is not there is no use in trying to make it so.

Begin with the classics. Tell the children Mother Goose stories over and over again. Then Aesop's Fables. Then Fairy Tales. And don't forget the stories children love best although they are not classic, are the stories about when mother was a little girl, when daddy was a little boy.

It does not harm to a child to know that his parents are human, that once they loved childish things, and do so even in parenthood. At the same time there is no point in telling how father robbed an orchard—or how mother disobeyed and got away with it. Certain things can be omitted in discretion but everybody has some experiences that will delight children to hear. Stories are the children's door to contentment.

There is a rich treasury of books every child should read. To know the names of these books, consult Angelo Patri's leaflet P-8, "A Book List."

BIBLE THOUGHTS

He is a Rock, His work is perfect: for all His ways are judgement: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is He.—Deuteronomy 32:4.

The sun and every vassal star,
All space, beyond the soar of angel's wings,
Wait on His word: and yet
He stays His ear
For every sigh a contrite suppliant brings. —Keble.

News BEHIND THE NEWS
By PAUL MALLON

(Copyright, 1946, By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)
(Reproduction In Whole or In Part Strictly Prohibited)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The babble of radio commentators is setting up a false alarm. Dire consequences, imaginable and unimaginable, are being retailed as facts.

One sensational string of brightly colored predictions is being hung up on the air bands, picturing the resignation of State Secretary Byrnes and the overthrow of American foreign policy at home. These gaudy suggestions come mostly from the local leftist news purveyors who are suffering either from melancholia over their election repudiation or their customary over-indulgence in prophecy. Indeed this state of affairs has become so severe in the radio business that one commentator mentioned his fellow radio prophet by name and said if the prophet could go crazy with a microphone weekly for a big stipend, the list of crazy prophets would be enlarged.

When Mr. Byrnes heard he was to resign January 1 because of his health, he smiled and said he had yet been unable to find any physician who could recommend that he quit his job. The truth is Mr. Byrnes is the only man alive whose health has actually improved by arguing with the Russians.

The chances of change in foreign policy, from such causes as are being advertised, are too remote to be considered. They were exaggerated first by some Democratic orators in the campaign, and these exaggerations are now coming home to roost. Why they even managed to scare the British, and persuaded such a supposedly sensible journal as the London economist to mourn heavily about tariff and trade prospects.

The Republican party is being represented by the unthinking as an orge represented by the Smoot-Hawley high tariff law. This in itself is a grotesque exaggeration. A Republican president signed that law unwillingly, issuing a public statement against it. The unfairly high rates were due to a deal made secretly in the senate between certain eastern industrial senators and the farm bloc to override Hoover, who was moderate in the matter, and they did over-ride him. None of the same elements of that history (which is now being falsified) is today present. The problems of international trade have grown so far out of the tariff question into the realm of money valuations, treasury-controlled exchange, barter deals, exclusive foreign trade treaties, etc., as to make tariffs a secondary if not minor factor in trade. If you do not understand these matters intimately (few claim to) then all can at least see that the theory of the Republican tariff was to keep prices up, whereas today prices are too high. Also the philosophy of the Republican tariff act of 25 years ago was one of isolation, to build up American industry by protecting its high prices against foreign competition, whereas today all the Republicans are leaders for a world foreign policy in an atomic era. The tariff question has thus become almost inconsequential in all aspects, actual and political. All the Republican leaders are actually talking about planning developments which will make things work better, while the leftists (including the Communists and also the British in this instance), are trying to hang a stale 20-year-old wreath on their heads after their victory.

The only foreign policy changes therefore, are apt to be of secondary importance. More vital and real is the prospect that Senator Vandenberg will be given increasing importance in the top councils with Byrnes, because the Michigan senator will now be chairman of the foreign relations committee. You will have something like genuine two party unity prospects at the top, not an invited social cooperation, but a prospect of actual results from negotiations of two forces with power. Yet not even the personnel of councilors will change to any significant extent.

Apparently then no one wants isolation, and no one wants a high tariff wall.

The leftists who want to horsewhip the people with false notions for voting Republican are apparently influencing the radio commentators with obsolete ideas.

New York Day By Day
By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL
Title Reg. U. S. Patent Office

NEW YORK—Special message to many hundreds of readers. You have buried me under requests for copies of the column about the passing of Captain Kidd, which everybody seems to have read, cherished, and then lost. There is only one way to satisfy your demands. I shall republish the column one week from today, Saturday, Nov. 23. The original was published on Sept. 19. I do not like to republish an old column, because it seems a lazy way of doing my work. I've never done it before, except in the case of a Sunday article published several years ago and which I had more than eight thousand requests for. Now please, with a week's notice, watch for the Captain Kidd column next Saturday, and if you want to preserve it, clip it before Mother uses the paper to line the garbage can.

Mr. A. J. Van Rossum, Mapleton, Minn., commenting upon my quoting Col. Bagarry, of Louisiana, about the plenitude of good American steaks, clothes, and machinery in Europe, says he knows, first-hand, from relatives in Holland of terrible scarcity and poverty.

Yes, Mr. Van Rossum, Col. Bagarry will back you up on that. In the very cities where steaks and champagne flow and spread, and where black marketers strut about in American suits, children are starving. He has seen them starving.

It's a long story, and a sorry commentary upon the mismanagement (if not deliberate sabotage) by the Washington long-hairs.

The wealth of America is being poured out at the expense of American taxpayers, and without the consent of those who pay for it. But it is not being handed out to the poor and needy, free of charge.

Americans do not understand how it is possible for their food and goods to be squandered without aiding the hungry.

Briefly: A shipload of food, consigned to Rome, for instance, is not handed out on the dock through the Salvation Army, probably the best-equipped organization on the world for such work. It is sold to a corporation which has been set up in Rome with the blessing of UNRRA. The money received is not carted back to the United Staates and repaid to the taxpayers. No; their money is gone forever.

The sum received from the Roman stooge, minus actual cost of handling, is turned into what is called a lira fund. This fund is used under some kind of loose supervision, for rebuilding the railroads, streets, highways and buildings that were destroyed during the war, when Italians were killing our boys by thousands.

So American taxpayers are furnishing Kansas City steaks to black markters, who buy at high prices from the stooge corporation. Now the prices go skooting up. Yes scooting will do, but I like skooting. It seems to express a higher price.

Only the rich and the public trough-eaters can afford the American goods. That's why your relatives in Holland are hungry and unclothed, Mr. Van Rossum.

Americans are willing to relieve starvation among those peoples who were our friends when we needed friends, such as the Finns. Read in a recent Saturday Evening Post article how Yugoslavia, our present active Communist enemy, gets more American free stuff than any other nation. And they tell you in the Sugar Bowl that we have a shortage of sugar! This thing smells.

CONFEDERATE

L, 16th North Carolina Infantry Regiment.

John T. Graves, 104, who is under state care at the Higginsville, Missouri, Confederate home, is listed as the only surviving wearer of the gray in that state.

So rapidly have the Confederate ranks thinned during the last few years that many of the state-maintained homes for the veterans have been converted to other purposes. State reunions have been abandoned.

It is almost taps for the United Confederate Veterans, too. At the recent meeting at Biloxi, Mississippi, only eight were able to attend. They selected frail, goateed, "Major General" Henry Taylor Dowling commander of the U. C. V.

General Dowling, 97, was a private of infantry under Joseph E. Johnston. He lives at the Confederate home in Atlanta.

There are no survivors of the War Between the States listed on pension rolls in Kentucky, the last having died in March, 1945.

J. L. Barry, of Lebanon, Tennessee, who will be 100 in February, is the only survivor of the war on record in Tennessee. He draws a pension of $100 a month. That state has no Confederate home.

In other states:

There are eight living Confederates in Georgia, six receiving a pension of $75 a month and two living at the Confederate home in Atlanta who get all their keep and $5 a month spending money. Georgia's oldest living veteran is William Joshua Bush, of Fitzgerald, 101.

Florida has 12 Confederates, the oldest of which are J. P. Robles of Tampa, and M. L. Bowlin, of Bonifay. Both were born in 1847. Robles served in a Florida battalion and Bowlin in the Alabama home guard. The 12 receive pensions of $60 a month from the state general fund the Confederate home at Jacksonville was sold some years ago.

Records in North Carolina show only eight veterans living. Robert L. Thompson, of Raleigh, route 7, who is 103, is the oldest. The state pays the veterans $72 a month. The only veterans home was closed some time ago.

Seven Confederates reside in Arkansas, one of them at the state home and six with relatives or at their own homes. The six get $40 monthly in pensions from the state.

Louisiana law provides a flat pension of $60 per month to Confederate veterans and their widows. Seven Confederates survive in that state. Camp Nichols at New Orleans, the Confederate veteran home, no longer is used for that purpose. The last reunion was held five years ago. August F. Saucier, 103, is listed as the oldest of the group.

Five Confederates receive the $240 per year granted as a pension by South Carolina. However, there is another veteran, General W. M. Alexander, of Rock Hill, S. C., 98, whose name does not appear on the comptroller general's pension list. The state maintains a Confederate home but none of the veterans live there now.

Texas' oldest Confederate veteran is Jeremiah P. O'Brien, of Kirbyville, who is 102. There are 15 others who served in the War Between the States also living in the Lone Star state in 16 widely separated towns. Pension checks of $100 are sent monthly to the 13 unmarried veterans and the three married ones receive $150. The pension fund, set up by statute, is filled to overflowing each year by a state ad valorem tax of two cents on each $100 evaluation.

Texas reunions held annually at Camp Ben McCulloch were suspended this year after none of the veterans attended their golden jubilee meeting. The state maintained Texas Confederate home has been converted to other uses, even though its doors still remain open to any veteran who chooses to live there expense free.

Files of the special commission which handles affairs of the Confederate veterans in Alabama show six still living in that state. They receive pensions of $100 a month. B. P. Maddox, of Munford, Ala., 102 is the oldest of the six. Alabama has not maintained a home for the veterans and their widows for several years.

Virginia pays 13 survivors of the war pensions of $100 per month. J. A. Spicer, who now lives in Washington, D. C., and is 101 is the oldest of the group.

loss of New York apparently retarded the chances of Paul E. Fitzpatrick, that state's party chairman, to succeed Hannegan.

The choice of Kerr would bring to the party leadership a southwestern governor who has been a staunch supporter of the policies of the late President Roosevelt.

Kerr, a wealthy oil man, could be expected to be acceptable to conservative Southern Democrats, however, since he has few apparent political ties with the wing of the party of which Henry A. Wallace, former secretary of commerce, is a spokesman.

Because Hannegan seemingly exerted strong influence on President Truman in the latter's reaction to legislative proposals, the selection of a new chairman will be watched closely by Republicans as well as Democrats for possible effect on Mr. Truman's relations with the new G. O. P.-controlled Congress.

The president has held out the olive branch to the Republicans, urging cooperation between the legislative and executive branches on measures for the benefit of the country.

Republicans publicly have accepted this truce, but many of them have made it plain that if peace is maintained with the president it will be largely on their terms.

They have said flatly that if Mr. Truman wants to go down the middle of the road, well and good. But they have indicated that if he renews some of the legislative proposals he made to the 79th Congress in a pledged effort to carry out the Roosevelt program there will be war.

Democrats in Congress have crossed fingers, doubting the ability of any Democratic president to get along with a Republican majority that unmistakably plans to make drastic revisions in Democratic-supported measures.

Senator McMahon, Democrat, Connecticut, put this viewpoint into words before he left Washington for a short tour of Europe. Said he:

"When I see the promised cooperation, I shall enjoy the novelty."

Mr. Truman was indefinite when questioned at news conference Monday about whether he would hold weekly conferences with Republican legislative leaders as he has done in the past with the Democrats.

On the Republican side there also was some lack of enthusiasm for the idea.

Senator Taft, Republican, Ohio, told reporters such meetings might not be feasible. He said weekly gatherings with the president might promote, rather than dissolve, controversy.

"I think we should see the president from time to time when there are important questions to discuss," Taft said.

GETS GOERING'S CLOTHING

NUERNBERG, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Mrs. Hermann Goering today collected her late husband's effects—clothing and 750 marks ($75)—but was not permitted to collect the 50,000 marks found on Goering when he was arrested. That money is regarded as confiscated Nazi property, pending a ruling of its eventual disposition, American authorities said.

successful Republican opponent of Senator Dennis Cravez, Democrat, New Mexico, that Hurley "or anyone he designates" may file sworn charges against Chavez. Ellender said the committee then may send investigators to New Mexico.

3. Decided not to act on complaints against Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, made by Edward Carmack, unsuccessful Democratic primary opponent of McKellar.

4. Announced that no complaints had been received as a result of the close Senate election contests in Maryland or West Virginia.

Ellender said the Bilbo hearings will be held in the Central, Northern and Southern parts of Mississippi at or near Jackson, Grenada and Hattiesburg.

Edgar G. Brown, director of the National Negro Council, interrupted Ellender's announcement to newsmen to ask the senator whether he still expects "killings" to result from the public hearings. Brown said Ellender previously had predicted "killings" if Negroes testified in Mississippi and asked whether they would be safe.

"You are just trying to be sensational again," Ellender told Brown, adding that witnesses would be safe.

Ellender at first said the hearings will involve charges on the "racial issue" filed "by some New York organization."

But Hickenlooper noted that the charges actually were sworn to "by citizens of Mississippi" although prepared by the Civil Rights Congress of New York.

Milton Kaufman, executive secretary for the Civil Rights Congress, later handed newsmen a statement which said that it had filed the petition and evidence "charging that Senator Bilbo was re-elected through fraud and intimidation and constitutional violations."

The statement added that the Senate war investigating committee should hold similar hearings on charges involving alleged transactions by Bilbo with war contractors.

Reports asked whether the campaign group would look into these matters.

"No, we are limited to things that happened in the 1946 election," Hickenlooper replied.

Ellender was asked whether persons other than citizens of Mississippi could testify.

"No," the chairman said. "We don't want the whole nation to be in Mississippi. It's limited to Mississippians."

But Thomas and Bridges said the question of testimony by others would be decided later by the committee.

Ellender said Bilbo will be notified of the hearings and invited to testify or present witnesses.

Meanwhile a friend of the senator here said Bilbo's physical condition may prevent his appearance on Jan. 3 when Congress opens.

Bilbo, 69, recently was injured in an automobile accident near his Poplarville, Miss., home. Before that he underwent hospital treatment in New Orleans for a mouth ailment.

DEFIANT STAEMENT IS ISSUED BY BILBO

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Senator Bilbo (D-Miss.) said today that "you can tell them that I will be a pallbearer at the funeral of every person who predicts that I will not be seated in the senate," when he was informed of reports from Washington that ill health might prevent his return to congress.

"I will be there ready for action when the senate convenes," the senator added.

Bilbo left Hattiesburg shortly after noon to return to his home in Poplarville and could not be immediately reached for comment on the decision of a senate committee to hold election hearings in Mississippi.

Two nurses, the former Miss Marthiel Knight and the former Miss Cora Netherland, received their training at the same place. In course of time, Miss Knight became the wife of Dr. B. E. Spencer, and Miss Netherland became the wife of William E. Wilkerson, 207 South First street, West Monroe. Both were hospitalized in St. Francis at about the same time and the same day each became a mother. Saturday they were removed to their homes, again on the same day. The Spencer baby is a girl, the Wilkerson baby is a boy.

The weather man is seemingly old and grouchy. Even the pulchritude of feminine cowpunchers and bronc riders has no appeal. He sent down a nasty rain Saturday just when the charmingly attired young women were to ride in a glorified parade through the Twin Cities as a preliminary to a night show at Gentry arena. Under the circumstances, rain checks had to be passed out for Sunday afternoon and Monday night. * * * One of the sad ones Saturday is said to have been Thomas F. Jett, operator of a new wild west outfitting store here. He was said to be an enthusiastic supporter of the project.

Ritchie Grocery Company is proud of the fact that it has existed and expanded for six decades. Much of its progress is attributable to far-seeing and indefatigable R. N. Benson, company president. Back more than 20 years ago, Jes' Ramblin', then living in El Dorado, heard his first radio program in the Benson home where Mr. Benson, we recall, was the proud possessor of the first or second radio installation in an El Dorado home and he invited friends in to hear how it worked. All assembled of necessity applied earpieces. They listened intently through static which comprised 85 percent of the program, to a few shrill and squeaky chords of music. All went home delighted at the miracle of sound transmission!

which will deadlock the council on a decision.

Molotov, apparently in a conciliatory mood, agreed to the supreme powers for the governor of Trieste, departing from his demand for a sharp reduction in power for the governor who would operate under the guidance of the United Nations security council.

To Deputy Foreign Minister Couve de Murville of France fell the lot of spelling out the terms of today's agreement. He will present it to the foreign ministers when they go into a new huddle at 3 p. m. (SCT) Monday.

The crux of the dispute still remained Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's demand for curtailment of the powers of the governor who would serve under the guidance of the United Nations Security Council.

But Molotov, in a showdown session yesterday, agreed that the governor should have the right to approve the appointment of the police chief of Trieste and final authority over the police in the event of an emergency.

This marked up a major victory for the western powers. Britain, France and the United States have held that control of the police would hold the answer to whether the rights of the minority in Trieste—approximately half Slav and half Italian in population—would be safeguarded.

Secretary of State Byrnes has told his colleagues that the prestige of the United Nations is at stake in the problem.

Russia, meanwhile, was expected to press anew to have the council, fix a definite date for withdrawal of occupation troops.

Neither Britain nor the United States has indicated willingness to accede. Both Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Bevin have maintained that the troops can be withdrawn only on the order of the security council and after the governor of Trieste has built up a force to maintain order in the internationalized zone.

TRUMAN

boomed greeting. He was welcomed by Navy Secretary Forrestal and Vice Admiral Aubrey W. Fitch, academy superintendent, at the same time Fleet Admiral William D. Leahy, the president's chief of staff, joined the party.

In quick succession, the president visited a submarine, held a brigade review at which 12 naval service plates were presented him by Brigade Commander, Capt. Judson D. Langston, of Tupelo, Miss., and visited the naval chapel.

Prior to going to the football game, he rested briefly in superintendent's quarters.

In his short speech to the midshipmen in Bancroft Hall, Truman said "you young men are being educated for peace as well as for an emergency which might happen—and we hope never will. We have had two demonstrations in one generation practically of what it means not to be ready to meet an emergency. We must always be ready to meet an emergency. In civil life, in military life, in any other vocation you choose to follow, you must be ready to meet the situation as it comes and do what is necessary to meet it. That is the reason you are being educated."

Declaring that the midshipmen also were being "educated in such a manner that in times to come you may be able to run the government," Mr. Truman cited Admiral Leahy and General George Marshall as men who were educated to do that.

under new bonds, with that for Kott kept at $10,000 and those of Weiner and Needleman raised from $3,000 to $5,000 at the request of District Attorney Malcolm Lafargue. The acquitted Semel's cash bond of $3,000 was ordered returned to him.

Maximum penalty for violation of the conspiracy count is two years' imprisonment and a fine of $10,000, while the OPA sales regulation violation is punishable by a one-year term and a fine of not more than $5,000. In federal court a jury passes merely on the guilt or innocence of the accused and the judge fixes the penalty, which he can make from one minute in jail or a fine of one cent up to the maximums, it was explained.

The case was given to the jury at 2:27 p. m. and after it had returned briefly to the courtroom a few minutes later to request four documents from among the trial exhibits, the members retired again to begin deliberating. They were reported to have passed first on the cases of the three defendants they convicted, taking up Semel separately and voting him innocent on the fifth ballot after a start of 10 for acquittal to two against.

It was 4:20 p. m. when the jury reported it had reached an agreement and filed back into the courtroom where the four defendants and their seven attorneys had remained. There was a slight delay while Judge Dawkins, who was waiting his turn for a Saturday haircut, was summoned by Bailiff Jesse Johnson from a nearby barbershop. Then the verdict was handed over by Ben Parnell of West Monroe, the jury foreman.

The four documents the jurors had requested when they returned to the courtroom shortly after they had received the case were the purchase and sales records of the John Beverage Company, the bill of lading for the whiskey shipment and the affidavit signed by Comel John of Vicksburg, Miss., chief government witness and buyer of the liquor, in which he had sworn the terms of the deal were within the OPA regulations.

Acquittal of Semel occasioned little surprise among those who had followed the two-week trial closely, for it had appeared the evidence had failed to connect him directly with the negotiations for the sale of the whiskey that had been bottled at his plant.

Weiner and Needleman had contended that they sold the 356 cases at the ceiling price and that the only law violation had been on the part of Kott, the broker, and John, who, they said had entered into a partnership to sell the liquor at black market prices in dry Mississippi. Kott was the only one of the four defendants who did not take the stand.

Conviction of three of the four accused was regarded as approval by the jury of the methods used by Clyde D. Pace of New Orleans, agent in charge of the federal alcohol tax unit in Louisiana and Mississippi, and his department in gaining the evidence on which the indictments were based.

District Attorney Lafargue, who made his opening argument to the jury Friday afternoon, closed for the government just before noon Saturday, after Harvey G. Fields of Farmerville, attorney for Semel; Louis Halle of New York, listed as representing Kott but regarded as the chief defense counsel for all; Thomas W. Leigh of Monroe, attorney for Weiner, and Wood H. Thompson of Monroe, counsel for Neddleman, had combined in two hours of closing argument.

Associated with the defense were James H. Sparks of Monroe, Joseph Lawrence of Washington, D. C. who for 12 years was a member of the legal staff of the department of justice, and Jacob Morrison of New Orleans. District Attorney Lafargue was assisted by the Monroe member of his staff, Lea S. Thompson. Members of the trial jury, in addition to Foreman Parnell, were John Caldwell of Collinston, Frank X. Shaughnessy of Sterlington, E. N. Granberry of near Monroe, Oliver Lowery of Rayville, O. B. Acklen of Ruston, Grady McCallum of Ruston, Erza Walters of Winnsboro route 4, G. O. Gray of Holum, Dewey Thrasher of West Monroe route 1, Marvin Shipp of Bosco and W. B. Cone of Lake Providence.

Immediately after the judge had completed his charge to the jury, George E. Wiggers of Dubach, who had been chosen as Juror No. 13 as a substitute in the event any of the regular members became incapacitated before receiving the case, was excused.

was automatically recorded as exercising a veto.

The big nations spoke in the committee after Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, Philippines delegate, bitterly assailed Russia's frequent use of the veto and said that the council was now operating under a "one-nation, one-vote rule." He then strongly denied charges made yesterday by Andrei Y. Vishinsky, deputy Soviet foreign minister, that the small nations were attempting to split the big ones by the campaign for changing the veto.

Romulo did not limit his attack to Russia, declaring:

"While the Soviet Union has used the veto most, we know that all of the big five want it and would not hesitate to use it."

In demanding a revision of the charter "in time to prevent war," he contended that an "atomic armament race is around the corner."

"It is either limited world government or unlimited world anarchy," the scrappy Philippine delegate declared.

Czechoslovakia, Brazil and Chile broke away from the small-nation trend to support the major powers in opposing a charter change.

Greece joined in the debate to attack the Soviet Union for its veto of a proposal which would have created a special commission to study border incidents and other conditions in the Balkans. The veto debate in the committee, touched off by Australian-Cuban-Philippines moves for charter revision, has been in progress three days.

The United States, through Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex.), took the position that the security council and the big powers should make some move toward modification or clarification.

The first definite step toward a five-power parley was taken yesterday when British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin submitted a plan for consultation. It was understood that his suggestion followed roughly along the lines taken by the United States, France and China in the debate, with these provisions:

1. The possibility of limiting the veto for use only when the negative-voting country's "own vital interests" were concerned.
2. That abstention from voting should not be considered a veto.
3. That the council should be more of a mediation board and nip disputes by direct settlement rather than by voting and the veto.
4. That there should be a clearer definition of a dispute and when the veto should apply.

mittee and reportedly gave it the task of writing a statement of C. I. O. policy that might somehow ease the left-right quarreling.

Whether the committee could emerge with something effective was uncertain. Some C. I. O. people felt that the very recognition of the problem in this flat manner had served to reduce tension a little.

The committee was at first appointed secretly, but with nearly 50 members of the executive board present, the news leaked out.

Representing the right wing on the committee are three men who have often attacked what they call a small minority of Communists trying to influence labor policy. The right-wingers are Walter Reuther, president of United Auto Workers; Emil Rieve, president of the Textile Workers; and Milton Murray, president of the American Newspaper Guild.

The other three, representing what is loosely called the "left wing"—a term not necessarily meaning membership in any political party—were: Michael Quill, president of the Transport Workers Union; Abram Flaxer, president of the United Public Workers; and Ben Gold, president of the Fur and Leather Workers.

A reporter said to Murray following today's meeting of the executive board: "You wield the brass knuckles in this special committee, don't you." Murray smiled and replied, "no, no, only the silken glove."

He said today's meeting of the executive board was devoted exclusively to discussions of 1947 plans for the C. I. O. southern organizing drive. Murray said "in excess of $1,000,000" will be spent in 1947 on that drive. Van Bittner, director of the drive, will make a full report to the convention probably Tuesday.

DEATHS

J. E. HUMPHRIES

COLUMBIA, La., No. 16.—(Special)—Funeral services for J. E. Humphries, 63, Grayson, who died in Caldwell Hospital Friday night at 11:30 o'clock after a short illness, will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Grayson Methodist church with the Rev. G. S. LaGrone officiating with the assistance of the Rev. J. D. Kitchingham.

Interment will follow in Welcome Home cemetery at Grayson under the direction of Riser Funeral Home of Columbia.

Mr. Humphries was employed by Kemper-Thomas Manufacturing Company at the time of his death, but he had previously been employed by the Shawnlee Milling Company for five years and spent 24 years with the Universal Mills.

He is survived by four sisters, Mrs. Effie Vincent, Monroe; Mrs. Belle Pine, Baton Rouge; Mrs. Ella Mae Graves, Jackson, Miss., and Mrs. Dathna Fisher, Columbia; four brothers, W. S. Humphries and K. E. Humphries, Kelly, and L. G. Humphries and W. R. Humphries, Grayson; and several nieces and nephews.

LEWIS

strike was to occur. The effect of today's order is to segregate all production today and next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

This is the fourth time the government has stepped in to take over the existing coal supply when faced with a mine stoppage. Similar orders were issued in 1943 1945 and last spring

Reports from the bituminous coal fields in Pennsylvania indicated that some miners fear the prospect of pay losses during a walk-out with the Christmas season approaching In this connection, the Solid Fuels Administration reported that more miners than usual on a Saturday seemed to be working today and said this may mean they are trying to make as much money as possible before midnight Wednesday.

That is the hour Lewis has fixed for "termination" of his contract with the government. Krug and Attorney General Clark hold that the contract cannot be terminated by Lewis and that the miners are legally bound to continue work .

Krug, some officials said, is considering going over Lewis' head and appealing by radio to the miners, telling them their contract is binding and asking them to remain at work. Krug has been running the mines for the government since the White House ordered their seizure six months ago to end a 59-day strike.

These officials spoke too of possible legal action against Lewis to enforce the contract—although it was recognized there is no police power to keep more than 400,000 men working if they decline to do so.

Failure of the operators and Lewis to get together on an agreement paralleling the government contract has been the reason for the prolonged government mine operation.

One of the points the government conceded to Lewis last spring was a five-cent per ton levy on coal production for a union welfare and retirement fund.

Capt. N. H. Collisson, federal coal mines administrator, announced today that as of Oct. 31, total collections in this fund amounted to $8,114,951.17. The money is being held by the government pending appointment of a board of trustees.

The only thing coming from Lewis' headquarters during the day was his union organ, the United Mine Workers Journal. It forecast a drive in the next Congress for restrictive labor legislation and declared that if such laws are passed "the country will be in for the greatest and longest period of industrial strife the nation has ever known."

WISNER MARINE IS FATALLY INJURED

WISNER, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—Jack C. Chappell, 21, Wisner, a marine stationed at Parris Island, S. C., was fatally injured Wednesday night in an automobile accident at Atlanta, Ga.

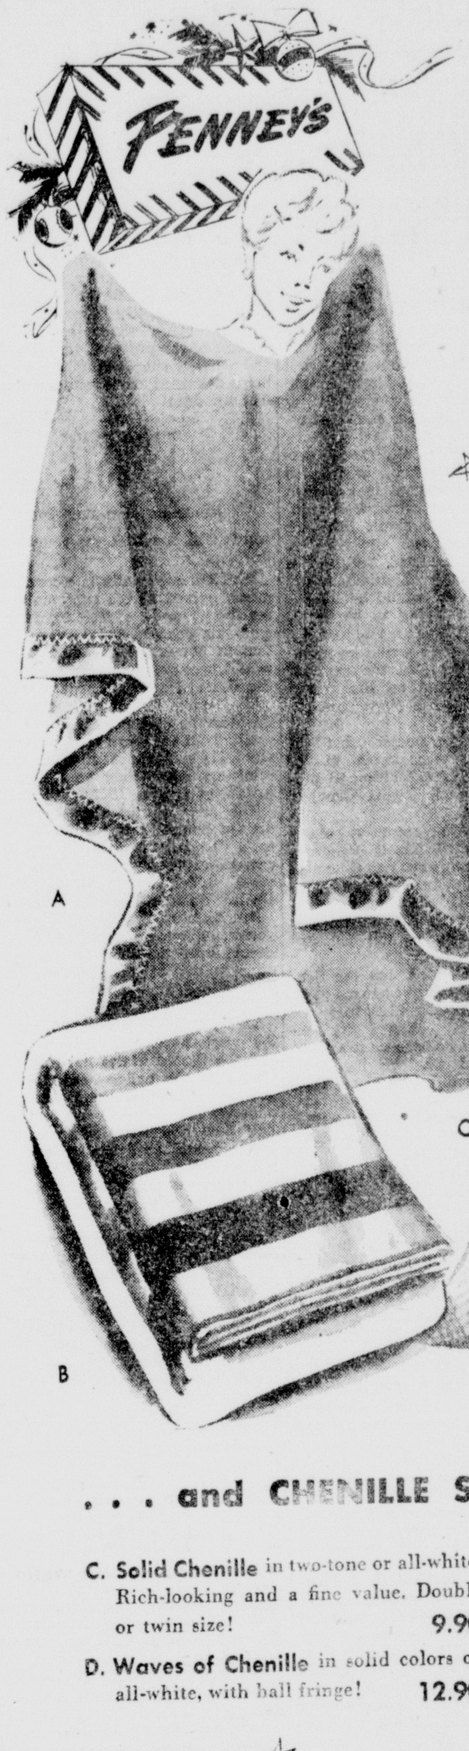

The body will arrive in Winnsboro Monday, and funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Crowville Baptist Church with the Rev. C. S. Wroten, pastor, officiating. Interment will follow in the Crowville Masonic Cemetery under the direction of the First National Funeral Home of Winnsboro.

The marine is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Chappell, Wisner; two brothers, Howard Brooks Chapell and Paul Ray Chappell, Wisner; two sisters, Mrs. Louise Martin and Mrs. Lurline Richardson, Crowville; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Barton, Crowville.

BIG PLANES DELAYED

FRANKFURT, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Six B-29 Superfortresses which had been expected here by mid-afternoon on a training flight from Florida had not arrived tonight, and airport officials said the airplanes probably had stopped at the Azores to wait improved weather conditions. Officials at the Wiesbaden headquarters of the United States air force, concurring in this opinion, stressed there was no reason for alarm.

ARMY'S POWER CRUSHES QUAKERS, 34 TO 7

CADETS EASILY CRACK VAUNTED PENN STRENGTH

Glenn Davis Leads West Point In 27th Game Without Defeat

By Sid Feder

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Galloping Glenn Davis and his Army playmates turned in one of their sizzling shows today for the entertainment of a sell-out crowd of just under 78,000 customers and careened to a 34 to 7 victory over the ponderous Penn gridders.

They thus made it 27 straight starts without a defeat in their three-year run of wrecking collegiate football machines.

It was an Army team triumph, as the Cadets came back hot from their scoreless deadlock against Notre Dame a week ago, to push the supposed mighty Quakers all over the place. But, actually, this one was strictly a Davis show.

The California comet did practically everything as he scored two touchdowns himself, forward-passed for another and lateralled for a fourth and put on what comes close to being the top performance of a career that has been strictly star-studded all the way.

Altogether, he was in there banging away for fifty minutes and carried the ball nine times for a net gain of 59 yards, or an average of better than 6 1/2 times a carry. This, with his passing—two completions for 76 yards—and his kicking thrown in for good measure, made it strictly Davis day in this out-sized concrete horseshoe today.

And when it wasn't Davis taking the Penns apart, it was his running mate, Doc (the Monster) Blanchard belting away at the line, or Arnold Tucker, the unsung quarterback pitching passes until he injured his leg and had to be relieved. The Black Knights of the Hudson rolled over the Quaker forwards so completely and so thoroughly that one wag remarked the Penn line reminded him of the Lincoln highway.

Meantime, the Quakers showed a remarkable ability to get nowhere against the Army defenses. They tossed a scare into the Cadets for a few moments in the first period when they got an Army fumble on the Cadets 30, and huffed and puffed to the 12, where they tried to settle for a field goal, that did not click.

From there until Army ran out its third and fourth stringers in the final chapter, however, Penn wasn't able to get beyond its own 38 yard line.

Against those bottom-of-the-barrel Army reserves, Penn managed a touchdown when Rodney Adams broke through to block a Cadet punt on the West Point 24. The ball rolled over the end zone and Red Frank Jenkins fell on it.

By that time, the Cadets had already tallied five touchdowns, with three more Army scores called back.

Penn's short-lived march in the first period apparently got the Cadets' dander up, because they came storming back for 80 yards and their first score early in the second quarter, with Tucker tossing the last 14 yards to Davis. Before the half ended, Tucker again pitched to Davis for three yards and another marker, topping off a 67-yard push that included a 21-yard Tucker-to-Davis pass and a 40-yarder from galloping Glenn to Blanchard.

In the third period, the California whiz-bang engineered another tally that went 78 yards in one long jump. Glenn grabbed a Penn punt on his own 22 and zipped 40 yards up to the Quaker 38. The Pennsylvanians apparently trapped him there so he lateralled over to Harold Tavzel, a 150-pound tackle from Cleveland, who went the rest of the way.

Before the final quarter began, Blanchard belted over from two feet out to put the icing on a 75-yard Army march. And winding it up in the final session, Davis heaved a 37-yarder to Tom Hayes from Hastings, Neb., and the six-foot-one wingman took the ball on the goal line and went over. Aside from that, Army in general and Davis in particular didn't do a thing all afternoon.

LEGION TO DISCUSS ATHLETIC PROGRAM

Baseball, basketball, bowling, and golf will occupy a big part of the L. B. Faulk American Legion meeting here tomorrow night, and Commander Walter Kellogg has issued a call for as many members as possible to be present for the meeting and express their views and help formulate a policy for conducting the post's athletic program.

One of the main topics will be the discussion of securing a suitable park for the playing of American Legion baseball games here next summer, the sponsoring of a basketball team under the management of Bill Squires in the City League here this winter, the formation of a post bowling team, and the making of final plans for the post golf tournament postponed from last week-end.

The post membership right now is bigger than ever before in the history of the organization. Although L. B. Faulk fell 29 short of its membership quota of 741 for 1947 at the November 11 deadline, that number has since been enrolled in the last few days.

FROG WIN BLASTS LONGHORNS FROM S'WEST PICTURE

S. M. U. Follows Carl Knox To 14-0 Triumph Over Texas Steers

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Texas Christian's Horned Frogs, led by Carl Knox, 150-pound tailback playing his first year in Southwest Conference competition, outplayed the Texas Longhorns here today to gain a 14-0 victory that knocked the Steers out of the running for the conference championship.

It is the third time since 1941 that an underdog Christian eleven has overcome strong odds to beat the Longhorns and knock them out of the conference title.

Knox was the only star of this homecoming victory, however, for the entire Frog team, particularly the forward wall, stopped the Texas ground and aerial attacks throughout the game with the exception of one scoring threat in the opening period.

A strong, cold north wind was at the backs of the Frogs when they pushed across scores in the second and third periods.

Knox set up the first touchdown with a 77-yard quick kick. Texas took the ball on its own 32 but could not gain and a punt by Frank Guess was good for only 12 yards, going out on the Frog 48. Eleven plays later, Knox passed to End Lipscomb from the 11-yard line. Lipscomb was in the clear in the end zone.

Shortly after the second half opened, Halfback Bill Cromer dropped back to punt for Texas. The entire center of the T. C. U. line broke through to block the attempt, with Tackle Harold Kilman recovering for the Frogs on the Texas 11.

Tailback Lindy Berry made a first down on the one, and on the next play David Eloxom, 210-pound fullback, hit center for the second score.

Halfback Tom Bishop made both conversions good.

It was a tough day for Texas all around. Besides the championship picture, the defeat led to long, fruitless journeys for two scouts from the East and West Coasts—one from the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla., and another from U. C. L. A., the Los Angeles team favored to represent the Pacific Coast Conference in the Rose Bowl. They were here to look over the once-powerful Longhorns.

For the all-around Bobby Layne, who for five weeks has led the nation's backs in total net yardage, it was even worse.

The Christians, particularly Kilman and Lipscomb, rushed Layne all afternoon and his passing record was eight completions out of 19 attempts for a net gain of only 23 yards. In all, he handled the ball 31 times and cleared only 37 yards.

Texas launched three attacks during the first quarter but gained only the 18-yard line on the final try. It was as far as they advanced toward the Christian goal.

A freak play nearly led to a third T. C. U. touchdown. In the second period, Texas' Halfback Jack Halfpenny partially blocked a kick by Knox. Cromer, playing safety for the Longhorns, barely tipped the ball as it bounded over the line of scrimmage. He finally recovered on his own ten but was tackled so hard by Bishop that he fumbled and Lipscomb took over for T. C. U. on the Texas 4-yard line.

Hubert Bechtol, the All-American Texas end, intercepted a pass from Knox to give the Steers a touchback.

Charlie Jackson, 170-pound freshman wingback, set up the final Frog threat with a sparkling 34-yard gallop around the Texas right end. He was tackled by Center Dick Harris, the only man barring a touchdown run. The play carried to the Texas 38.

NATCHITOCHES TRIUMPHS

NATCHITOCHES, La., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Natchitoches High Red Devils trounced Winnfield Tigers 26-6 in the annual homecoming classic here last night.

David Khourry, fullback, paced three of the Devils' touchdowns. Billy West, quarterback made the fourth. Tracy Harrell, quarterback, scored for Winnfield.

TULANE GREENIES STUMBLE BEFORE GEORGIA TECH, 35-7

Although Favored To Win, Jackets Show Surprising Strength

By Chick Hosch

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Flashing power they haven't shown all season, the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets swept to an easy 35-7 victory over Tulane today for their seventh straight win.

The Jackets were a slight pre-game favorite, but the staunch defense and brilliant offense they unleashed surprised even their most rabid supporters. This established them as a serious threat to Georgia, their arch rivals, as the south's leading eleven.

Tulane was hopelessly outclassed almost from the start, although the Greenies did manage to knot the count at 7-7 early in the second period. After that, it was a question of just how much margin the Jackets would have at the end.

Tech scored first on a 30-yard pass, then on a 53-yard run from scrimmage, a 45-yard pass interception, a two-yard plunge after a blocked punt and then drove 85 yards for a final tally. Tulane's lone score came on a 70-yard drive climaxed with a 57-yard run.

The first downs favored Tech, 16 to eight, and the net yards rushing, 287 to 170. The Jackets completed four of 12 passes for 99 yards and Tulane connected on 2 of 14 for 12 yards. Four Tulane passes were intercepted by Tech's alert defense.

From the standpoint of the capacity crowd of 32,000 it was spectacular exhibition, the thrilling scoring plays coming in one swift thrust after listless and futile scrimmages.

Paul Duke, Tech's great candidate for All-America honors at center, was a bulwark in the line. He slashed through in the third period to block Leonard Finlay's punt and then cover it on the Tulane two, setting up the Jacket's fourth score.

The first half was a series of thrilling, long runs, after an 80-yard punt return by Tech's Frank Broyles had been voided by a clipping penalty.

Tech went 40 yards for the first score on a 30-yard running leaping throw from George Mathews to Walt Kilzer. Pat McHugh had started the attack with a 10-yard end run.

Three scores came in the second period, the first on a 57-yard sprint by Tulane's Cliff Van Meter, ending a 70-yard drive. The Jackets got possession at their 47 through a penalty on the next kickoff and Mathews lugged the ball 53 yards on second down across the Tulane goal. Then with three minutes of the half remaining, Broyles made a shoe-top interception of Van Meter's pass and weaved his way 45 yards to a touchdown. Ed Heider's placement had given Tulane a 7-7 tie, but Allen Bowen's three perfect placement gave Tech a 21-7 edge at the half.

The Jackets added a touchdown in the final period to make it at least one in every quarter on an 85 yard drive which Jack Bills topped off with a 16-yard end run. The drive started when Tech held the Greenies deep in their territory, after a fumble had given the visitors possession on the Tech 26.

In the dying moments, Dick Hoot ran 56 yards to Tech's seven but the Jackets braced and took over, moving to the Tulane 24 as the game ended.

START ELEVEN TROUNCES RAYVILLE HORNETS, 33-6

START, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—The Start High School football team, playing its first season, ended its regular schedule yesterday at Rayville by defeating the Rayville High School Hornets, 33 to 6.

Doyle Craighead, 190-pound Start back, proved too much for the Hornets as he speared the local offensive all night. Craighead is considered good all-state material along with his brother, M. Craighead, standout Start center.

Doyle Craighead scored three touchdowns for the locals, and D. Garland and F. Swendson got one each. The lone Rayville touchdown, coming late in the fourth quarter, was taken over by Tatum, best offensive performer for the losers.

Although the Rayville game was the last on the Start schedule, Principal G. V. Fleischmann is anxious to schedule a game with any high school team in North Louisiana for next Friday. Interested coaches or principals are urged to contact Principal Fleischmann.

ARKANSAS DUMPS MUSTANGS, 13 TO 0

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 16.—(AP)—A pair of sensational touchdown tallies by Clyde Scott and Aubrey Fowler gave the Arkansas Razorbacks a 13-0 victory over Southern Methodist University here today and assured them of at least a tie for the Southwest Conference championship and a probable Cotton Bowl bid.

After fighting off numerous Mustang threats in the first two periods, Arkansas broke the ice as Scott returned the second half kickoff 86 yards for a touchdown.

Then, in the first two minutes of the fourth quarter, Fowler shot through left tackle and sprinted 85 yards for another tally to throw 15,000 homecoming fans into hysteria.

20 CAGE TEAMS SIGNED UP HERE

Meetings Called For City And Girls' Leagues Wednesday Night

Twenty basketball teams have been lined up for four leagues to be sponsored by the Monroe Recreation department here this winter, it was announced last night by Director Jack Hesketh.

The City League, open to men and boys or unlimited ages, lists as its entries the Deacons, Red Shield Club, Graves and Cummins, Volunteers, B. M. I., and American Legion.

A girls' league is being organized with B. M. I., Red Shield Club, Southern Bell Telephone, and St. Francis Nurses forming the nucleus of the circuit.

Six teams have joined the Junior Basketball League, including Red Shield Club, First Baptist of West Monroe, Louisiana Training Institute, Ouachita Cubs, Spatafora's Pharmacy and Junior Optimist.

In the proposed Midget League four teams are ready to go. They are Red Shield Club, Spatafora's Pharmacy, L. T. I., and Ouachita Jeeps.

The deadline for entering teams has been fixed at November 30, and other groups planning to participate in the winter program are being urged to list their teams as soon as possible.

A meeting of the girls' league has been called for Wednesday night at 7 o'clock at the Recreation Center, and the City League will meet at 8 o'clock the same night. Managers of all teams participating in the girls and city loops are urged by Director Hesketh to be present at the meetings.

The girls will play their games on Wednesday night of each week, The City League games will be played on Friday nights with the Northeast Junior College gymnasium to be used for these games.

GEORGIA BULLDOGS STILL UNDEFEATED

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Georgia clinched an almost certain Sugar Bowl bid today, whipping Auburn, 41-0, to remain one of the last unbeaten, untied gridiron powers of the nation.

The Big Red team, led by Halfback Charlie Trippi, pounded through Auburn almost at will for a 27-0 advantage at half-time. Thereafter the second-stringers held off Travis Tidwell and company and scored two more touchdowns in the closing minutes.

Trippi, Georgia's candidate for the All-America honors, slashed Auburn's line and faded through the fingers of would-be tacklers. He scored two touchdowns, and played brilliant defensive football.

The statistics told this story of the opposing stars:

Trippi charged the ball 15 times, gaining a net of 70 yards, and completed one pass out of five tries for eight—a total of 78 yards in 20 plays.

Tidwell ran with the ball 18 times, gaining 46 yards, and completed six out of twelve passes for another 43. He was credited with a total of 89 yards on 30 plays.

42,000 SEE JESUITS WIN OVER HOLY CROSS, 32 TO 0

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The largest crowd to see a football game in the South today was an estimated 42,000 who watched Jesuit's High School Blue Jays wallop and outclassed Holy Cross team, 32 to 0 in the Sugar Bowl Stadium.

The veteran, hard-hitting Jesuit line and an equally hard-running Blue Jay backfield dominated play throughout the game, but Floyd Duffy and Hank Lauricella were hard to stop on Holy Cross running plays. Al Honzo of Holy Cross, the leading class AA conference gainer in the city, was stopped cold by the determined Jays.

John Petibon scored three of the victors touchdowns and Charles Villavaso and Joe Shirer one each. Hugh Oser kicked the two extra points.

IRISH HIT STRIDE LATE TO DEFEAT NORTHWESTERN

Johnny Panelli Sparks Notre Dame In 27-0 Win Over Wildcats

By Charles Chamberlain

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Notre Dame, which played three quarters as if it had left its heart in Yankee Stadium in that scoreless battle with Army a week ago, finally found its spark in 19-year-old Johnny Panelli today and cracked out three touchdowns in the final period for a 27-0 decision over Northwestern.

Gaining their sixth triumph in a campaign for the national collegiate championship, the Irish hurled a total of 45 players against the stubborn Wildcats to wear them down for fourth quarter scoring drives of 61, 50 and 38 yards in the sleet as a sell-out throng of 56,000 buttoned up its overcoats and roared approval.

Panelli, a 190-pound sophomore from Morristown, N. J., collaborated with Emil (Red) Sitko of Fort Wayne Ind., and Bob Livingston of Hammond, Ind., to provide most of the backing-up power behind Johnny Lujack's alert quarterbacking.

That combination, which helped Notre Dame roll up 27 first downs to Northwestern's four, gained 523 yards by rushing. A granite Irish line limited Northwestern's ground attack—one of the best in the Big Nine competition with an average 222 yards per game—to a mere 52 yards.

For the first time this season, however, Notre Dame, with Lujack doing most of the hurling, completed only one pass. That toss was completed behind the line of scrimmage for a loss of five yards. Northwestern connected for a gain of 21 yards. Passing was kept to a minimum the last half after the quarterbacks assessed chances with a slick ball.

The game was only 5 1/2 minutes old when the Irish scored their first touchdown on a 63-yard push in eight plays, featuring the line slashing of Sitko who picked up 34 and 14 yards en route.

Sitko capped it with a one foot plunge and little "No. 1"—Fred Earley of Parkersburg, W. Va.,—went in to play his lone role as placekicker. The kick was good, and he hit twice later to run his record to 24 conversions in his last 28 tries.

Frank Achenbrenner's 45 yard runback of Lujack's punt put Northwestern in a threatening position midway in the initial period, but Pat Keefe's pass was intercepted behind the goal line by Lujack to end the thrust which reached the 21.

Northwestern, behind Freshman Art Murakowski's 22 yard scamper, drove to the 22 in the second period, only to have Terry Brennan swipe Keefe's aerial again to end a threat. Those were the only times Northwestern came within earshot of the Irish goal.

In the third quarter, Notre Dame marched from its own one foot line to the Wildcats' eight, rolling up seven first downs on 23 plays. Livingston, however, lost 13 yards and eventually Earley attempted a field goal from the 18 which fizzled.

Panelli and Sub Bill Gompers of Wheeling, W. Va., accelerated first Notre Dame touchdown in the fourth quarter, Panelli ending a 61-yard parade by ramming over from the two. Later the Irish drove 50 yards in eight plays with the aid of Sub Coy McGee's 14-yard dash to score on Panelli's one-yard buck.

Ninety seconds before the final gun, McGee, from Longview, Tex., recovered Richey Graham's fumble on the Wildcats' 38 and four plays later Emil Slovak, a fourth team halfback from Eliston, Ohio, crashed 18 yards through the middle for the fourth touchdown.

TWO KNOCKOUTS ON BASTROP CARD

BASTROP, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—Bastrop's first fistic program since before the recent war attracted a large crowd to the American Legion home here Friday night as local boxers put on a fancy eight-bout card featured by two knockouts.

The local American Legion team, shaping up for competition against amateur mittmen of this section and planning to participate in Golden Gloves tournaments, has been boosted considerably by Dr. J. L. Rawls, Bastrop physician, who obtained equipment of Bastrop High School to get the local scrappers started off right with a good ring and accessories.

"Wig" Reily, an ex-marine champion, scored a main event knockout over Allen Garrett, Barksdale Field welterweight champion, to highlight the night's program. Reily stopped Garrett in a minute and a half of the second round.

In the other knockout match, Norris Ray, 147, who recently lost a decision to June Woods at Monroe, showed great improvement and finished off James Shelton, 156, Gallion, in fifteen seconds of the second round.

Results of other bouts were:

Junior Slay, 72, decisions Jimmy Boatner, 74.

Jimmy Swanner, 112, defeated Harvey Terrell, 108.

Eddie Baker, 135, outpointed Clifton Hamilton, 143.

Elbert "Ward Three Flash" Hightower, 127, and Harold Hudson, 129 Gallion, battled to a draw.

"Son" Parker barely outpointed John Lee Matthews.

Bobby Rawls, 80, and Lester Wayles, 84, battled to a draw in the semi-final. Rawls recently won three fights on as many cards at Monroe.

The Bastrop team will meet the Illinois Central Service Club's team of Monroe here November 28.

LAKE CHARLES BLASTS BOLTON BEARS, 48 TO 12

LAKE CHARLES, La., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Lake Charles High walloped Bolton of Alexandria here last night 48-12. Coach R. S. Killen's starting eleven of ten underclassmen and only one senior served notice on 1947 prep circles with a powerful ground attack that marked up 375 yards rushing. Lake Charles plays this year's final in Bogalusa next Friday.

Sulphur High downed Opelousas, 25-0, at Opelousas last night to complete its schedule, undefeated in Class A.

DeRidder capitalized on a recovered fumble to defeat Crowley 7-0 at DeRidder for the Dragon's eighth win in nine starts. DeRidder winds up the season at Oakdale Thursday.

LaGrange of Lake Charles came back from Alexandria with a 0-0 tie to show for its final game last night against Menard.

INDEPENDENT BASKETBALL TEAM FORMED AT BASTROP

BASTROP, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—The Morehouse Parish Independent basketball quintet has a strong team to offer the cage fans in this section of the state this year with a squad that includes several six-footers.

The team, however, is seeking a sponsor and also is attempting to fill out a schedule for the winter months. Teams seeking games are requested to contact "Bones" Parker at the Easy Pay Tire Store here.

Included on the squad are Ed McDermott, six-foot-five, from Shreveport; Leon Langston, who has played several years around this section of the state, and Aubrey Kinnard, Parker, and Paul Cook, all six-foot-three boys; and Jack Hester, "Stick" Atkins, "Hot" Higginbotham, Richard Harrington, Hilton Pearce, Tony Pearce, J. L. Fontenot, and Dale Rogers, all five-foot-ten or over.

The force that holds the mass of the atom together is unknown.

3 OUT-OF-TOWN CARDS SET FOR MONROE BOXERS

Illinois Central Team Fights At Bastrop, Shreveport, Clarksville, Ark.

The Illinois Central Service Club's boxing team, after probably one more intrasquad card, will begin meeting clubs from other cities within the next two weeks, it was announced last night by Curtis Johnson, service club president.

First out-of-town date for the Monroe leatherpushers will be a clash with the Shreveport Optimist Club at Shreveport on November 27, and then the locals will tackle the Bastrop Legionnaires there on November 28. On December 16 the locals will be in Arkansas for a match with the Clarksville Boys' Club.

Johnson said the team was signing out-of-town bouts for its early winter matches, thus giving workmen plenty of time to complete the building of a roof over the arena here on the I. C. property on DeSiard street.

"When we show before the Monroe fans again against out-of-town teams we'll be able to assure them good warm seats regardless of the weather," Johnson declared.

Mickey Head, club matchmaker, announced the names of sixteen boys who are leading the race for positions on the team, and future matches involving the locals will feature these boys.

The boxers were listed as Dwight Carr and Lucky Pendarvis, 85-pounders; Buddy Cook and Herman Smith, 95-pounders; Cordell Houston, 105; Kelton Howard, 115; Bobby Wood, 125; Whitman Smith and Louis Whitfield, 135; Calvin Bowie and Joe Accardo, 140; June Wood and Harold Cornett, 145; Travis Hudson, 155; Bill Dyer, 165; and Jack Dyer, 175.

Carr, Pendarvis, Cook, Smith, Houston, Bobby Wood, Bowie and Hudson are the beginners with plenty promise. The Dyer brothers have five and six years experience in high school rings and in military service. Cornett has a record of six years ring activity in high school and with the Marines.

Howard has two years high school experience; Whitman Smith served three years in the navy, doing some boxing: Whitfield has five years experience in high school and with the army; Accardo has six years fistic credits with high school and coast guard teams, and June Wood did three years boxing in the navy.

MONROE BULLDOGS TO BATTLE RUSTON

The Monroe Colored High School Bulldogs, undefeated this season, goes into action here again tomorrow night at Neville Stadium against the Lincoln High School Bears of Ruston, it was announced last night by Principal Henry Carroll of the Monroe school.

Neither Negro eleven has been beaten this season although both have been tied by the Bernice Bears. Ruston was held to a 6-6 tie by Bernice, and here last Monday night the Bernice team tied the Bulldogs, 7-7.

The game tomorrow will be a homecoming affair for the colored high school here, and Nita Va Wingard, a junior, will hold the seat of honor at the game and present the ball to the captain of the Bulldog team before the game starts.

Principal Carroll said the winner of the Monroe-Ruston game would be crowned North Louisiana Negro champions and meet a south state team for the state crown.

ARKANSAS TECH TACKLES INDIANS THURSDAY

N. J. C. PREPARES FOR FINAL HOME FOOTBALL GAME

Wonder Boys To Come Here With Record Of 14 Wins In Last 15 Games

The Northeast Junior College Indians, who only last Monday accepted an invitation to meet Hardin College's Redskins in a post-season game at Wichita Falls, Tex., conclude their regular 1946 schedule here Thursday night against the Arkansas Tech Wonder Boys.

Arkansas Tech will present one of the most formidable elevens to be seen here this year, and a N. J. C. victory would be rated as one of the top upsets of the year in their class. Tech, undefeated in eight games last year, has lost only one out of seven played so far this year, not including the result of this week-end's game with Henderson State.

The game Thursday is being sponsored by the Knights of Columbus in behalf of the organization's building fund. The K. C. will give away a new Ford station wagon to some fan attending the game, and the largest crowd of the season to see a grid battle here is expected to be on hand. In an effort to provide adequate seating for the anticipated crowd, additional bleacher seats are to be erected along the east sidelines at Brown Field here this week.

Coach James L. Malone's Redskins, playing one of their finest games of the season and nearer full strength than at any time since their season opener, upset the Muleriders of Magnolia A. and M. in their last outing here a week ago. They'll be the less favored team again this week, but it is doubted that the Tribesmen will be able to overcome the kind of resistance the Wonder Boys will be able to show.

So far this year Arkansas Tech has defeated Edmond (Okla.) Teachers, 7-0; College of the Ozarks, 53-0; Magnolia A. and M., 39 to 6; Ouachita College, 20 to 12; Western Union of LeMars, Iowa, 45-6; and Monticello A. and M., 29 to 0. Their only loss this year was against the strong University of Arkansas "B" team, 12 to 7.

Last year the Wonder Boys tripped the locals, 14-0, in the closest game Arkansas Tech had all season. The Arkansans won all their other games last year by scores ranging from 22 to 80 points over such teams as Bacome Indians, Henderson State twice, Ouachita College twice, Arkansas State Teachers, and A. S. T. C.

Army, Notre Dame, Georgia Roll On Unbeaten To Top Nation's Gridders

Arkansas Sure Of At Least Tie For Southwest Championship

By Harold Claassen

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Army and Notre Dame's scoreless tie of a week ago became even more of a college football classic in retrospect today as the Cadets pummeled ponderous Penn, 34-7, and Notre Dame squelched Northwestern, 27 to 0.

The Cadets thus romped through their 27th game without a defeat—this victory almost entirely a Glenn Davis production—and needed only a triumph over Navy two weeks from today to round out three unbeaten seasons.

Just as Army and Notre Dame marched to victory, so did Georgia. Under the brilliant guidance of Charley Trippi, the Georgians probably won themselves a bowl bid with their 41 to 0 verdict over Auburn.

Illinois, Michigan and U. C. L. A. also triumphed but Texas and Ohio State faltered.

The Longhorns, voted the nation's leading team early in the season, were blanked by Texas Christian, 14 to 0, and their great fullback, Bobby Layne, was held to 37 yards in 31 tries against the line.

Ohio State was mastered by Buddy Young and his mud-caked Illinois teammates, 16 to 7, in a game that virtually assured the Illini of the big crown. Michigan kept pace with Illinois by subduing Wisconsin, 28 to 6. But Iowa was upset by Minnesota, 16 to 6. The Wolverines must defeat Ohio State next Saturday and Illinois would have to bow to Northwestern to deny the Illini of the Big Nine crown.

The Big Six chamionship became a four-way knot with Oklahoma staggering Missouri, 27 to 6; Nebraska drubbing Iowa State, 33 to 0; and Kansas mastering Kansas State, 34 to 0. The Sooners, Tigers, Nebraska and Kansas all are tied for the lead with three victories and a setback each.

Texas' defeat eliminated the Longhorns from the Southwest Conference title race on the same day that Arkansas clinched at least a share of the Laurels by downing Southern Methodist, 13 to 0, on spectacular touchdown sallies by Clyde (Smackover) Scott and Audrey Fowler.

Rice moved into a position of being able to annex a part of the crown by whipping Texas A. and M., 27 to 10.

South Carolina was rudely shoved off the Southern Conference throne by Duke, 39 to 0. North Carolina, the Dukes next rival, battered a potent Wake Forest machine, 26 to 14, primarily on the efforts of Charlie Justice.

George Washington, previously in the runner-up slot, tumbled well down into the standings with a 20 to 0 setback by William and Mary.

Tennessee stepped outside the Southeast Conference to batter Boston College, 33 to 13, in an intersectional fray. The Eagles collected all their 13 points before the Vols found the goal line. Hurlin' Harry Gilmer pitched Alabama to a 12 to 7 victory over stubborn Vanderbilt and Georgia Tech found Tulane only a minor puzzle, 35 to 7.

Kentucky and Mississippi State duplicated Tennessee's non-conference activities, the Wildcats mastering West Virginia, 13 to 0 and the Mississippi State eleven, playing Northwest Louisiana on the date previously held for Nevada, triumphed, 27 to 0.

In the East Colgate's gridders smashed Syracuse, 25 to 7, a day after their veteran coach, Andy Kerr, announced that he would retire this year. It was the Red Raiders' first major win of the season.

Yale became the favorite for the Big Three title by spilling Princeton, 30 to 2, and Williams finished an undefeated season by downing Amherst, 21 to 13, in a game that decided the Little Three race. Rutgers won from Lehigh, 55 to 6, for the Middle Three title.

Columbia had little difficulty with Lafayette, 46 to 0, and Harvard strode past Brown, 28 to 0. Delaware won its 29th in a row, 61 to 0, with Washington College the victim this time while Muhlenberg, another unbeaten machine, trimmed Moravian, 47 to 0. Cornell kept in the Ivy League struggle with a 21 to 7 conquest of Dartmouth and Penn State nipped Navy, 12 to 7.

U. C. L. A. got in shape for next week's crucil Pacific Coast Conference battle with Southern California by Downing Montana, 61 to 7. The Trojans were idle today. Stanford edged Washington State, 27 to 26, and Oregon State romped over California, 28 to 7. Washington trimmed Oregon, 16 to 0.

Denver and Colorado tied, 13 to 13, in a crucial Big Seven struggle.

WAVE, TIDE 'B' TEAMS TO PLAY FOR CHARITY

BILOXI, Miss., Nov. 16.—(AP)—The Alabama and Tulane "B" teams, having secured approval of the Southeastern Conference, will meet in Biloxi next Friday night in a special charity football game sponsored by the Biloxi Lions Club.

J. M. Wallace, chairman of the Lions Club athletic committee, said Tulane Head Coach Monk Simons had informed him that the game is definite.

Negotiations between the club and the two teams had been carried on by the committee, Simons and Frank Thomas, athletic director for the University of Alabama.

The game will be played at Biloxi High park for the benefit of Lions Club charities and to raise funds to apply toward purchase of air conditioning equipment for the operating room of the Biloxi Hospital.

Arrangements have been made to seat 8,000 at the game, which precedes by one night the Notre Dame-Tulane game in New Orleans.

One Biloxi boy will probably see action in this tilt. Dixie Hollis, son of Dr. and Mrs. Hollis, plays right half on the Tide "B" team.

NEVILLE INVADES BASTROP FRIDAY

Rams' District Class A Title Hopes Hinge On Outcome Of Game

The Neville High School Tigers, who showed they're capable of turning the tables on a more favored team when they defeated the Arcadia Hornets here Friday night, will get a chance to upset an even more favored eleven next Friday night when they invade Bastrop for a crack at their strong Class A conference rivals, the Bastrop Rams.

Coach Charlie Thomas' Rams can sew up the northeast district Class B championship by defeating the Bengals, but the Tigers hope to be able to muddle the title scene by springing an upset on the Rams who defeated both Ruston and Jonesboro-Hodge conquerors of Neville.

The Rams, beaten only twice this season and each time by non-conference foes, lost Thursday night to the Ouachita Parish High School Lions, but Bastrop followers figure the Rams were laying low with their sights really set on the all-important Neville game.

Coach Bill Ruple also announced last night that the Neville eleven has belatedly scheduled a game for November 28 with the St. Aloysius Flashes of Vicksburg, Miss., filling a schedule vacancy on the St. Aloysius slate caused by a cancellation. The game will be played at Vicksburg as the Flashes' Thanksgiving tussle.

The Neville freshman eleven will be playing its last game of the season here Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock at Neville Stadium against the Homer High School frosh. Recently at Homer the Bengal frosh were beaten, 13 to 6, but the locals have improved steadily and figure they can knock off the Pelican frosh this time.

The probable Tiger freshman lineup was announced last night as "Survivor" Woods and "Fox" Boultt, ends; Chris Gatzoulas and Jack Baugh, tackles; "Little" Choate and Roy Scalia, guards; Johnny Johnson, center; Joe Messina, quarterback; Joe Lasuzzo and Charles Worley, halfbacks; and Guy Dupriest, fullback.

Other members of the freshman squad are Harold Bassett, J. W. Richards, Larry Saltzman, Max Dillingham, Alphonse Williams, John Noel, Billy Talley, Tommy Meeks, Ralph King, Perry Elder, Benny Hemriech, Sam Campbell, Fred Parish, Dicky Rowe, David Villenova and Managers Barnes and Thompson.

CHIEFS NOSE OUT BULLDOGS, 6 TO 2

Oklahoma City U. Bests Louisiana Tech In Downpour Of Rain

RUSTON, La., Nov. 16.—(AP)—On a field swept by torrential rains, Oklahoma City University earned a hard-won 6 to 2 football victory over Louisiana Tech here tonight.

The only touchdown in the game came in the first quarter, when Halfback Jim Wade passed from the 14-yard line to Halfback Waldrun Hambrick standing in the end zone. Andy Victor failed to convert.

There was no scoring in the second quarter, but the Oklahoma Chiefs had pushed the ball to Tech's 10-yard line on Wade's passing when the half ended.

In the third Chet Wojecki took the ball on Tech's 10-yard line and ran it to Oklahoma's 47. That started a drive that carried the Bulldogs to Oklahoma's eight-yard line, where they lost the ball on downs.

Carl Allen of the visitors, attempting to punt from behind his goal line, was tackled by Charlie Newman, Tech end, giving the Bulldogs, a two-point safety. The 6 to 2 score held to the end.

On first downs, Tech gained a slight edge. Oklahoma City made nine and Tech made 10.

On penalties, Oklahoma lost 50 yards and Tech lost 15.

The lineups:

Okla. City	Pos.	La. Tech
Goodall	LE	Dalrymple

GILMER PASS TO MORROW SAVES DAY FOR ALABAMA

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Harry Gilmer's 20-yard touchdown pass to Quarterback High Morrow in the final seconds of the first half provided the margin of victory today as Alabama took a 12-7 verdict from a Vanderbilt team which pushed the Tide around in the final period. Vandy was badly outplayed for the first three quarters.

The victors scored both their touchdowns in the second period, and Gilmer's throw to Morrow was completed with one second of the half left.

'Bama's first score, on a 49-yard drive, featured short gains by Gilmer and Billy Candenhead, which took the ball to the Vandy one. Hal Self plowed over on a quarterback sneak.

TAG TEAM SCRAP SCHEDULED FOR MAT SHOW HERE

Aquaya And Segura, Principals In Riot, To Battle Curtis, Harrell

The trio of wrestlers that became embroiled in a wild riot at Gus Kallio's Arena here last Wednesday when more than 30 fans mobbed one wrestler and stripped his clothing to shreds as they beat him about the ring, will be back in action in a tag team scramble here this Wednesday night, it was announced last night by Promoter Gus Kallio.

The match, to be presented on a winner-take-all basis, will be the direct result of last Wednesday's fracas in which Francisco Aguaya, tough Mexican, came out second best in a clash with the paying customers when he sought to aid his countryman, Bobby Segura, in a light heavyweight title match with Jack Curtis.

Promoter Kallio, heeding Aguaya's demands for a chance at Curtis with the help of Segura, arranged to have the world's light-heavy titlist back in the ring here Wednesday for the tag team tussle.

Curtis has selected as his partner Henry Harrell, flashy young tussler of Memphis, Tenn.

But the Mexicans, in addition to requesting a winner-take-all scrap, also instructed Promoter Kallio they would have to have assurance of police protection at all times before they would enter the ring here again. Kallio reported he had made arrangements to see that they received adequate protection.

After the ruckus in which the fans mobbed Aquaya, the Mexico City toughie protested to Kallio, demanding a return match for Segura with Curtis and when he saw he wasn't making any progress along that line he declared he and Segura could whip "any two" wrestlers in the country.

Kallio contacted Curtis who refused to make the proposed tag match unless he could "get the partner I want." Curtis said he wanted Harrell for his partner in such a match and would let Kallio know later if he would accept. Yesterday Curtis notified Kallio that Harrell had been contacted and would come here to help him take some of the wind out of the Mexicans' sails.

Aguaya and Segura also protested to the use of local referees, and Kallio said he would satisfy them on this count by bringing in a nationally known referee.

Kallio reported he had contacted Col. H. J. Landry, president of the National Wrestling Association, with hopes of having a top-notch referee assigned here, and Kallio said the result was that Claude Skidmore would be in Monroe to referee this week's matches. Two one fall preliminaries will open the night's show.

MAROONS DOWN DEMONS IN RAIN

STARKVILLE, Miss., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Mississippi State's Maroons scored in every quarter to defeat a fighting Northwestern Louisiana eleven, 27-0, before a rain-soaked crowd of 5,000 today.

In the first quarter Harper Davis dropped back to his 45, fumbled and recovered, and then tossed a long pass to Jennings Moates on the Demons' 20 with Moates going the rest of the way. Substitute Halfback Graham Bramlette, scored in the second period when he ran 25 yards on a reverse.

The third Maroon score came in the third period when Eagle Matulick rammed through center from the 8. Harper Davis and Jim Bailey had advanced the ball from the 36.

Sonny Jones, reserve tailback, scored the fourth touchdown in the final period when he circled end for seven yards to hit pay dirt. The drive started on the 47.

Matulich passed to Kermit Davis on the 35 and Hillard Thorpe, sub fullback, drove to the 10.

YANK JOB OFFERED DUROCHER, HE SAYS

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers said today he had been offered the managerial post of the New York Yankees but turned it down because he had a prior verbal agreement with Headman Branch Rickey of the Dodgers.

Speaking informally at a sports luncheon tendered by Comedian Jack Benny, Durocher said:

"About a month before the season ended Larry McPhail called me at my apartment in New York and asked to see me. I went over and he offered me the Yankee job. I told him I had a verbal agreement with Mr. Rickey and couldn't take it. That was the last I heard of it."

Bucky Harris was subsequently signed by New York.

Durocher said he has an engagement with Rickey in New York Nov. 25, at which time he said he expects to resign to manage the Bums next season. He said tentative details were discussed at a meeting with Rickey several weeks ago in Columbus, O.

Durocher added that Rickey had offered Coach Charley Dressen a two year contract to continue with Brooklyn at $15,000 a year, plus a bonus. He indicated he was surprised when Dressen signed with McPhail and added he hadn't heard from Dressen since he joined the Yankee club.

Durocher leaves to visit the Bums' Fort Worth, Tex., farm club Tuesday.

LIMITED DEER SEASON FOR SINGER PRESERVE

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Louisiana will have a new wildlife refuge in the former Singer preserve in Madison parish and as a result of this move the wildlife and fisheries department has approved a "limited" deer season for the parish.

Commissioner Luther S. Montgomery of the wildlife and fisheries department reports he has signed a contract for establishment of the refuge. He said the refuge "automatically protects" the deer and other game within the boundaries of the preserve and a short deer-hunting season is now possible in the parish.

Open dates for deer hunting in the area have been set. They are December 10 through December 12th, and the 25th through the 31st.

SOONER RUNNING ATTACK TOO MUCH FOR MISSOURI

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Unleashing a vicious ground attack, the University of Oklahoma downed the University of Missouri today, 27-6, before a homecoming crowd of more than 35,000 and kept alive Oklahoma's hopes for a share in the Big Six conference title.

The victory throws the conference race into a four-way tie with Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska, each boasting three wins against one loss.

Missouri's only touchdown came in the final 30 seconds of the game on a four-yard pass from Fred Kling to Kenny Bounds, following a 72-yard march against the Sooners' third and fourth stringers.

Oklahoma did all its scoring in the first half, converting two fumbles, a blocked kick and an intercepted pass into counters. Joe Golding, the Sooners' brilliant halfback, scored two of the touchdowns and set up another running back and intercepted pass 78 yards to the Missouri 17.

JENNINGS PLAYS OUACHITA LIONS HERE THIS WEEK

Southwest District Double A Champions Play Here Friday Night

The Jennings High School Wildcats, southwest district Class AA champions who are scheduled to play Haynesville in the state's semi-final championship playoff, will appear in Monroe next Friday night against Coach Jim Hodgins' Ouachita Parish High School Lions.

The game with Jennings will close the season for the Lions who the past week plastered a favored Bastrop eleven, 25 to 0, with a substitute back, Mark Boatright, leading the Lion offensive when Left Halfback E. J Sievers went out of the game after about four plays because of an injury.

Coach Hodgins last night said Sievers' injury did not appear to be serious and that he would be ready for action against the invading Jennings team.

Scout reports on the Wildcats indicate the Lions might just as well begin preparing early for a mighty rough night. Jennings' line is not plugged with any unusually heavy boys, but the weights are average, between 170 and 180 from end to end, and the visiting forwards will outweigh the locals an average of eleven pounds to the man despite the presence in the Ouachita line of Marvin Dearman and C. L. Wink, a pair of big tackles.

There will be a 16-pound Jennings advantage in backfield weights with F. Kibodeaux, 190-pound crushing fullback, the heaviest of the Wildcat ball handlers.

K. Istse, 170, a six-foot-three left end, is one of Jennings' best linemen and a fine pass catcher.

E. Bujol, 150, left haifback, is the principal runner and passer although E. Navarre, 155, right half, is considered just about as good.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Aside from a few shaky leaders, the stock market maintained its equilibrium fairly well today in the face of a nation-wide coal strike threat.

Dealings were among the slowest of the past several years. Early losses of fractions to a point or so were reduced in most cases in the final hour and a number of modest plus signs appeared near the close. Transfers ran to around 300,000 shares.

Bonds were a trifle under water, although there were exceptions here. Grains and cotton futures were mixed.

SPOT COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Spot cotton closed steady 50 cents a bale higher today. Sales 4,095. Low middling 25.75, middling 31.15, good middling 31.55, receipts 3,136, stock 205,177.

AVERAGE COTTON PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The average price of middling 15/16ths-inch cotton today at ten designated southern spot markets was 85 cents a bale higher at 31.43 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days 32.15; middling 7/8ths-inch average 29.92.

New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Cotton futures, following irregularity throughout today's session, encountered a late covering movement and closed at or near the day's best levels.

Prices were pushed up to gains of 75 cents to $2.75 a bale. There was an absence of hedging pressure, and with profit taking sales light, the advance encountered very little opposition.

Some of the late buying was attributed to the stubborness displayed throughout the session in nearby December, which was in demand from mills.

Futures closed 75 cents to $2.75 a bale higher than the previous close.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Grains moved within a narrow range in a quiet trade today. There was nothing in the overnight news to influence the market in either direction and cereals drifted aimlessly throughout the session. November oats were independently firm.

Wheat finished 1/4 lower to 3/4 higher, January 2.06 3/4, corn was unchanged to 1/2 lower, January $1.31 1/2-3/8, and oats were 1/4 lower to 1 1/2 higher, November 81 3/4-82 1/4.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16. —(AP)— Close: Wheat: Jan. 2.06 3/4; Mar. 1.99 3/4; May 1.90 3/4; July 1.74 3/4.

Corn: Jan. 1.31 1/2-3/8; Mar 1.28 7/8-3/4; May 1.27; July 1.25 5/8.

CHINESE REDS

attack which will mark a crisis in the civil war.

This spokesman, Yang Shan-Kun, general secretary of the Eighth route army, said 100,000 to 150,000 of the best government troops were moving into position 60 to 100 miles from Yenan.

The First, 27th and 90th armies under Gen. Hu Tsung-Nan already have crossed the Yellow river from Shansi into Shensi province with their vanguard at Ichwan, 67 miles southeast of Yenan, he said.

Another government force is at Lochwan, 60 miles south of Yenan, and another is being flown to the Yulin area 110 miles north of Yenan, the spokesman said.

Still another government concentration is being formed for an attack from the west, and government reserves from Szechwan province are moving up to Sian, 200 miles south of Yenan and apparently the major base of the campaign, Yang declared.

Yang asserted that the government was rebuilding the long-abandoned Sian-Yenan highway and that all roads in government areas were jammed with traffic, carrying food and munitions for a major offensive.

Yenan bustled with defense preparations. All males big enough to use weapons were mobilized and held a mass meeting.

Women, children, hospital patients and household goods were being taken to undisclosed hideouts in the hills. They streamed out afoot, on litters and on carts drawn by humans, mules and camels.

The hospital, housed in a honeycomb of 109 caves, was completely evacuated, and nurses said they expected to travel a long distance despite bitterly cold weather.

Ironically, the American plane which brought me here also delivered four guinea pigs for the hospital laboratory. Dr. George Hatem of Roanoke Rapids, N. C., who has been here ten years, had long sought them for experiments in obscure diseases, but said today he did not know who had sent them.

I became the 13th foreigner here, including members of an American military mission. I first came here one year ago and stayed five months in an environment that was shot of physical conveniences but as placid and restful as any in China.

Today all was tense with mounting war preparation. Hair-trigger nerves and constant vigilance have replaced the old air of security.

Here a tearful wife clung to her soldier-husband in reluctant farewell; there a group of kindergarten children wailed or shouted as they started the evacuation.

Bright-colored fruits and vegetables lay heaped in the market-place in contrast with the desolate ruins—unrepaired since the Japanese bombing of 1938—through which Chinese hurried on urgent errands.

Air raid sirens shrilled repeatedly in practice drills, sending everyone to cover. Each time the American observer group spread its large stars and stripes on the ground.

(Despite all these preparations in Yenan, Gen. Chou En-Lai, chief Communist peace negotiator, said in a farewell press conference at Nanking that he was leaving behind a liaison mission of about 40 persons, indicating some thin hopes of resuming discussions. He said they would be withdrawn only if Yenan were attacked but that he himself was leaving Nanking in two or three days and would not return.

(Chou gave the same account of government attack plans as did the Yenan spokesman, but added a prediction that the government would suffer 50 per cent casualties if it assaulted Yenan.

(Government quarters, continuing to deny any such attack was contemplated, reported the Communists had made new raids on the Peiping-Tientsin, Peiping-Hankow and Peiping-Mukden railways and were on the offensive in Shantung province.)

CUGAT BROADCAST SCHEDULED HERE

Rhumba King To Go On Network From Neville High Wednesday

One of radio's most exciting musical attractions comes to Monroe Wednesday night, November 20, when Rhumba King Xavier Cugat and his Latin-Americans present their "Spotlight Band" broadcast from Neville High School. The program takes the air at 8:30 p. m., and will be carried by the Mutual network.

Some 2,500 Monroe youngsters including students from Northeast Junior College, Ouachita Parish High School, St. Matthew's Parochial School and members of the Jaycee 'Teenage Club will be guests of the Coca-Cola Bottling Co., of Monroe at the broadcast. "Spotlight Bands," which also features the orchestras of Guy Lombardo and Harry James on Monday and Wednesday night, is sponsored by the Coco-Cola Company.

The Rhumba King is the regular midweek star of "Spotlight Bands" and for the past few months has been originating his programs from Hollywood where he recently completed assignments in several featured film roles. His Monroe appearance is part of a long and personal appearance tour through the major cities of the midwest and south and, eventually, South America.

Cugat, it's agreed, is directly responsible for the recent widespread vogue for rhumbas, sambas, congas, and kindred Latin-American dances for, from the moment he organized his band some dozen or so years ago, the smiling violinist-maestro has concentrated on "below the border" rhythms.

At the outset the Cugat crew was used in smart supper clubs and hotels as a relief band to fill in the time when the high-priced featured orchestras were taking a rest. It wasn't long, however, before the public insisted that the rhumba experts be given a more prominent position in the entertainment world.

Cugat's phenomenal record at boxoffices of theatres all over the country, in the record marts, on the airwaves and in dancing spots, is proof enough that the suave Spaniard knew what he was doing when he decided to headline Latin-American music. Since his band became popular, rhumbas, sambas and the like are included in the books of practically every topnotch dance orchestra and he had imitators on all sides.

There's only one Cugie, however, and this explains his position in the "Spotlight Bands" triumvirate. When the program was being built it was decided to present the top bands in the three most popluar musical styles of the moment. Cugat was the unanimous choice for the rhumba delineator with Guy Lombardo assigned to the Monday night "sweet" music spot and Harry James rounding things out with his Friday night hot music jamborees.

BANKERS' LEADER SPEAKS THURSDAY

Chamber President Urges All Businessmen To Hear C. W. Bailey

The ever increasing importance of agriculture in the economy of the Twin Cities and Northeast Louisiana will receive special emphasis in the address of C. W. Bailey, president of the American Bankers Association before the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce on the roof of Hotel Virginia next Thursday night, according to an advance copy of his address, received here yesterday.

Mr. Bailey, who is a nationally recognized authority in the field of farm loans, has been instrumental in developing one of the soundest and most diversified agricultural programs in the nation in his own county in Tennessee. With four vice-presidents who are agricultural college graduates in charge of loans to farmers who produce sheep, livestock, tobacco and small grains, Mr. Bailey's bank has demonstrated the practicability of correlating farm credit and agriculture extension work.

In his address, entitled "The Challenge of Tomorrow," Mr .Bailey will point the way towards leadership of banks and business interests in agricultural development.

"Our Chamber of Commerce is extremely fortunate to have this distinguished American and expert financier, an authority on farm problems, to talk to the businessmen of this community," said T. H. Scott, Chamber president. "Because of the great importance of agriculture to the economy of Northeast Louisiana, I'm especially anxious that every member of the Chamber of Commerce avail themselves of the privilege of hearing Mr. Bailey discuss the future possibilities of agriculture in this section."

A large number of bankers from Northeast Louisiana have been invited to the Chamber's membership meeting by the Ouachita National and Central Savings banks of Monroe.

Reservations for this meeting will close at 5 p. m. Tuesday. President Scott has urged all members to mail their reservations to the Chamber of Commerce office before that time.

Mackenzie's Column

By DeWitt MacKenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst)

The campaign of left-wingers in the British House of Commons to force the Socialist government to dissociate its foreign policy from that of the United States, so as to avoid what they describe as an "inevitable conflict" between Russia and America, gives interesting emphasis to the metamorphosis which John Bull's empire is undergoing.

This rebellion apparently received a fillip from the announcement in the king's speech from the throne at the opening of Parliament last Tuesday that conscription for the armed forces would be continued—this being the first peace-time military conscription in Britain's history. Prime Minister Attlee gave point to this in his statement that developments of modern weapons made England especially vulnerable to attack. He said the country was now a part of the European continent and "we must have trained reserves who can take their part straight away without waiting six months for training."

That's plain talk. It means that as things now stand there is danger Europe may be heading into another war. Further conflict isn't inevitable, but it's a possibility. Mr. Attlee is playing the part of a wise man in seeing that his country is prepared for contingencies.

And the prime minister has given no indication that he thinks the dangers of another war rest in the relations between Russia and America. Europe is as full of peace-traps as a hedghog is of quills. Attlee is too well informed to agree with the amazing statement by one Socialist member of parliament that the United States was the only nation in the world where some "ordinary people wanted war," and that America was inflamed with "war fever." Just in passing one might remark that this sounds very much like the language we have been hearing from another great European capital recently.

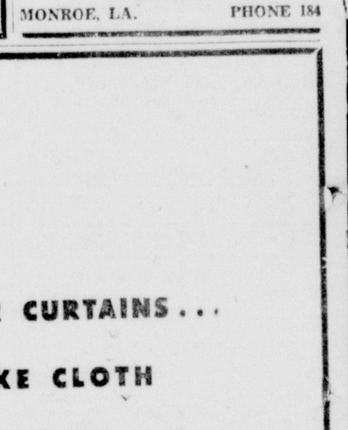

Of course strange ideas about America still prevail in some quarters of the British Isles. I've even encountered people who believe that savage Indians still roam the plains close to Chicago. However, the average Briton is better informed about the U. S. A., than that. And he knows that we don't want war with anybody, though we hope he will give us credit of being able to put up a fight if it is necessary.

So far as John Bull is concerned, his position is such that it's good to have a friend—meaning America—but his policy of preparedness and his foreign relations aren't inspired by any "war fever" in the United States.

There is Britain's recent momentous recognition of the indefensibility of her Mediterranean life-line to the Far East in any further world war. This involves the shifting of the weight of her imperial defenses from the Eastern Mediterranean to a line through British West and East Africa—a tremendous undertaking. There will be other defensive adjustments in the Orient. And there are political changes—for one, the granting of independence to the vast sub-continent of India.

No, it isn't America's "war fever" that impels John Bull to keep his powder dry. He has troubles of his own and finds it very comforting to be on close terms with Uncle Sam.

Mrs. Robert Ray Underwood, whose recent marriage was of paramount social interest, is seen in the picture to the right. She is the former Miss Elise Abernathy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Pointer Abernathy. The marriage took place at the Abernathy home on Marie Place.

Miss Sally Foster, upper center, lovely member of Monroe's younger set, was recently selected queen of Tulane University's Homecoming Week. She is a member of the senior class at Sophie Newcomb College.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kern, lower left, cut their wedding cake during the reception following their marriage in the home of the bride's parents, Rabbi and Mrs. F. K. Hirsch. Mrs. Kern is the former Miss Harriet Hirsch.

Miss Gandy Is November Bride

Prominent Nuptial Event Claims The Interest Of Friends In This Section

A wedding of affectionate interest to friends in Northeast Louisiana took place at the Tallulah Baptist Church Saturday morning, November 9, when Miss Eleanor Elizabeth Gandy, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wiley Gandy became the bride of Leo Frank Terzia, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Frank Terzia of Monroe. The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Clarence Crow in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends.

The setting for the wedding was exceptionally beautiful with glistening magnolia leaves forming a background for the placement of masses of specimen chrysanthemums and sprays of miniature chrysanthemums overflowing from tall white floor baskets. Cathedral tapers in floor candelabra of graduated length, cast a mellow glow.

As the guests were being seated a concert was rendered by Mrs. J. C. Sherwin who played Schubert's "Ave Maria," "On Wings of Song" by Mendelssohn, "Leiberstraum" by Listz and "Always." She accompanied Mrs. James E. Goodwin who sang in lovely voice "Because" and "At Dawning" and during the plighting of vows played "Clair de Lune," Wagner's Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's Wedding March were used for the processional and recessional.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Ralph Loe, sister of the bride, wore a floor length model of fuchsia velvet fashioned with tight fitting bodice, full skirt and three-quarter length sleeves. She wore a fuchsia colored plume in her hair and carried bronze chrysanthemums tied with satin ribbon and net. The bridesmaids, Mrs. R. W. Gandy, Jr., sister-in-law of the bride and Miss Marness Lester of Monroe wore identical dresses of aqua velvet with yellow plume head dress and carried yellow chrysanthemums. Barbara Loe, junior bridesmaid and niece of the bride wore a white net model similar to that of the bride and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of varicolored small chrysanthemums with ribbon streamers of different hues.

The bride walked down the aisle on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. She was radiantly beautiful in her diaphanous wedding gown of imported white net made with fitted bodice, square neckline and long tight sleeves quaintly puffed at the shoulders. The long skirt ended in a train and the fingertip veil of illusion fell from a coronet of pearls. Her flowers were tuberoses, bride's roses and orchids tied with satin ribbon. For something old she carried a white linen lace-edged handkerchief that the bridegroom's mother and grandmother used at their weddings.

Jack Terzia, cousin of the bridegroom served as best man and the ushers were Felix Andrew Terzia, III, and R. W. Gandy, Jr. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Gandy wore a black crepe model trimmed with aqua with black accessories and the groom's mother wore black velvet with a yoke of pale blue chiffon and black acessories. They both had corsages of pink carnations.

Immediately after the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Guests were greeted by Mrs. Francis Jordan and the receiving line consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Gandy, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Terzia and the bridal party. The bride's table overlaid with a cut work cloth was centered with a three tiered wedding cake handsomely embossed and topped with a miniature wedding bell. Silver candelabra holding white gleaming tapers were used at either end and white mums artistically arranged added further beauty to the table. From a handsome silver service Mrs. John Bennett Fudickar of Monroe and Miss Billye Davis served coffee and were assisted by Miss Frances McGuire of Shreveport and Miss Jane Ayers of Belzoni, Miss., who served embossed individual wedding cakes. The beautiful and numerous wedding gifts on display attested the popularity of the couple.

The bride changed her wedding raiment for a small tailleur of beige wool gaberdine with brown accessories. She wore a small brown hat trimmed with a pink feather and a corsage of orchids. Mr. and Mrs. Terzia then left by motor for an unannounced destination and on their return will reside in Monroe.

The bride is a graduate of the Tallulah High School and Northeast Junior College in Monroe where she was a member of Phi Theta Kappa, national honorary fraternity. She also attended Louisiana State University where she was a member of Kappa Delta sorority. The bridegroom attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute and Louisiana State University where he was a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity. He is manager of Leo Terzia Wood Preserving Co., in Monroe.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Miss Jane Ayers, Belzoni, Miss., Miss Virginia Dougherty of New Orleans, Miss Frances McGuire, Shreveport. Mr. and Mrs. Fensky Terzia, Mr. and Mrs. John Bennett Fudickar, Theo Terzia of Monroe, Mrs. W. F. Lynch, Bill Lynch and Miss Frances Evelyn Lynch and Mrs. Goldie O'Steen of Jackson, Miss.

MRS. C. R. COLLINS

Mrs. Collins, bride of recent date, is the former Miss Louise Williamson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Williamson of West Monroe.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Holden of Dunn, La., announce the marriage of their daughter, Myrtle Louise, to Christopher Carson Coats, November 10. The ceremony was performed in the home of the bride's parents, by Rev. William S. Bernhard, Jr., with only members of the family present.

The bride wore a lovely beige suit with black accessories and a shoulder corsage of small white chrysanthemums.

The groom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Coats of Ouachita parish, and is at present engaged in farming. The bride is the post-mistress at Dunn.

The couple are now at home at Sacksonia Plantation.

SUBJECT OF CAMELLIAS HOLDS MUCH INTEREST FOR MONROE GARDEN CLUB MEMBERS

The Monroe Garden Club's program on "Camellias" was well timed as the camellia season is now at hand and the first blossoms are as usual delighting flower lovers and especially those who make camellia raising a hobby.

The meeting in the Butterfly room of the Frances Hotel was well attended with Mrs. Gladys Sperry, Miss Emma Louise Biedenharn, Mrs. Stanley Blower, Mrs. Melville Hunter and Mrs. B. A. Trousdale serving as hostesses and Mrs. A. K. Kilpatrick, the president, presiding.

Mrs. Kilpatrick introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. U. B. Evans of Ferriday, who talked on the subject of Camellias and entertained her audience with colored slides showing the beautiful camellias as they are grown in the Magnolia Gardens. Mrs. Evans said in part:

"Camellias are evergreen trees or shrubs, native of Asia, belonging to the tea family. They have long been prized for their handsome glossy-green leaves and showy single, semi-double and double flowers of white and shades of pink or red. In sheltered places they can withstand some cold weather, but where winters are severe they need protection.

"Camellias do well outdoors in the South and grow in rather poor soil providing it is somewhat acid. But they are slow growers unless well cultivated and fed. A mulch of leaf mold, or well-rotted manure helps to maintain cool and moist conditions at the roots, besides furnishing some food. A little commercial fertilizer now and then, with thorough waterings in dry times, will also aid materially in promoting vigorous and healthy growth. Propagation is by seeds (which are very slow to germinate), cuttings, layering and, in the case of choice varieties, by grafting. Leaf spots which follow frost injury and wounds may serve as starting points for canker. Treat all large wounds with a mercury disinfectant. The only remedy of the blight is sanitation, consisting of the removal of all fallen blossoms for several consecutive seasons. In the South spraying in April and late in September with a white-oil emulsion controls various scales and also mites.

"The Azalea and Camellia Society of America was organized in 1932 to create a greater interest in these plants (particularly the camellia), and to attempt to straighten out and standardize the names of many varieties, about which there is great confusion. The membership is mainly amateur. Through its encouragement camellia shows have been held in a number of cities throughout the South. The annual supplies news of the organization as well as material on the cultivation of azaleas and camellias and descriptive listings of species and varieties of both subjects. The annual dues are one dollar. The secretary is Mr. H. T. Comer, Box 478, Macon, Ga."

Among the varieties listed by Mrs. Evans as suitable to be grown in Monroe and vicinity are:

Elizabeth Boardman, Conflagration, Elizabeth Arden, Celestine, Iwame, Rose Mallow, Adelle Aubusson, Monarch, Herme, Galatea, Laurel Leaf, Black Prince, Hussar, Number 583, Gerard, Cardinal Richelieu, Marian Mitchell, Joseph Holland, Dr. Shepherd, Akebona, Marguerite Lawrence, Eugene Liz, Daikagura, Sun Rise, Kama Saka, Belle Mae, Duke of Burgundy, Eleanor McCready, Mrs. Charles Simmons, William Middleton, Arthur Middleton, Henry Middleton, and many others of the better better known varieties.

Mrs. Bradley Waelder left last week for a visit of indefinite length with her sister, Mrs. Samuel Jones and Mr. Jones of San Angelo, Texas.

Mrs. Carrie Walsh of Lake Charles, La., department president of United Spanish War Veterans Auxiliary, was guest of honor at dinner at LaCasa Tea Room on Wednesday evening, at the time of her official visit to Thompson Wood Lee Auxiliary. The members of Thompson Wood Lee Auxiliary were hastesses on this occasion and Mrs. Eulo Morgan, president, presided at the dinner and introduced the speakers. Mrs. Morgan was attractively attired in a grey dinner dress with corsage of white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Minnie Mangham extended greetings from Thompson Wood Lee Auxiliary. Mrs. Mangham wore a black dinner dress with corsage of white dahlias.

Mrs. Walsh, in black dinner dress with lace yoke and corsage of yellow chrysanthemums, which was presented to her by the hostesses, gave an inspiring message to members on loyalty and cooperation.

Mrs. Ida Walters, of Shreveport, junior department president, was also a guest of the evening and was presented with a lovely corsage by the hostesses. Mrs. Walters was attired in black dinner dress.

Mrs. Mamie Arnette, past department president, gave an interesting talk with reference to the essay contests in the schools of the state. Mrs. Arnette's dress was a black dinner dress with corsage of colored chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Stella Courtney, a past department president, who is department publicity chairman, gave an outline of her work during the year with reference to publicity in national and local papers. Mrs. Courtney's dinner dress was of black with sequin trim and corsage of white chrysanthemums.

A delectable dinner was served to the members and guests. Decorations in the auxiliary colors were carried out in the use of red and yellow chrysanthemums and candles.

Mrs. Stella Courtney, who is a past department president of Spanish War Veterans Auxiliary, accompanied Mrs. Carrie Walsh, department president, on her official visits to Alexandria, Baton Rouge and other points in the state.

MISS FLANDERS GIVES REVIEW OF POPULAR BOOK FOR THE MEMBERS OF READER'S CLIQUE

Members and guests of the Readers' Clique were graciously entertained at their November meeting in the home of Mrs. J. S. Harbuck.

Miss Francis Flanders, the guest speaker, gave a most interesting review of the book, "The Famous Case of Myra Clark Gaines" by Nolan B. Harmon, Jr. This is the story of a woman's life-long attempt to gain her inheritance and prove her ligitamacy.

In 1786, Daniel Clark arrived in Spanish owned New Orleans and was employed by his uncle. After a few years he had established himself as one of New Orleans' most influential citizens and was appointed Americal vice-consul in 1795. When Clark was thirty-two years of age his uncle, Colonel Clark, died and willed his large cotton plantation and the greater part of his property to his nephew and namesake, and the very name of the older Clark was obscured by that of the younger. He was truly a merchant prince and unmarried.

Shortly thereafter, he met Marie Julie Carriere who was called Zulime by her family and friends. She had been married at the age of sixteen to Geronimo Des Grange who made some pretensions to nobility. Meanwhile at the turn of the century another young man had come into power—Napoleon Bonaparte. This gave Des Grange the opportunity to go back to his native France to salvage something of the property he had left so hurriedly during the Revolution. The attractive Zulime was left alone in her youth and beauty. She was just twenty-three and Daniel Clark was desperately in love with her and she with him. Her marriage to Des Grange was proven illegal as it was found that he had been previously wed and had remarried without benefit of divorce. Zulime now felt free to look to a greater and far more attractive man who was Daniel Clark. They were married by a Catholic priest in Philadelphia.

Clark became more and more involved in politics and all this time his wife had been in New Orleans with her sister. He had established Zulime in a fine home which he visited frequently, but he refused to acknowledge their marriage because he felt that proof of Des Granges' former marriage had not been concrete.

Myra Clark was born in New Orleans and Zulime was persuaded by Clark that she must give up the child until the long-sought proof of Des Grange's bigamy could be produced. Myra was placed in the home of Colonel and Mrs. Boisfontaine Davis and regarded them as her parents. It was not until she grown that she learned she was an adopted child and this came to light one day when Colonel Davis, in a fit of temper, told her that he was glad that none of his blood ran through her veins. This was on the eve of her marriage to William Wallace Whitney, of whom the Davis family disapproved.

Myra began the search for her true parents and after much time and effort she learned that Daniel Clark, now deceased, was her father. She also learned that he had willed her his property, a vast fortune, but that the will had been misplaced. Here was the beginning of a long hard struggle on the part of this woman to gain that which was rightfully hers. In 1858 the federal circuit court decided against her because there was no proof of her parents marriage. In 1861, the supreme court decided for her, but the Civil War intervened. Again in 1867, the supreme court decided for her, but she still did not receive any money. On January 9, 1885, Myra Clark Gaines died. In 1891 Justice Bradley wrote a decision that forced the city of New Orleans to pay $576,707.92 to the Gaines heirs.

"The case shows," wrote Justice Wayne in 1851, "the hollowness of friendships formed in the greediness for gain—a kindred between virtue, and lasting respectability—irregular yieldings to passion and the ruin it brings upon children."

At the conclusion of the program, the hostess served delicious refreshments to the following members and guests:

Mrs. Stanley Archibald, Mrs. Joe Bennett, Mrs. E. W. Crowley, Mrs. Sidney Gill, Mrs. J. S. Harbuck, Mrs. Burl Hollis, Mrs. Oliver Lowery, Mrs. Jack Masur, Mrs. Fred Parrish, Mrs. Louis Peters, Mrs. Walter Ryland, Jr., Mrs. Ray Updegraff, Mrs. T. F. Wilson, Mrs. Evans Ethridge, Mrs. Henry Menuet, Mrs. Henry Loeb, Corpus Christi, Texas, and Miss Francis Flanders.

Home Ceremony Unites Couple

Impressive Ceremony In The Abernathy Home Unites Popular Young Couple

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Pointer Abernathy in Marie Place was in festive floral attire and flooded with candlelight when their daughter, Elise, was united in marriage to Mr. Robert Ray Underwood, son of Mrs. Marion McDonald Underwood and the late Mr. Underwood on November 7 at 5 o'clock in the evening with Rev. Father H. W. Hubley officiating.

An improvised altar was reared in the extreme end of the living room where Woodwardia fern was banked high against the French doors. Tall pedestal baskets overflowing with superb white chrysanthemums were arranged in a semi-circle in the center of which was placed a white satin prie-dieu where the young couple knelt during the benediction. On either side of the altar white chrysanthemums were placed in tree-like arrangement. On the mantel in the background, small chrysanthemums linked together with white satin ribbon trailed to the floor.

A prenuptial concert was rendered by Mrs. D. G. Nichols, pianist. She also accompanied the soloist, Miss Betty Rinehart, who sang "Because" and "Ave Maria."

The bride's sister, Mrs. Sidney L. Ducharme served as matron of honor and Miss Peggy Morrison, Miss Rosemary Worsham and Mrs. Charles Wallace, served as bridesmaids. They all wore stately blue taffeta models with the exception of Mrs. Ducharme who wore a pink model. They were all fashioned along similar lines with tight-fitting basques, bracelet length sleeves and sweetheart neckline. The skirts were long and full. They all carried arm bouquets of pink Briercliff roses tied with long lengths of blue satin ribbon.

Mr. Underwood was attended by Mr. Sidney Ducharme.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a stately ivory satin wedding gown of charming simplicity. Some of the charm of yesteryear was captured in the hoop skirt with lace ruffles peeking beneath. The bodice was off-the-shoulder effect with deep net yoke. The sleeves were long and tight fitting and the full skirt swept into a court train. The veil of heirloom lace was attached to the hair with a coronet of orange blossoms.

The bride's bouquet was of white roses, tuberoses and orchids tied with graceful lengths of white brocaded tulle. For luck the bride placed a dime in her shoe and observing the old traditions, wore something borrowed and something blue. Her lace handkerchief was carried by her great-grandmother on her wedding day.

The reception following the ceremony was charmingly informal. Mrs. Abernathy received the guests in a beautiful pink silk jersey dinner model fashioned with shirred bodice and bracelet length sleeves. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Underwood, assisting in the courtesies, wore a black crepe and Chantilly lace dinner model. The sleeves of lace were long and tight fitting and the bodice was fashioned with deep V decollete in the back. Mrs. Abernathy and Mrs. Underwood both wore corsages of orchids.

Miss Marness Lester, Miss Patsy Wilds, and Miss Laura Leah Worsham, wearing lovely evening models assisted in the dining room. They wore beautiful pink camellia corsages from the gardens of a friend.

The dining room was candlelit and adorned with white chrysanthemums. The bride's table, overlaid with handsome Point Venice lace and Italian linen, was centrally ornamented with the three-tiered wedding cake surmounted with a wedding bouquet of spun sugar flowers. At either end white tapers gleamed in seven branched silver candelabra from which garlands of white tulle and white chrysanthemums cascaded.

A variety of confections including the wedding cake were served during the receiving hours.

Mrs. Underwood, a popular member of the younger set, is a graduate of Neville High School and Northeast Junior College. Mr. Underwood is also a graduate of Neville High School and Louisiana Tech. He is manager and owner of the Monroe Tent and Awning Company of this city.

Following their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Underwood will be established in their country home on the Arkansas Road.

Out-of-town relatives attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Wilds, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilds, Jr., of Wildsville, La., Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Wilds, and Miss Patsy Wilds of St. Joseph, La., Mrs. H. Q. McElwee of Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. J. Howard Morphew of Stuttgart, Ark.

CUT THEIR WEDDING CAKE

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wallace, whose marriage took place recently at the First Methodist Church, cut their wedding cake during the reception at the home of Mrs. J. Frank Jones, West Monroe. Mrs. Wallace is the former Miss Catherine Poole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Poole, of Tallulah, La. Mr. Wallace is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Wallace of this city.

INTEREST CENTERED IN THE MARRIAGE OF MISS CANNING AND MR. WAYNE CHRISTMAN

A wedding of interest to their many friends is that of Miss Alma Canning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Canning, and Mr. Wayne Christman, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Christman of Monroe, which took place Friday evening, November 8, 1946 at 8 o'clock at the Central Baptist Church with Rev. C. Roger Johnson performing the double ring ceremony.

The church was beautifully decorated with white chrysanthemums and fern dimly lighted by candles grouped in the background. While the guests were being seated, Mrs. Ivy Smith sang "O Promise Me" and Dan Christman, brother of the groom, sang "Because" with Mrs. C. Roger Johnson, piano accompanist.

The bride's mother walked down the aisle in a lovely aqua blue, light weight wool model trimmed in silver nail heads.

Mrs. R. A. Simmons, the matron of honor, wore a pastel blue model fashioned with a bodice of silk jersey and a long full skirt of net. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations.

Miss Marjorie Cody, the bridesmaid, wore a pink chiffon model fashioned with a long, full skirt and carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations tied with blue satin ribbons.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a beautiful wedding gown of white satin with sweetheart neck outlined with lace insertion. The finger tip veil was caught to a pearl studded coronet. Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls and matching earrings, and her bouquet was fashioned of white carnations and orchids.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Emmett Christman. The groomsman was Mr. Harold Cornett. Ushers were Mr. W. A. Pennington and Mr. John Hondlenk.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held in the educational building of the church where the bride and groom cut the three-tiered wedding cake and Mesdames Ivy Smith, C. Roger Johnson, Pete Gonzales and W. E. Bennett served the guests.

Following the reception the bride and groom left for a short honeymoon in south Louisiana and upon their return will be at home to their friends at 3418 Lee avenue.

CHILDREN OF TWIN CITIES LOOK FORWARD TO THE FIRST CLARE TREE MAJOR PLAY

The Clare Tree Major plays have played an important part in the lives of the children of the Twin Cities for the past ten years and will continue to do so as long as there are women who are sufficiently civic spirited to make such clean, wholesome, entertainment possible.

For the past four years members of the Parker Memorial class of the First Methodist Church have been sponsoring the Clare Tree Major plays for children with splendid results. The plays grew in popularity year after year and this year the lively sale of tickets has been unprecedented. Parents now realize the pleasure their children derive from watching the beloved characters of Fairyland come to life before their eyes. After witnessing these plays they take pride in possessing the book and reading for themselves stories of cruel kings, brave peasants and the lovely servant girl who turned out to be a princess. The story of "Snow White" will be unfolded on the stage of the Neville High School on December 12 when the first of the Clare Tree Major plays for the season gets underway.

Tickets for this season's plays are now available in the grammar schools of Monroe and West Monroe. It is interesting to note that parents of children in surrounding towns are arranging for cars to bring them to Monroe for the plays. The time has been set at three o'clock, so that children may attend and return home before dark. The principals of the schools are highly in favor of this change in time and will cooperate in getting the children to Neville High School for that hour.

In February "Nobody's Girl" will be a delightful presentation, and every child wants to see "The Secret Garden" when it is presented in March. Season tickets make an ideal Christmas gift.

Dr. and Mrs. A. D Tisdale motored over to Laurel, Miss., to spend the week-end with Dr. Tisdale's mother, Mrs. A. G. B. Tisdale.

Mrs. O. N. Reynolds entertained a foursome informally at luncheon at the Rendezvous complimentary to Mrs. Norman Nelson, a charming visitor in the city from Minneapolis, Minn.

Mrs. Abe Norwich is visiting relatives in Houston, Tex., and incidentally attending a family reunion in the home of her mother.

Mrs. Bradley Waelder left Wednesday for San Angelo, Tex., where she will visit in the home for an indefinite visit with her sister, Mrs. Samuel Jones, and Mr. Jones.

Mrs. Jones who was summoned to Monroe by the passing on of her brother-in-law, Mr. Waelder, spent several weeks in the Waelder home before returning to San Angelo, Tex.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Reynolds have returned from Baltimore, Md., where they spent several weeks.

DOROTHY DIX

Woman With Five Children Advised Against Futile Affair

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a widow with five children and am in love with a boy who is ten years younger than I am. He says that he loves me, but he goes out with young girls and never takes me anywhere that I am likely to meet any of his family or friends. Although he spends all of his week ends with me, he never contributes a cent to buying any food, and when I am in need of money he tells me that he hasn't any, that he needs what he has for himself.

Please give me your advice.

VIC

DOROTHY DIX

ANSWER: Well, my earnest advice to you is to lose no time in having your head examined, for something in your mental machinery must have gone badly haywire to make you waste any time and thought on a young bounder who evidently bodes you no good, as the old melodramas used to say.

Don't you ever sit down and try to think out your responsibilities to the children you have brought into the world? Don't you ever consider the disgrace you are bringing on them by your affair with this young cad who is grafting his living off of you? Don't you ever get realistic enough to try to figure out some plan for the future for yourself and your kids?

CHANCES OF MARRIAGE NIL

Unless you are a perfect moron, you must know that the chances of a widow with five children marrying are practically nothing, because there probably isn't a man in the world who wants to take on that big a ready-made family and have to support it. So can't you see that it is up to you to quit thinking about love and romance and marriage with young boys, and put your shoulder to the wheel and get busy trying to make a decent home for your children and give them a fair start in the world?

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband is coming home from overseas very soon and we are planning on going on our honeymoon, as we didn't have a chance to take one when we were married. But the trouble is this: We have a 27-month-old baby and my husband insists that we leave him with his mother until we get back, and I am determined to take him with us. I am sure I wouldn't enjoy my trip without him. Besides this, he is very spoiled and has tantrums and I don't think my mother-in-law would put up with him.

We will do whatever you say.

MRS. H. R. C.

ANSWER: Well, I say—have a heart. Show some consideration for your husband and also for all the innocent bystanders on the train by leaving your baby at home. Otherwise you will spoil the honeymoon trip for your husband, and lessen the chances of his sneaking off at some way station and go AWOL.

Travel is not for babies, and why so many mothers who could leave their infants at home, where they will be safe and comfortable, drag them around the country is a mystery that nobody can explain. But it is hard on the infant and has resulted in the death of many a poor innocent little kid.

So leave your baby with Grandma when you go off on a pleasure jaunt and (happy thought) perhaps in your absence your mother-in-law will straighten out the baby whom you admit you have spoiled and cure him of his tantrums.

DEAR MISS DIX: I lost my husband two and a half months ago. When is the proper time for me to be seen in the company of a man friend?

MRS. W. R. C.

ANSWER: There is no set time for a widow to dry her eyes and summon back the come-hither-look in them, but it seems to me that it is rushing matters to begin "keeping company," as the bobby-sockers say, under three months.

Your lady friends will have plenty to say about it if you commence stepping out almost before you get your mourning outfit home from the dressmakers. Cats will howl, you know.

(Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

The members of the Bobashelas Book Club held their November meeting in the home of Mrs. George Austin, with Mrs. Robert Coats, co-hostess.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Malcolm LeFevre, the vice president, Mrs. L. N. Waddell, called the meeting to order. After a brief business session, the program was turned over to Miss Lallage Feazel, the program chairman. Miss Feazel introduced the speakers, Mrs. Fred Bennett and Mrs. J. O. Miller, who spoke on "Motion Picture As An Art" and "Visual Education," respectively. Mrs. Bennett gave a brief history of motion pictures as an industry. The motion picture, she said, is the essence of innumerable biographies, and some day when the world will have realized that the motion picture is the greatest cultural, educational and entertaining medium ever known, then learned men will write the history of this great art."

Mrs. Miller stated some interesting facts regarding visual education in the field of teaching. She said: "The presentation of pictures and other desirable devices at just the right time stimulates attention to a degree that makes learning easy. It is the using of the right material at the right time which gives visual teaching its greatest force. The teaching program today differs in many respects from that of years ago. Now, teachers recognize the importance of a child's readiness for any new skill or activity. In bringing about a closer relationship between the child's practical experience, visual teaching is finding its rightful place in the modern school."

Those present at the meeting were: Mesdames Delma Carter, Charles Chisholm, D. C. Harper, Amos Hood, J. O. Miller, L. B. Owens, H. B. McClendon, Myatt McClendon, J. H. Rinehardt, Fred Bennett, R. G. Taylor, L. N. Waddell, Misses Lallage Feazel and Katherine Averett and the hostesses, Mrs. George Austin and Mrs. Robert Coats.

Prophetic Poem Features Program

Two Interesting Talks On 'Mexico' Is A Feature Of Book Club Meeting

When members of the Welcome Branch of the Twentieth Century Book Club met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. D. Petty, with Mrs. J. E. McConnell serving as co-hostess, they opened the program period with the reading, in unison, of a quotation from Tennyson's prophetic poem, Locksley hall, as follows:

"Till the war drums throb no longer
In the Parliament of Man.
The Federation of the World."

The program, first of a series dealing with International Relations, of which the main objective is the ernest striving towards the strengthening of undersanding among nations, was directly concerned with the customs and policies of our neighbors to the south, and the north.

In speaking of "Mexico, our neighbor to the south," Mrs. Edwin E. Sisson gave a glimpse of the Mexican's delightfully polite personality as revealed to her, when she was a guest of the Federated Women's Clubs of North Saltillo, Mexico. This occasion of the exchanging of hospitalities between the Federated Women's Clubs of Texas and of Monterrey and Saltillo, marked an endeavor to sponsor better feelings between Mexico and Texas, the latter having been Mexico's erstwhile possession. Mrs. Sisson, in her picturization of the colorful life and scenery of Mexico, gave members an intimate glimpse of that interesting country. She said that the Mexican, a combination of Spanish and Indian bloods, has retained the personality traits of the Spanish Cavalier, and the cultured Indian of ancient Mexico. Everywhere one turns in Mexico, he sees the results of the Indian's artistic and creative handiwork, in the form of pottery, weaving, jewelry, glass, and adobe houses. These, combined with the Spaniard's love of glitter, color, music, drama, and humor, gives the Mexican perhaps the most unique North American culture. Mrs. Sisson gave the assemblage a clear perspective of life as lived in Mexico, at work and at play.

Mrs. Fred Hornberger, a former member who has recently established residence in Santo Domingo City, wrote an interesting account of her new home and life in the Dominican Republic, in which she gave a descriptive summary of the educational advantages and improvements of the educational institutions in the Capitol City. Of special interest was her account of the girls' school, attended by her daughter, which is operated by the Sisters of Saint Dominic, of Adrian, Mich., who also operate numerous educational institutions in various parts of the United States and Canada. Mrs. Hornberger wrote that classes are taught in both Spanish and English, with all instruction following American standards. She concluded with an account of the historical and industrial merits of this island, where live these friendly, Spanish speaking neighbors to the south.

In speaking of our neighbors to the north, Mrs. F. E. Black addressed members in regards to "Canada: The New World Power." She said in part, "Canada, being divided into nine provinces, certain territories and islands, is three per cent greater in area than the whole of United States and Alaska. There are 5,400 miles of unfortified border between Canada and the United States. It has a population of 12 million people, of which 118,378 are Indians. The Eskimo numbers about 7,000. Fourteen per cent of the people would like to throw wide the door to immigrants, and twenty-one per cent would not. French Canada is a big and important part of the North American scene, and these people are found in learned professions, as well as most occupations and trades. Though some are well off, the majority live from hand to mouth."

"Canada ranks third in United Nations sea power, and fourth as a world air power. As a trading nation she stands second, with the United States her best customer."

In concluding her book review, Mrs. Black said, "Canada is finding herself, and today her people are buzzing with energy and are engaged in surprising activity. The great majority of her people have generosity, patience, and a sense of fair play. Their ultimate aim is a great Canada."

Mrs. A. S. Gunter, president, presided over the business meeting, during which two new mmebers, Mrs. Leola Nixon and Mrs. Ben Tucker, were elected. Mrs. Edwin E. Sisson was elected to fill a vacancy in the G. B. Cooley Sanatorium Library Commission Board, the club's special project.

During the social period, refreshments were served to members and guests as follows: Mrs. F. E. Black, Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. A. R. Doughty, Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. M. R. Hausherr, Mrs. J. G. Hicks, Mrs J. G. Durbin, Mrs. G. D. Holland, Mrs. H. D. Holmes, Mrs. C. E. Koonce, Mrs. E. Everett Lawson, Mrs. J. E. McConnell, Mrs. J. D. Petty, Mrs. George Phebus, Mrs. E. A. Porter, Mrs. T. H. Scott, Mrs. Zell Smith, Mrs. Edwin E. Sisson, Mrs. C. T. Shaw, Mrs. L. V. Tarver, Mrs. W. B. Wheelis, Mrs. J. R. White, Mrs. Richard Whitehurst, and Mrs. E. J. Whitman. Guest: Mrs. W. D. McGee, Jr.

Mrs. Grayson Guthrie, Jr., extended charming courtesies to members of the Musical Coterie at their semi-monthly meeting in her home. The meeting was presided over by Miss Emma Louise Biedenharn, president. Another of a series of interesting programs on opera was presented.

Mrs. Henry Whitfield, delighted the members with her discussion of "Italian Opera." She said: Until Rossini, Italian opera composers had jealously preserved their national traits, and he was the first Italian composer to be influenced by other than native styles. Rossini started out as an eighteenth century composer of opera bouffe, and his greatest triumph was scored in this field, when he composed "Il Barbiere di Siviglia," which established his fame and keeps that fame well burnished in the opera house.

Every detail of the opera bouffe, came to him easily for he had a guileless love of fun, nonsense triviality and a spontaneous genius for expressing them in music. In "The Barber of Seville," Rossini, sets the pace with one of his most dashing overtures. It is one of those rare stage works audiences wish there had been more.

The overture Il Barbiere di Siviglia was played by Mrs. Clayton Stanhope. When Rossini was a great man in the French capitol, he did everything in his power to help along the chances there of his most talented compatriots, Bellini and Donizetti, who were his proteges, for whom he paved the way so effectually.

Bellini has had little influence on the history of opera. His influence was exerted on singing and the history of music in general. A melodist of great originality, he introduced into music a note that was quickly taken up by his contemporaries, and is still echoing throughout the world. What was this note?

It is a kind of hushed neurotic ecstasy, a kind of gently languorous orgasm in moonlit, bloom pervaded gardens. Chopin heard it and it is heard in his elegant nocturnes. Liszt sobbed out his player's heart to the tune of these long singing melodies after Liszt, the Bellinian melody found its way into the creative language of even the most austere composers. It was not only the Rubinsteins, Alabievs and Mossonets who succumbed to it; you can hear it in Brahm's, Wagner, Tchaikovsky and Debussy, glinting out like fool's gold from its less showy surroundings. It was Keats who said: "One whiff of this Sicilian perfume and—my heart aches, and a drowsy numbness pains my sense, as though of hemlock I had drunk."

Bellini's peculiar strength was illustrated in La Sonnambula, with melodies such as had never been heard before. This little opera is primarily pleasant entertainment and the tremendous vogue once enjoyed by it is easily understandable. It was the first grand opera to be heard in Chicago in 1850. The selection, Ah Perche, from La Sonnambula was played by Mrs. H. H. Land.

Donizetti, created his most famous and enduring work when he composed Lucia di Lammermoor. If there is any explanation of its popularity it must be the Sextet and the "Mad Scene." It is by these that any performance of Lucia is judged.

The Sextet has been called the greatest concerted number in Italian opera. Its principal quality is catchiness. Though cheap and banal the Sextet has the something that lasts. The Sextet from Lucia di Lammermoor (for left hand) was played by Mrs. B. D. Allbritton.

At the conclusion of this lengthy and interesting program, the hostess served a refreshing confectionery course to members: Mrs. B. D. Allbritton, Mrs. F. V. Allison, Miss Emma Louise Biedenharn, Mrs. W. P. Grant, Mrs. H. H. Land, Miss Mary Grace Lawn, Mrs. J. C. Liner, Jr., Mrs. R. L. Prichard, Miss Gertrude Sandrock, Mrs. Henry Whitfield, Mrs. Alex Winn, Mrs. Clayton Stanhope and Mrs. Thomas.

MRS. STOVALL WILL RECEIVE PLAQUE FROM NATIONAL CANCER SOCIETY FOR WORK WELL DONE

For work well done, Mrs. Gilbert Stovall, commander of fifth district American Cancer Society Field Army, will be presented with a certificate of award plaque from the National American Cancer Society. The inscription on the plaque reads: "For having rendered distinguished service to the Tenth American Cancer Society." It will be presented to Mrs. Stovall at the Tenth Annual Assembly of the Field Army in Edgewater Park, Miss., the week of November 18 to 23. At this time a week of informative and inspirational sessions will be held with plenty of time out for complete relaxation. A mammoth birthday party will climax the week's activities.

Opening day of the assembly, Monday, November 18, has been designated "Mississippi Day" and Mrs. Elizabeth N. Wates, Mississippi commander, and Dr. Felix J. Underwood, chairman of the Mississippi executive committee, will preside over the day's sessions. Dr. A. W. Oughterson, medical and scientific director of the society, will deliver the opening dinner address, and Mrs. Harold V. Milligan, national commander of the field army, will be the key speaker at the afternoon session honoring the field army workers.

Tuesday, November 19, has been set aside for the society's educational program. Dr. Charles C. Lund, chairman of the society's educational committee, will open the day's sessions. An extremely interesting day has been planned, including a review of all of the society's graphic media and an open discussion on future plans in this field—including publications or journals, pamphlets and literature, moving pictures and exhibits. The premiere of the society's new technicolor animated motion picture, "The Traitor Within," will be held that afternoon, after a discussion of the program for cancer education in schools and colleges.

The field army and its achievements during the past decade will be the theme of the evening meeting. The session will feature the various regional commanders.

Wednesday, November 20, has been named "New Orleans Day" for on that day the conference will journey to New Orleans where they will attend a clinic conducted by Dr. Alton Ochsner, regional medical director. Following the clinic, a round of sightseeing in this famous, historic old city combined with a visit to some of the restaurants known throughout the world, has been planned. Aiding Dr. Ochsner in plans for this day is Mrs. Horace B. Ritchie, regional commander.

The society's research and service programs will be combined in the sessions held Thursday, with Dr. Stanley Bayne-Jones, chairman of the society's special studies committee, speaking at the morning session on "Cancer Research." Dr. James Raglan Miller, chairman of the society's service committee, will present the session on service.

Dinner speakers Thursday evening will be Dr. R. R. Spencer, chief of the National Cancer Institute, and Dr. Cameron, assistant medical and scientific director of the American Cancer Society.

The sessions on Friday will be devoted to the business and organization procedures of the society, with the various members of the national staff directing the discussion. A training school to be conducted Saturday morning will close the assembly.

Arrangements have been made for entertainment each night after dinner, including a special program of colored singers, a dance, a bridge tournament and a conversational hour.

MEMBERS OF GANDY-TERZIA BRIDAL PARTY

Purely Personal

The honking of wild geese across the autumn skyways is the annual signal for week-end migrations of local sportsmen to their favorite shooting clubs. This year the geese may fly southward with impunity since a closed season on them has been declared on the flyways between the Canadian border and the Gulf of Mexica, but ducks are fair quarry for the hunting enthusiasts.

One enthusiastic hunter, Newton Knowles, and members of his party, didn't wait until the duck season opened in Louisiana for shooting of game, he went to South Dakota to shoot pheasants and came home with some beauties. As a result a few of his friends dined royally on pheasants, the food for kings, at his home last week.

New figures are continually bobbing up in Louisiana's field of literature but when someone you know appears on the literary horizon, it is of special interest. Last week we noted the name of Sue Brown Hays, of New Orleans, a former Monroe girl, among the list of authors whose books are now on the market. Mrs. Hays and her sisters, Mrs. Edward Apperson resided in Monroe during their girlhood. Mrs. Apperson returned to Monroe to live for several years after her marriage and Mrs. Hays visited her from time to time.

Mrs. Hays, who describes herself as "just an ole New Orleans gal who always wanted to write, and did," hit it off first time with Scribners who read "Go Down, Death," on Sunday and bought it on Monday. Then Walter Black chose it for his Detective Book Club and Scribners promptly sent her a contract for her second book now still in the embryo stage. Mrs. Hays mystery story concerning three broken down old houses and eight peculiar people, plus a brash young woman and a set of good, violent hates, combine to set a weird and hectic pace of modern people living under the shadow of "the old south."

The hectic life Mr. and Mrs. Harvey McDonald led during the engagement days of their daughter, Gail, necessitated a few days of complete relaxation so they packed their suitcases and left via the motor route for the Mississippi gulf coast where no one ever hurries and life flows along like a song. The marriage of Miss MacDonald and Elbert D. Massey was one of the brilliant nuptial events of the season. The days leading up to the wedding were simply crammed with prenuptial courtesies that kept the bride-elect and her mother hurrying from one affair to another.

It is interesting to note that the name of Martha Thompson, student at L. S. U. where she is a member of the senior class, appears in the "Who's Who Colleges and Universities of America for the year 1946." She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson of this city.

Whenever a wedding anniversary occurs in their midst a group of charming matrons and their husbands celebrate in festive manner by dining at some night club where the music is "peppy" and the food unexcelled. Last Thursday night Mr. and Mrs. Hillyer Parker celebrated their wedding anniversary in festive manner at the Rainbow Inn. All the feminine members of this dinner club wore lovely dinner models. The presence of two out-of-town guests, Mr. and Mrs. William Lovett, of New Orleans, created additional interest. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Hillyer Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Frazer, Mr. and Mrs. Lealis Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Turner, Mr. and Mrs. O. N. McNeil, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Frazer and Mr. and Mrs. Lovett.

Letters come winging their way to Monroe across the broad Atlantic from far away places including Holland where the troubled people look to America for many of the necessities of life. A letter was recently received by Mrs. Jack Masur, president of the Reader's Clique, from Bishop of Roermond, who expressed his gratitude to club members for the part they are playing in relieving the distress. A section of the letter follows: "If you only could see the cottages, the poor buildings, the 35,000 people that suffer from Scabie, (T. B.); if you could see the poor clothing and if you knew that all these people are without blankets, sheets, underwear and the medicine they need, the whole world would see to it that all these necessary things are provided. There is poverty in the real sense of the word. Here you can see the ruins of a war and here you find people who want to live but can't because they see no way out. They see no future. Please, dead lady, tell your friends, tell the good American people that parts of Holland are swept away, and that thousands of people possess nothing whatever. We thank you for your kindness, may Good bless you for the work you are doing. May God bless the United States. With the very best wishes, I remain. Yours very sincerely.

"BISHOP OF ROERMOND."

Miss Grace Byrd Is The Bride Of Mr. Robert Bell

The marriage of Miss Grace Byrd, daughter of Mrs. Ellie Byrd, and Mr. Robert Bell, son of Mrs. H. Blazier, was solemnized Saturday evening November 2, at 8 o'clock in the First Methodist Church of West Monroe. The Rev. W. O. Byrd, brother of the bride, officiated at the impressive double-ring ceremony in the presence of a large assembly of relatives and friends.

The altar was beautifully decorated with ferns and tall baskets of white chrysanthemums, flaked with white tapers in floor candelabra. The lighting of the tapers by the groomsmen, Mr. Robert May and Mr. Shelby Brazeale was an impressive feature of the ceremony.

At the nuptial hour, Mrs. W. W. Watson rendered an organ concert and accompanied the baritone soloist, Mr. Irving Zeidman, who sang "Because" and "I Love Thee." During the ceremoney, Mrs. Watson played softly Shubert's "Ave Maria," accompanied at the piano by James Gilmer.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Robert May, sister of the bride, wore a Victorian model of teal blue crepe. She carried an arm bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums with satin streamers of matching color.

Mrs. Ellie Byrd, the bride's mother, was handsomely gowned in navy blue crepe. Her corsage was of white carnations. The groom's mother, Mrs. Blazier, was attired in a navy blue model with corsage of white carnations.

The bride, given in marriage by her maternal uncle, Mr. J. L. Curtis, wore a lovely gown of white satin, made with fitted bodice, and bouffant skirt ending in a court train. Her veil of illusion fell from a coronet. She carried a white prayer book, surmounted with white gardenias and tube roses. The gift of the bridegroom, exquisite pearls, completed her ensemble.

The bridegroom had as his best man his brother, Mr. L. B. Bell of Monroe.

Immediately after the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert May, 406 Ludwig, West Monroe. The reception suite was banked with yellow chrysanthemums and ferns. Mrs. Roy Byrd, assisted by Mrs. W. O. Byrd, presided at the refreshment table. It was centered with an embossed three-tiered wedding cake encircled with pink and white chrysanthemums. Iced punch and individual wedding cakes were served.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Bell left for a honeymoon. The bride wore a tailored suit of beige, with accessories of brown alligator and corsage of gardenias. She is a graduate of Farmerville High School, and has been employed by the Southern Bell Exchange for six years as supervisor. Mr. Bell, the bridegroom, has been recently discharged from the marine corps after spending three years in action in the Pacific area. The couple will reside at the residence of her sister, Mrs. May, on returning from their honeymoon.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Curtis, Mr. Leonard Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Berch Curtis of Meridian, Miss.; and Rev. and Mrs. W. O. Byrd of Dallas, Texas. n5,

PROGRAM ON YOUTH IS A FEATURE OF THE MEETING OF MONROE LITERARY CLUB

Mrs. Guy DuPriest extended charming hospitality to members of the Monroe Literary Club in her home last week.

Mrs. J. R. Roark presided, in the absence of the club president, Mrs. S. E. Morris. Mrs. Victor Weber read the minutes. During the business meeting the club voted Mrs. Z. T. Stone to membership unanimously. The meeting dates in December and January were each set up one week, setting the December meeting on the eleventh, and the following meeting on January 8.

Following the business meeting a splendid program on "Youth" was presented by four outstanding young people of this community, Miss Ruth Horton and Alfred Barlow, both former students of Neville High School, and now attending Northeast Junior College, held a forum involving "Youth's Trend of Thought." Miss Horton said in part: "Democracy as a whole means freedom—I like to think of it as freedom of an individual. I think in a democracy you think of freedom of initiative and freedom for anyone to dream as high as he wishes and have opportunity to fulfill those dreams. We must be tolerant, and tolerance for one thing is respecting the likes of others, and also, people are supposed to have equal opportunities, and that means races and groups, as well as your own friends. I think adults should get our ideas, and we should be willing to look into others' views and opinions."

Alfred Barlow, in his discussion said: "As far as I am concerned, democracy, in a political sense, has to have a person thinking—thinking intelligently and honestly about the affairs that surround him, and also to be democratic in his personal actions and ideals. It seems to me that the ideas of youth are sort of tending towards new developments to counterbalance the tendency of older people to keep what they have, and not to change it. I think if youth were allowed a greater say in our affairs, we would probably make more progress a lot faster. Society has done a lot for us, and we depend upon society. Society gives us everything, and we have to give it back. There are a lot of kinks in democracy in this country, and I think it is youth's job to knock as many of them out, as possible. There is too much prejudice all over the United States, and there really isn't tolerance and unselfishness the way there should be." Alfred continued by saying: "At our age we have a lot of energy that we want to burn up, and if we have good constructive outlets for it, such as bands, sports, woodshop training, recreation centers, much delinquency can be eliminated. There should be more and better training in the homes, churches, schools and everywhere."

Jane Blanchard, aged 11, a voice student, of Mrs. C. L. Dillingham, and a sixth grade pupil at Sherrouse School, sang two beautiful selections, "The Lord's Prayer" and "Indian Love Call." She was accompanied by Alfred Barlow. Sarah Lou Hudson, nine years old, completed the program by playing two piano numbers, "Bagatell," by Beethoven, and a "Sonata," by Haydn. Sarah Lou is a student of Miss Claire Freiberg. These two talented children were a delight to the club.

During the social hour which followed, the hostesses, Mrs. Guy DePriest, Mrs. J. F. Choate, and Mrs. W. T. Ellis, served delicious refreshments to the following members, and one guest: Mrs. S. E. Holloway, Mrs. Sidney Karr, Mrs. P. E. Massey, Mrs. C. E. McGee, Mrs. C. D. McAdams, Mrs. Ben Parnell, Mrs. J. R. Roark, Mrs. J. E. Shannon, Mrs. Z. T. Stone, Mrs. Victor Weber, and guest, Mrs. Floyd Stone.

BRIDE OF RECENT DATE

Mrs. William P. Stough, bride of recent date, is the former Miss Lucille Hudson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Jordan.

MRS. MORTENSEN EXTENDS GRACIOUS HOSPITALITY IN HER HOME TO SORORITY MEMBERS

The Delta Rho Sorority held their annual pledge tea in the home of Mrs. Paul A. Mortensen, 1109 North Fourth street last Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 p. m. Mrs. Mortensen received her guests with characteristic graciousness. She wore a green sequined dinner gown with corsage of red roses.

The sorority colors red and yellow were reflected in the living room and the dining room. Lovely red dahila's and yellow marigolds were artistically arranged around the mirrored mantel in the living room.

Mrs. Mortensen was assisted by Miss Eva Gay Penton who wore a black velvet model and Miss Evelyn Evans who wore a jersey silk model of red. Miss Penton wore a corsage of yellow daisies and Miss Evans a corsage of red roses. Mrs. J. R. White, honorary member of the sorority, presided over the tea table. She was wearing black Marquiste trimmed in gold sequins She was assisted by Mrs. E. C. Gibson, who wore a black marquisette model trimmed in sequins and a corsage of yellow chrysanthemums.

The tea table of beautiful appointment was centered with a shallow bowl with crimson dahlias floating on the surface. A variety of delicious confections were served. Mrs. S. J. Struben Mrs. J. H. Carroll assisted in the serving.

The new pledges installed at this time by the archon, Ona Mae Lafferty, were Evelyn Evans, Marjorie Ewing and Ann Bedwell.

Those present for the installation service were: Margaret Mason, Roberta Holdsworth, Beatrice Munnerlyn, Eva Gae Penton, Lillie Mae Carroll, Evelyn Evans, Ann Adams, Bertha Patterson, Ouida McGee, Blanche Colvin, Ruby McLaughlin, Ann Bedwell, Nell McCormick, Violet Decuir, Marjorie Ewing, Ona McLafferty, Norma Hawkins, Lucille Wallace, Skeet Walls, Kay Maok, Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. J. R. White, Mrs. D. C. Metcalf, Mrs. S. J. Struben and Mrs. Paul A. Mortensen.

SINCERE REGRET EXPRESSED BY CLUB WOMEN OVER END OF STATE PRESIDENT'S REGIME

Expressions of regret were heard on every side when members of the Louisiana Federated Women's Clubs witnessed the end of Mrs. A. D. Tisdale's regime as state president. The past three years under her regime have been colorful, intensely interesting and most profitable as she has kept in touch with national figures and has attended events of international importance in Washington and New York. Louisiana club women, in turn, were greatly profited by these valuable contacts.

Mrs. Tisdale has just returned from New York where she attended four important national meetings—The International Assembly of Women, The United Nations Assembly, Herald-Tribune Forum, and the General Federation Board Meeting, reported on all these meetings, giving special emphasis to the International Assembly of Women. Her report will be printed and mailed to all club presidents by unanimous vote of the convention.

The handsome gift of silver bestowed upon Mrs. Tisdale at the state convention in Alexandria testified to the appreciation of her work by the club women of Louisiana.

In appreciation of her three years of untiring efforts for the federation work there was a unanimous vote for the following progressive measures for which she worked during her administration:

Universal membership—which means that all clubs belonging to state federation must belong also to general federation. Change in term of office from three to two years. Appointment of a permanent nominating committee. Appointment of a constitution committee to completely revise the constitution. Change in method of payment of dues to a per capita basis.

The theme of the convention—"Wisdom is ours for the asking"—was developed by all the speakers. Senator Allen Ellender spoke on important legislation to come up in the 80th Congress, such as housing and the federal aid to education bill. He also told of his recent trip abroad and the conditions existing in the various countries visited.

Mrs. Hiram Houghton, Jr., of Red Oak, Ia., second vice-president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs was the guest speaker for the banquet held on Friday evening. The lovely musical program with Mrs. Lillian Gerow McCook, of Natchitoches, Mrs. William McCarthy, of Baton Rouge, and Mrs. J. Norman Coon, of Monroe, as guest artists was a great treat to those present.

Following this program Mrs. Houghton spoke on "Our Challenge as Being Women and Clubwomen Now Living in This Atomic Age." She urged observance of education week, November 11-17. Better and more libraries. In her forceful manner she brought home to Louisiana women the question of tolerance and justice for all. She said that "Peace Begins on Our Street—Peace Begins in Our Hearts." Closed by developing the rations of living such as—cooperation, inspiration and toleration.

At the close of the last session the president of the fourth district, Mrs. J. W. Glover, of Shreveport, made a motion that the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs endorse Mrs. Tisdale for a place on the general federation board and that the request be sent to the general federation president, Mrs. LaFell Dickinson.

Lake Charles extended an invitation for the 1947 convention. This invitation was accepted. The following officers were elected to serve 1946-49: Mrs. Sam Levy, Natchitoches, president; Mrs. H. M. Mims, Baton Rouge, first vice-president; Mrs. James Means, Vivian, second vice-president; Mrs. B. V. Todd, Lake Arthur, recording secretary; Mrs. Wesley Steen, Abbeville, treasurer; Mrs. Mae Oppenheimer, New Orleans, auditor; Mrs. Freeman Morgan, Natchitoches, corresponding secretary; Mrs. C. E. Hester, Tallulah, parliamentarian.

Total population of the United States increased 26,000,000 between 1920 and 1940.

New York City has 619 miles of subways of which 313 miles are actually underground.

Students Of Neville High School Pay Tribute To World War II Dead

Bronze Memorial Tablet Erected In Memory Of Departed Pupils And Alumni; Formal Dedication Scheduled For Tuesday Night

An impressive ceremony this Tuesday night will mark the culmination of a year long project of pupils of Neville High School—the erection of a fitting memorial to those students and alumni who perished in World War II.

In the foyer of the auditorium hangs a large bronze tablet, purchased through contributions and money raised by pupils who sought to express their respect for their departed fellows in lasting form; and in the auditorium itself is an honor roll bearing the names of those who served their country in the armed forces.

The placques were conceived of in the search for some tribute to Mrs. Minnie Ruffin, long time teacher and friend of Neville students who died last year.

Not restricting themselves to their own allowances or to their parents' offerings, the students canvassed friends and businessmen throughout the town. Many of the merchants made large contributions, and recognizing the worth of a tribute to those who had died to protect them, the whole community responded with enthusiasm and financial support. The total was $2,600. The project was originated by W. C. Spight.

The tablet placed in a niche at the entrance of the auditorium contains the names of twenty-three boys, and of Mrs. Ruffin and three men responsible for establishment of Neville High—Arnold Bernstein, former Monroe mayor and school board president, and Thomas Flournoy and James Cobb, both members of the school board when the new building was constructed.

Flanking the placque are two bronze vases inscribed with a quotation from Hamlet: "That's rosmarie, it's for remembeрance," and in front are two stanchion posts joined by a velvet rope to set off the area as a small shrine.

The second placque, in the auditorium, bears the names of 640 former students and faculty members who served in the armed forces.

Thomas W. Leigh, Monroe attorney and Neville alumnus, will make the presentation of the second placque.

Those named on the memorial tablet are:

Staff Sergeant Roland Adcock, son of Mrs. Annie Adcock, 1610 South Grand street, graduated in 1933. After studying at Northeast Junior College Roland became a salesman in Monroe. Inducted into the infantry in December 1942, Roland was killed two years later in a German artillery barrage. He was awarded the Purple Heart, Good Conduct Medal, and Expert Infantryman Medal.

Sergeant Arthur Melvin Auerbach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Auerbach, Brooklyn, New York. Entering Neville in the junior year, Arthur graduated in 1939. He attended Northeast Junior College for two years and then enlisted in the army, serving first in Ordnance and later in the military police corps. He died of illness after a tour of duty.

Sergeant Hurlan Hugh Beauman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Beauman. One of Neville's outstanding football players for four years, Hurlan graduated in 1939, and, after working for a year, enlisted in the Army Air Forces in August 1940. Following training he was shipped to the New Guinea area, and was killed in a Japanese strafing raid on Port Moresby. He was awarded the Citation of Honor and the Purple Heart.

David Monroe Doughty, air corps cadet, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Doughty, 100 North Fifth St. After graduating in 1935, David studied law at Louisiana State University for three years and enlisted in the air corps in February 1943. With only a few weeks remaining to receive his wings and commission, David was killed in a plane crash.

Harry Francis Fernandez, son of Mrs. Harry Fernandez, Buckhorn Bend, Monroe. Graduating from Neville in 1937, Harry later attended Northeast Junior College and Louisiana State University. Although rejected from the army because of physical disability, Harry served as a civilian instructor in the air corps. He was killed while accompanying a student on a training flight, April, 1943.

Captain William Lyle Garretson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Garretson, Shreveport. After graduating from Neville in 1934, he attended Northeast Junior College and was subsequently employed by the International Harvester Company of Monroe and Shreveport. Enlisting in the air corps in June 1941, Lyle later served as an instructor, and finally became commanding officer of the 389th Bombing Squadron. Based in North Africa, his squadron participated in bombing operations over France and later in the D-Day invasion. Lyle was killed in bombing mission in August 1944. He was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal with five Oak Leaf clusters, the Purple Heart, and the European ribbon with four battle stars.

Lieutenant Robert William Germany, Jr., (USN) son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Germany, 1504 Fairview Avenue, graduated from the City High School in 1926. After attending the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, he was commissioned an ensign. Commissioned a full lieutenant in 1938, he later commanded the U. S. S. Tutilia stationed at Chungking and was made executive officer of the U. S. S. Pillsbury at Manila. He was declared missing in action when the Pillsbury was destroyed en route from Java to Australia, November, 1945.

Private William Gerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Gerson, 4505 Jackson St. Attending Neville for a short time in 1937, William left to take a specialized course in diesel engineering. Having enlisted in the army before the U. S. entered the war, William was at Fort McKinley, Manila on Pearl Harbor day, and was among those who made the Bataan Death March. He was a prisoner of war from May 1942 until he died in October 1944, and was awarded the Purple Heart and the Citation of Honor.

First Lieutenant Arthur Cramer Haas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Haas, 504 Riverside, graduated in 1933. After attending Louisiana State University he returned to Monroe to work for the United Gas Corporation. Cramer became a member of the National Guard in 1932 and entered the infantry in December, 1940. Killed in action in the Philippines, he was awarded the Bronze Star posthumously.

First Lieutenant James William Hart, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hart No. 2 Fox Court, graduated from Neville in 1939. After spending a year and a half at Northeast Junior College he enlisted in the air corps and, on receiving his wings in 1943, was sent to Calcutta as a fighter pilot. Transferred to the European theater, he saw action in Sicily and was killed when his plane exploded in midair. He was awarded the Air Medal and an Oak Leaf cluster.

Private Clyde Hook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Hook, Hot Springs, Arkansas. Attending Neville only during the 1937-1938 terms, he enlisted in the marine corps, and was stationed in the Pacific sector. He was killed while serving as gunner on the U. S. S. Portland. He was awarded the purple heart posthumously.

Private Philip Kalil, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Kalil, 3906 DeSiard street. Leaving high school to enlist, he served in the marine corps and died in the campaign to retake Saipan, June, 1942. He was awarded the purple heart posthumously.

Anthony LaPietra, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe LePietra, 601 Adams street. Anthony left Neville in his last year to accept a position with a local firm, and enlisted in the air corps in 1941. After being sent to the European theater he was transferred to the infantry and succumbed to injuries received in a battle against the Germans in East France. A citation and the purple heart were presented to his family.

Second Lieutenant Noel Fairfax Learned, son of Mrs. Marion Learned, 111 Hilton street. Graduating from Neville in 1937, Noel attended Northeast Junior College, Louisiana Polytechnic Institute ,and the U. S. Naval Academy, and enlisted in the air corps in 1942. After receiving his commission he was assigned to bomber duty in New Guinea, and was shot down in a raid over New Britain. He was awarded the purple heart posthumously.

First Lieutenant James Henry McClendon, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. McClendon, 1201 Park avenue. After graduating from Neville in 1937, James attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, finishing there in 1941. In December of that year he was inducted into the army air corps, and in the following year was detailed to patrol and bombing duty in Hawaii. He was killed when his plane exploded and plunged into the ocean.

Second Lieutenant Martin Lemuel McCoy, son of Mrs. Lillian McCoy, New Orleans. He attended Neville for three years and graduated from Fortin High School in New Orleans. Inducted into the air corps in 1941, he was killed in a plane crash in 1943.

Ben A. Peters, Jr., son of B. A. Peters and Mrs. Ophelia Francis, 316 Calypso street. Graduating from Neville in 1941, Ben spent one year at Northeast Junior College before enlisting in the naval air corps. He transferred to the army air corps and was commissioned flight officer in February, 1945. He was killed on a routine flight in June, 1945. While a cadet Ben served as regimental commander and later was the highest ranking student officer at Stockton Field, California.

Robert Lamb Pribble, fire controlman 3rd class, U. S. N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pribble, 1810 Filhoil avenue. After graduating from Neville in 1938, Robert attended Northeast Junior College for two years and then enlisted in the navy. On completing training he was assigned to the battleship Oklahoma, stationed at Pearl Harbor, and was killed in the Japanese attack on December 7, 1941. He was awarded the purple heart posthumously.

Second Lieutenant Billy Davis Register, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Register, 1519 Trenton street, graduated in 1940. After two years at Northeast Junior College he studied pre-law at Southwestern College. Inducted into the navy in 1942, he was later commissioned in the marine air corps and was killed in a plane crash.

First Lieutenant Emile Jack Selig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Selig, Sr., Glencae, Illinois. Graduating from Neville in 1932, he attended Northeast Junior College and Louisiana State University and then returned to Monroe to work in the men's clothing business. He enlisted in the army air corps a few days after Pearl Harbor, and was soon awarded his wings. With his overseas missions almost completed, he was killed in July, 1942. He was awarded the air medal with oak leaf cluster, the bronze star, and the purple heart.

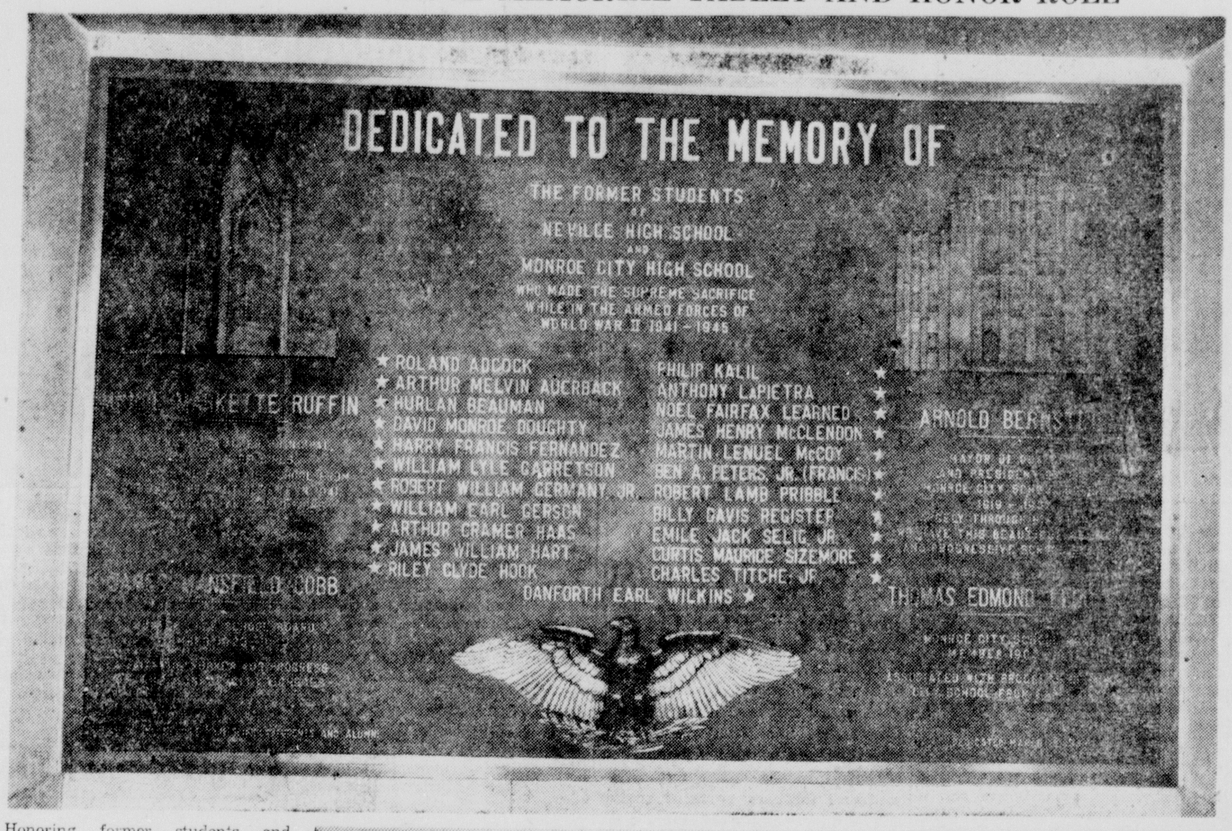

Staff Sergeant Curtis Maurice Sizemore, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Sizemore, 3310 Gordon avenue. Curtis attended Neville from 1937 to 1940, and before entering the service in 1942 was employed at the Twin City Glass Company and at J. C. Penney. On completion of his air crew training he was assigned to the Far East and flew with the Air Transport Command over the India-China hump, where he was later killed. He received the citation of honor, the gold star and memorial flag.

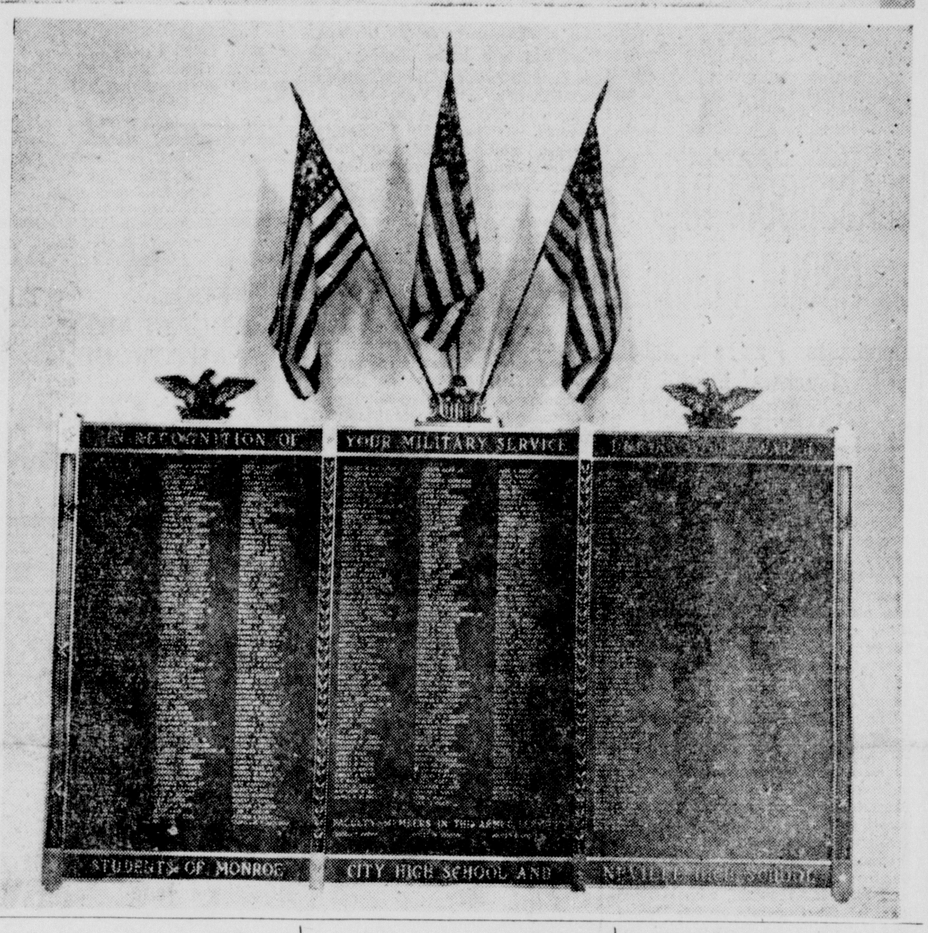

Captain Charles Titche, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Titche, Sr. After graduating from City High in 1929, Charles received a B. A. and L. L. D. degree from Tulane in 1944. Returning to Monroe, he joined the law firm of McHenry, Lamkin and Tiche. After he had served as private in the infantry, Charles was commissioned a second lieutenant in the field artillery. He had been promoted to captain when he was killed in action at Aachen in November, 1944. He was awarded the purple heart posthumously.

Staff Sergeant Danforth Earl Wilkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Wilkins, Sr., 609 Orange street. Enlisting in the air corps after graduation from Neville in 1940, he received specialized training as an aircraft mechanic and was stationed subsequently in Australia and in New Guinea, where he was attached to the 13th bombardment squadron. He was declared missing in action after a plane on which he was crew chief made a forced landing at Lae, New Guinea, May, 1942. He was awarded the purple heart and the citation of honor.

For their part in making the memorial possible, the students of Neville and those who so unstintingly supported them can indeed feel proud of having in such a way provided a lasting tribute to those who sacrificed themselves to safeguard the lives and heritage of those who now pay them honor.

NEVILLE HIGH SCHOOL MEMORIAL TABLET AND HONOR ROLL

Honoring former students and alumni are a memorial tablet (above) and an honor roll (below) containing the names of those who served in World War II. Purchased by contributions from Neville pupils, the two plaques will be dedicated in a special war memorial service this Tuesday.

Lake Providence

Mrs. Pearl F. Brown is home from Baton Rouge where she visited for almost a month with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Weldon.

Mrs. Jimmy Bruton is in Clarksville, Ark., inspecting the redecoration of the home the family will occupy in about three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Booker and daughter, Alice, enjoyed a motor trip to Little Rock and a visit with Mr. Booker's sister, Mrs. Margaret B. Mann.

Mr. and Mrs H. T. Van Fossen spent the week-end on the L. S. U. campus guests of their son and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Van Fossen, and Helen Key Van Fossen.

Mrs. H L. Van entertained at bridge during the week and had as guests Mrs. Susan E. Hart, Mrs. F. P. Regenold, Mrs. N. K. Delony, Mrs. F. X. Ransdell, Mrs. F. H. Schneider, Mrs. J. C. Bass, Mrs W. H. Maben and Mrs. J. N. Turner.

Prize winners were Mrs. Bass, highest score: Mrs. Schneider cut consolation and low score to Mrs. Maben.

"Twin Oaks" was a picturesque setting when Mrs. J. L. Baur entertained at cards. The spacious living room was effective in an autumn decoration of flowers.

Enjoying an evening of cards and the hospitality of the E. D. Schneider home were Miss Katherine Adams, Mrs. Rose Mary Barlow, Mrs. Joe Brock, Mrs. Mark H Brown, Jr., Mrs. Bill Cone, Mrs. Heiman Cohn, Mrs. Elmus H. Coleman, Mrs. Harry Deal, Mrs. John Hester, Mrs. Charles Gordon, Mrs. Grady Lightfoot, Mrs. Jack McCain, Mrs. Louis Nevin, Mrs. Paul Marcus, Miss Gracie Salemi, Mrs Charles Perry, Mrs. E. D. Schneider, Jr., Mrs. L. E. Townsend, and Mrs. Bernard Waxman. Highest score was made by Mrs. Hester.

Miss Carolyn Baur, Monroe, sister of Mr. J. L. Baur of Lake Providence, and a graduate of the L. S. U. Teachers' College, has arrived in Lake Providence and is a member of the high school faculty, replacing Mrs. Harry Deal as second grade teacher. Miss Baur will make her home at the Teacherage.

Mrs. A. S. Hill left last week-end for Little Rock for a visit in the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Hill, Jr., to be with their children while the parents attended a convention in Chicago.

Vail Montgomery, spending several weeks here with his sisters, Mrs. N. K. Delony and Mrs. J. C. Bass has returned to his home in Fresno, Calif., via Arkansas.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Albritton, Farmerville, were in Lake Providence the past week to visit their son, Lloyd Albritton, Jr., and family.

Prenuptial courtesies extended Miss Margaret Mitchell Goode were a supper with Miss Eunyce Howard hostess. A dinner at the F. A. Babb home. Steak supper with Miss Eddie Sue Bell and a family dinner party at the home of Mrs. Margaret B. Neill.

Miss Marilyn Jones, Arcadia, was a guest in the R. K. Howard home over the past week-end.

MISS M'KENZIE CONTINES TO HOLD THE SPOTLIGHT OF SOCIAL ATTENTION

Miss Barbara McKenzie, bride-elect continues to claim the spotlight of social attention and will continue to do so until she walks down the aisle to the strains of Lohengrin to become the bride of Hollis Venable.

Among the crowded hours of last week one event stood put prominently. It was the one o'clock luncheon at the Neil McHenry plantation with Mrs. McHenry and daughter, Miss Marguerite McHenry, hostesses.

Chrysanthemums and dahlias from the garden supplied the floral note for the living room and the dining room. White chrysanthemums were used exclusively in the dining room where a sumptuous turkey luncheon was served at small tables overlaid with lace and linen and centrally adorned with a crystal candlestick supporting a white taper.

The table reserved for Miss McKenzie and her bridal attendants was unusually artistic with white dahlias forming the central decor. She was a charming figure in a nile green albatross model and corsage of white dahlias and tube roses presented by her hostess.

Clever jingles, written on the place cards, were read aloud by each guest during the luncheon hour.

Demi tasse was served in the living room where Mrs. McHenry presided over the silver coffee urns.

Those present in addition to Miss McKenzie and her mother, Mrs. C. E. McKenzie, were Mrs. John Sherrouse, Jr., Mrs. Leo Thompson, Mrs. H. M. Venable, Mrs. R. N. Cochran, Mrs. Harold Mouk, Mrs. John Breard, Mrs. Howard Greene, Mrs. Scott Hamilton, Mrs. Langston Yancey.

Mrs. W. L. Husted's compliment to Miss McKenzie was a luncheon of distinctive appointment at the La Casa tea room.

The luncheon table served in silver and beautiful china was florally adorned a wide spreading crystal bowl of dahlias in all the pastel colors.

A delicious four-course luncheon was served and later a conversational hour was enjoyed in the flower adorned reception suite. Mrs. Husted took this opportunity to present Miss McKenzie with a gift of beautiful silver. She also presented the gift her daughter, Mrs. H. B. Hargrove of Lake Charles sent to Miss McKenzie.

Those present were: Miss McKenzie, Mrs. C. E. McKenzie, Mrs. James Moore, Mrs. Drew Davidson, Mrs. Lea Thompson, Mrs. E. P. Cudd, Mrs. Thomas Wyatt and Miss Kathie Biel.

RITCHIE CO. IS 60 YEARS OLD

Growth Of Wholesale Firm Amazes; Has Branches In 9 Cities

The Ritchie Grocer Company is celebrating its 60th anniversary. The observance was suitably stressed by a dinner party for all officials, salesmen and branch managers of Ruston, Monroe and Haynesville at Hotel Frances Saturday. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss future plans for the company, with factory representatives who were also in attendance. Back in 1928, this firm entered Monroe through the purchase of the old Southern Grocer Company. Since that time the plant purchased here has been doubled in size and the initial investment trebled. New additions, new departments and greatly increased payrolls have resulted.

E. N. Thompson, Monroe manager, came with the company as Ruston branch manager in 1935 and in 1939 was promoted to the managership of the Monroe headquarters. Before Mr. Thompson came to Monroe, he was for 11 years associated with the J. Foster and Company house in Fort Smith, Ark. Today Mr. Thompson employs 70 persons here, of whom 10 are salesmen .

In July, 1886, John C. Ritchie and Abe Lazarus, clerks in a Camden, Ark., general merchandise store, started the Ritchie Grocer Company. From a modest start, this company has grown until today there are branches not only in Camden but also in El Dorado, Texarkana, Hope, DeQueen, Pine Bluff, Monroe, Ruston and Haynesville. The total number employed in all this far flung system is 300 people. The company's capital today is more than a million and a quarter dollars. Eighty-nine trucks and 45 passenger cars serve groceries in a radius of 300 miles.

Evidences of alertness and progress are shown in the modern cold storage plants operated in El Dorado, Texarkana and Monroe and in the complete dry goods department having a separate sales staff and stocks at El Dorado, Pine Bluff, Texarkana and Monroe. A well-equipped bottling plant is operated at El Dorado. Employes are cared for through group insurance that covers every emergency that may arise.

Present officers of the company are: R. N. Benson, president; J. H. Alphin, vice-president; W. J. May, vice-president; G. E. Wilson, secretary-treasurer; E. D. Rucks, assistant secretary-treasurer; and J. K. Mahony, Randolph Murphy, J. E. Gaughan, J. G. Thompson and J. W. Reynolds, directors. Branch managers are: M. C. Crittenden, El Dorado; W. M. Pafford, Texarkana; E. N. Thompson, Monroe; W. J. May, Camden; C. S. Walker, Hope; T. H. Arnold, Haynesville; T. E. Melton, Ruston; J. B. Higman, Pine Bluff, and Morris Akins, acting manager, DeQueen.

The history of this 60-year-old enterprise is closely bound up with the typically American career of R. N. Benson, company president and El Dorado civic leader. He started as office boy in the small Camden plant. At 21 he became manager at El Dorado in 1903.

Rapid progress was made through the years and in 1933 when company headquarters were moved from Camden to El Dorado, Mr. Benson was elected president of the entire company.

Mr. Benson through the years has been rated as one of the biggest civic leaders in El Dorado. He is member of many clubs and organizations and is a director in the El Dorado First National Bank and president of the Superior Lumber Company of El Dorado.

Mr. Benson states that he anticipates that the South today stands on the threshhold of its greatest industrial economic and social advance in its history.

CLASSROOM HAS GROUP FORMED

Morehouse Parish School Teachers Elect Officials

BASTROP, La., Nov. 16.—(Special)—The Morehouse Parish Classroom Teachers were organized here and officers elected as follows:

President, Mrs. Mildred N. Moore; vice-president, Mrs. Hazel Mott; secretary, Mrs. Virginia T. Clark; treasurer, Mr. Aubrey Cumpton, and parliamentarian, Mrs. Zelma Pipes.

A committee will be appointed to draw up a constitution. This constitution must be approved by the members at large before the organization can be completed. A meeting will be called for this purpose.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Mildred N. Moore acting as temporary chairman. S. G. Lucky, principal of Bastrop High School, extended a welcome to the teachers and invited them to use Bastrop High School for meetings whenever they wished. The out-of-parish visitors were then introduced. They included four teachers from Farmerville, in Union parish, and Mrs. McCleandon, who is president of the Ouachita Parish Department of Classroom Teachers and Miss Eloise Cann, who heads the same organization in the Monroe city system.

WEST MONROE MAN INJURED IN CRASH

Paul Witt, 41, of Arkansas Road, West Monroe, suffered hand cuts when his east-bound auto struck the rear of a passing truck on U. S. 80, one and a half miles west of West Monroe at 11:45 p.m. Friday.

The left front and side of Witt's 1939 Chevrolet sedan were crushed, state police, estimating the damage at $400. Leonard Ames, 25, of Monroe, Route 2, driver of the truck, owned by F. Strauss & Son of Monroe, was injured. Damage to the truck was slight.

KNIFE, FORK CLUB TO HAVE FESTIVAL

The third annual festival of The Knife and Fork Club, Monroe Diner Number One, will be held Thursday night at 6:45 at the Frances Hotel. This group, composed of active York Rite Masons and their wives, meets annually for a banquet and initiation of new members. The festive atmosphere that has prevailed at the annual initiations has aroused a great deal of enthusiasm among the members, and to a lesser degree, among the candidates for initiation, with the result that Knife and Fork Club membership is actively sought and, when attained, is carefully maintained through continued activity in the chapter, council and commandery. An ornate loving cup is presented each year to the member having the best attendance record. The cup is now in possession of Charlie Kovaleski.

Present officers of the club are Barney Mulhern, president; Charlie Kovaleski, vice-president; O. Jay Smith, secretary-treasurer; and Guy Gannaway, past president and crumb-catcher. As the club membership increases each year, each banquet and initiation has been better than the preceding one; the 1946 festival promises to continue this tradition. Arrangements for the initiation are being completed by Henry Hartman, Guy Gannaway and Robert Cretney.

JR. RED CROSS IS ORGANIZED

First Parish-Wide Student Council In State Is To Operate

Students from the schools of Ouachita parish met in the Junior Red Cross room at 200 South Grand street Saturday morning and organized a Parish-Wide Student Council. Ouachita parish attains the honor of having the first Parish-Wide Junior Red Cross Council in the state. There are several city and town student councils in the state. The council members were very enthusiastic over the purpose and projects of Junior Red Cross. Each student carried a copy of this information back to his school for their consideration and approval.

The council members will meet again in regular session Saturday morning, November 30, at 9:30, for the purpose of adopting the Junior Red Cross constitution and completing the organization.

The following officers were elected: Chairman, Jimmie Padgett, Ouachita Parish High School; vice-chairman, Jeanine Oakley, Neville High School; secretary, Maxine McKenzie, Ouachita Parish High School; treasurer, Chuck Anders, St. Matthew's High School; reporter, Pat Griggs, Calhoun High School.

The following students attended the council meeting: Ouachita Parish High School: Maxine McKenzie, Jimmie Padgett, Roberta Goza, Margaret Pickens, Wilma Smith; Neville High School: Guy T. Elliot, Jr., Jeanine Oakley; Ouachita Parish Grammar School: Helene Mobley, Mary Alice Petty, Jake Coon, Alvin Corbin, Billy Serex, Mary Jo Berry; Crosley School: Tommy Street; Central Grammar School: Alice Mae Tarpley, Ronnie Stark, Willie Mae Flanigan; Calhoun School: Ada Sue Roach, Dollye Jo Burdeaux; Millsaps School: Ray Spence, Joyce Dumas; Swartz School: Barbara Burney, Lorraine Wyatt; Sherrouse School: Ann Branch, Bill Stevens; Lida Benton School: Oscar Cloyd; Georgia Tucker School: Nell Bridges, Lenard Shlenker; St. Paschal's School: Jeanette Daigle, Bobby Hemphill; St. Matthew's School: Chuck Anders, Pat Shaughnessy; Barkdull Faulk School: Harvey McFalls, Barbara Bloomer.

IN MOVIELAND

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 16.—(AP)—After exiting from the navy, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., was faced with two alternatives: 1, hiring himself out as an actor for approximately $100,000 per picture; 2, entering the diplomatic corps. Instead of either, he took the ulcer route—he is now a movie producer.

"When I went into the war, I burned my professional bridges behind me," he said in his office at Universal-International. "Now I have burned my financial bridges; I've got to make good or else."

Making good is a family trait, and that may help explain why Doug turned down the cushy dough as a free lance actor or the adventure of hard work of a diplomat His plans for the future appear to be closely paralleling the career of his father.

Like Fairbanks, Sr., Doug the younger is planning to produce and star in exciting stories. The first will be "The Exile" and this week he announced he will make "Knights of the Round Table" from the Arthurian Legends. Unlike his father, he will also produce, but not appear in, pictures that interest him, such as "Terry and the Pirates."

Make no mistake about it, Doug is not one of the tax-dodge actor-producers who have sprung up in recent years. He is following his paternal example in pursuing every detail of production. I have watched him in action, directing tests, supervising script, etc. His father used to blueprint his productions beforehand, and Doug is going even further. He hopes to have every detail set before shooting starts, and his extensive charts, outlining every scene. Assisting him is Clarence Ericksen, who came out of retirement to resume his watch over the Fairbanks fortunes which he began with Doug, Sr., 27 years ago.

But Fairbanks, Jr., says he will make no attempt to recreate his father's films, except in spirit. No one could reproduce that vital personality. Besides, it's hard to make films on such a grand scale with present costs. "Thief of Bagdad" cost a million dollars in the '20's (a lot of potatoes in those days); today it would run three or four, Doug says.

Despite all the activity, Doug's plans extend only five years more or less.

AGAIN PROTEST ROMANIAN VOTE

British And American Government Attempt To Present Notes

BUCHAREST, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The British and American governments sought to present notes to the Romanian government today protesting anew the conduct of next Tuesday's Romanian elections in which Teohari Tatarescu, Communist interior minister, predicted there will be broken heads but no major incidents.

The notes were understood to express dissatisfaction with Romania's reply to previous British and American notes regarding the elections.

(The state department said the United States note was delivered to the government of Premier Petru Groza by Burton Y. Berry, U. S. political representative in Romania. The note, the fourth in a series since May, sought again to prod Romania into holding a free and untrammeled election.

(The notes of May 27, June 14 and October 28 criticized the campaign arrangements and alleged discrimination against opposition parties. / In reply, Romania charged interference in her internal and sovereign affairs. The latest American note said this plea was inadmissible, and that United States interest in the election was derived from its obligation under the Big Three pledge at Yalta to sponsor free and democratic elections in the liberated countries.

(The three opposition parties in Romania appealed to Britain, Russia and the United States on Friday to see that there is a free ballot, alleging their followers were being "terrorized" by the government.)

Feverish last-minute electioneering activity dominated Romania on the eve of the elections. Supporters of the government bloc were busy smearing miles of Bucharest's walls with posters. Loudspeaker trucks were blaring slogans continuously. Women, voting in Romania for the first time, added their voices to the campaign fervor by urging women to vote.

For the first time in many days small groups of the opposition were out shouting their slogans. A few opposition meetings also have been held the last few days, but they were behind closed doors.

Fearing clashes, despite the fact that the campaign has passed off so far without serious incident, troops were held at the ready at their barracks. Police patrols also were increased.

Tartarescue in a news conference yesterday admitted widespread searches had been made by police for arms and that 200 members of the opposition had been thrown into jail, but he declared all were being released for the elections except those who are to be tried by military courts.

The 38-year-old Communist accused his opponents, especially the National Peasant party, of preparing disorders for election day, saying they had distributed instructions to their followers not to leave the voting places until the vote was counted, whereas the law says they must leave immediately after casting their ballots.

In reply to a question he said he expected there would be some broken heads but no major incidents.

Tatarescu declared the opposition parties were free to conduct their campaigns and propaganda and that the press was free, but when asked about equality of time on the radio for opponents he took evasive action by saying he had not been approached on that question.

The interior minister also evaded a direct answer to a question whether the new parliament might invalidate the elections of some opponents on the grounds they were former Iron Guardists and collaborationists.

The official said 7,968,794 persons had registered to vote, 6,129,043 in rural areas. In the 1928 elections about 3,700,000 registered and 2,900,000 voted. Tens of thousands have been politically incapacitated because of allegations they collaborated with the Germans.

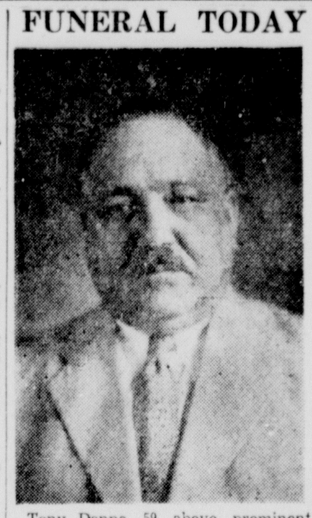

The issue is drawn between the six parties of the government bloc and three opposition parties. The government bloc is made up of Communists, Socialists, dissident National Liberals, dissident National Peasants, a government-sponsored middle class party and the ploughmen's front.

The opposition is composed of the National Liberals, said by the government to orient its policy toward heavy industries and big banks; the National Peasants, and the Independent Socialists.

The government bloc has issued a clearcut platform that stands half way between a moderate centrist program and what might be compared to the British labor government's policies. While this middle program has not drawn much fire, many people fear that a parliament dominated by the bloc may go far beyond the official program.

The opposition has suffered from disunity and has not been able to focus on a detailed program.

FUNERAL TODAY

Tony Danna, 59, above, prominent local merchant, died in New Orleans Thursday. There will be a high mass for him at St. Matthew's Church Monday at 8 a. m., and at 2 p. m. Monday at the church the funeral will be held. Rev. J. C. Marsh will officiate. Interment will be in the Catholic Cemetery, under direction of the Mulhearn Funeral home.

CHRISTMAS SEAL HISTORY TOLD

Ouachita Stamp Club Hears Address On Aid Rendered TB Cause

The Ouachita Stamp Club, at their regular meeting in Hotel Frances, Friday night, had as their guest speaker Jerry Hodge, district consultant for the Louisiana Tubercular Association, who outlined the history of the Christmas Seal and the use to which the seal sale proceeds are put in combatting tuberculosis. Also a picture on tuberculosis and a picture of the Battle of Siapan were shown by E. L. Sanford, executive secretary of the Ouachita T. B. Association. The Christmas seal sale starts November 25.

Einar Holboell, a postal clerk in the Danish post office, originated the world's first Christmas Seal which was issued in 1904. This went over so well that Jacob Riis, a Danish social service worker, corresponded with Miss Emily P. Bissell, of the American Red Cross, regarding the possibility of starting the sale of seals in the United States. In 1907 the Delaware Chapter of the American Red Cross issued the first Christmas Seal in the United States and from this sale was realized three thousand dollars.

In 1908 the sale of Christmas Seals was taken over by the American National Red Cross and the seals were sold nationally. The proceeds from the seal sales gradually increased year by year until in 1917 the proceeds amounted to $1,815,110.00. In 1918 the American National Red Cross donated $2,500,000.00 instead of selling Christmas Seals and the seals were given away that year. Beginning in 1919 the National Tuberculosis Association took over sale of all Christmas Seals and in 1920 they also began to issue them as well as sell them. In 1945 the Christmas Seal sale amounted to $15,638,755.37 which was quite an increase over the first sale of three thousand dollars.

Mr. Hodge said that they are trying to organize each parish so that sale of seals can be carried out more effectively and thereby realize more funds for this worthwhile work. He said the sale of seals for Ouachita parish in 1945 was $6,766.39. There was a drop in other parishes from the past year due to a influenza epidemic around Christmas which caused the schools to close early and keeping some of their best salesmen, the school children, from helping as much as they had in the past.

60th Anniversary

RITCHIE GROCER CO.

CAPT. JOHN C. RITCHIE

ABE LAZARUS
Founder

It was in July, 1886, twelve years before the Spanish-American War, that John C. Ritchie and Abe Lazarus, ambitious young clerks in a Camden, Arkansas, general merchandise store, decided, in the American tradition, to go into business for themselves. The field which seemed to offer the most promise at the time was the wholesale grocery business . . . And so Ritchie and Company was organized to serve retail grocers in a comparatively restricted territory.

The principal asset of the company was a river steamboat, the sternwheeler "Prince," which brought most of the grocery supplies up the Ouachita River to Camden. Flour, canned goods, and like products were transported by water from St. Louis down the Mississippi and up the Ouachita. Rice, molasses, and other bulky commodities were moved up "Ol' Man River" from New Orleans. (It was the ownership of the "Prince" that resulted in the title "Captain," which clung to Mr. Ritchie throughout his business career.)

From that small but colorful beginning, this pioneer Arkansas enterprise has weathered three wars and numerous depressions to grow into one of the largest grocery distributing organizations in the Southwest. It now operates nine branch houses (at El Dorado, Camden, Texarkana, Hope, DeQueen, and Pine Bluff, Arkansas; and Monroe, Ruston, and Haynesville, Louisiana) doing business in four states. It employs 300 people. With plant headquarters and offices now located at El Dorado, the Ritchie Grocer Company at present has a capital of more than a million and a quarter dollars.

Ritchie's progress since the riverboat days may be measured in terms of miles covered by its fleet of 89 trucks and 45 passenger cars. This equipment, covers more than 2 1/2 million miles annually in serving thousands of retail grocers in a radius of 300 miles.

Other evidences of alertness and progress may be found in the modern cold storage plants operated at El Dorado, Texarkana and Monroe . . . or in the complete dry goods department (C. E. Dunlap, Manager) having a separate sales staff and stocks at El Dorado, Pine Bluff, Texarkana, and Monroe . . . or in the well-equipped bottling plant operated at El Dorado, which produces popular beverages for exclusive distribution in Union County . . . or in the employe group insurance plan which offers life, health, accident, and hospitalization benefits . . . or in the 50 well-trained salesmen who are ever ready to aid the grocer in problems of merchandising, advertising, stock display, and store management

A GROUP OF RITCHIE GROCER CO. BRANCH MANAGERS

E. N. THOMPSON

R. N. BENSON
President

G. E. WILSON
Secretary-Treasurer

Present officers of the company are: R. N. Benson, president; J. H. Alphin, vice president; W. J. May, vice president; G. E. Wilson, secretary-treasurer; E. D. Rucks, assistant secretary-treasurer; and J. K. Mahony, Randolph Murphy, J. E. Gaughan, J. G. Thompson, and J. W. Reynolds, directors.

Branch managers of the company are: M. C. Crittenden, El Dorado; W. M. Pafford, Texarkana; E. N. Thompson, Monroe; W. J. May, Camden; C. S. Walker, Hope; T. H. Arnold, Haynesville; T. E. Melton, Ruston; J. B. Higman, Pine Bluff, and Morris Akins, acting manager, DeQueen.

The history of this 60-year-old enterprise is closely bound with the typically American career of R. N. Benson, company president and El Dorado civic leader. With 47 years of Ritchie service behind him, President Benson likes to reminisce occasionally about how in 1898, at the age of 16, he obtained the job of office boy at the Camden headquarters.

Young Benson proceeded to learn the business from the ground up, and when a branch house was established in El Dorado in 1903, he was well prepared for promotion to the local managership at the age of 21. When asked how he managed to progress so rapidly, Mr. Benson points out dryly that—"Perhaps the 18 to 20 hours a day I put in may have had something to do with it." (Now, at 64, his daily work schedule runs from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.)

In 1905, substantial expansion of the company got under way in North Louisiana and South Arkansas. The oil boom in and around El Dorado in 1921 led to further expansion, and by 1928 a total of 22 branch houses were being operated. Later, when highway improvements became general over the territory (embracing South Arkansas, North Louisiana, Southeast Oklahoma, and Northeast Texas), it was found that the use of fast, modern delivery vans made possible a gradual reduction in the number of distributing points to nine, with no decrease in the total volume of business.

In 1933, when the company headquarters were transferred from Camden to El Dorado, the natural business acumen of Branch Manager Benson received the highest recognition—he was elected president by the board of directors.

In addition to his duties as head of one of Arkansas' largest wholesale houses, Mr. Benson has found time to contribute liberally of his energies to civic affairs. He is a past president of both the El Dorado Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary Club. He was recently made an honorary member of the Rotary Club. Some sort of record was established two years ago when he completed 25 years as chairman of the Union County chapter of the American Red Cross. A director in the First National Bank of El Dorado, president of the Superior Lumber Company, El Dorado, and vice president of the American Wholesale Grocers Association, Mr. Benson still takes time out for his favorite hobby—playing with his four grandchildren.

Company directors are very proud of the enviable service records made by the 300 employes, and it is pointed out that "more than one-sixth of our employes have been with us for more than 10 years—44 employes have service records of 15 years or more—and 37 of us have been here for 20 years or more."

An interesting fact is that many of Ritchie's accounts have been active for from 40 to 45 years—"ample evidence of a successful customer policy based on service and fair dealing."

As to the outlook in the postwar years, President Benson said: "We have, of course, like everybody else, been operating under many handicaps during the last four years. We are now looking forward with the South and the nation in the greatest industrial, economic, and social advance in our history."

TERRY AND THE PIRATES

by MILTON CANIFF

JANE, I USED TO THINK I COULD BE A PRETTY SUBTLE GUY...

WHY, TERRY, WHAT CAUSES YOU TO THINK DIFFERENTLY, NOW?... SAID MISS ALLEN, LIKE THE GOOD STRAIGHT MAN SHE IS...

I HAVE NO COMEDY PUNCH LINE TO GO WITH THAT BUILD-UP! IT'S JUST THAT HOTSHOT SAYS I'M JEALOUS AND SHOW IT!

JEALOUS ?

CHAZZ SAYS I WAS RUDE TO DEETH CRISPIN BECAUSE HE SEEMED MORE IMPORTANT TO YOU THAN I AM...

WERE YOU ?

I GUESS I WAS! DOES THAT THROW MY WHEELS OUT OF LINE?

I'M NOT THE TONGUE-TIED TYPE, BUT RIGHT NOW I CAN'T THINK OF ANYTHING TO SAY, TERRY...

IF IT'S A BRUSH, DO IT FAST AND NEAT, JANE!.. THEN WE CAN GO ON FROM THERE AS IF I HAD ENOUGH SENSE TO STAY IN MY LEAGUE!

OH, NO, TERRY! IF YOU HAD COME WOLFING AROUND I MIGHT HAVE PLAYED COY — BUT YOU KINDA SNUCK UP ON ME, PODNUH...

WELL, NOW THAT I'M HERE...

OH, OUT OF LINE, AFTER ALL, HUH?

NO, TERRY IT'S JUST THAT I PLAY FOR KEEPS, AS YOU KNOW!.. PLEASE DON'T BE HURT IF I SUGGEST THAT WE STAND BACK AND LOOK AT THIS FOR A LITTLE WHILE...

HOW DID THEY EVER HOLD SUCH A SMART WAC AS YOU DOWN TO BUCK SERGEANT?

SHUCKS, BAR. BOY, SOMEBODY HAD TO HANG AROUND AND WRITE REPORTS ON HOW THE GEE-EYES WERE DOING! OTHERWISE, YOU GENTS IN THE OFFICERS' CLUBS MIGHT NEVER HAVE KNOWN WHO WON THE WAR!

MEANWHILE...

DOES M'SIEU CRISPIN KNOW HOW HE WILL BE USED?

BUT OF COURSE NOT... HE NEED NEVER KNOW WHAT WE PAID TO GET THOSE CUSTOMS SEALS PLACED ON THE BOX...

DO YOU FLY AWAY AS SOON AS WE LOAD THE AIRCRAFT, M'SIEU YANKEE?

RIGHT! WHY?

AH! IT IS GOOD! THEN PLEASE TO BE MOST POLITE WITH THE LARGE CRATE MARKED "INFLAMMABLE"

DICK TRACY

by CHESTER GOULD

YES, CHRISTMAS EARLY, YOU ARE COMPLETELY CLEARED REGARDING THE DEATH OF GEORGE EMPIRE, THE DRUG KING.

THANK HEAVEN!

BEFORE GARGLES DIED, HE MADE A STATEMENT TO THE PROSECUTOR AND TWO OTHER WITNESSES THAT IT WAS HE WHO SLUGGED EMPIRE — CAUSING HIS DEATH.

AT THAT TIME, GARGLES WAS MAKING PHONY MOUTHWASH. EMPIRE REFUSED TO BUY IT FOR HIS DRUG CHAIN AND WAS GOING TO EXPOSE GARGLES TO THE POLICE.

WELL, IT'S ALL OVER AND I'M SO HAPPY! AND I HAVE ONE REQUEST, MR. TRACY.

AND WHAT IS THAT, CHRISTMAS?

LET ME TAKE THEMESONG. LET HER STAY WITH ME. I LIKE HER SO. AND SHE'S INTERESTED IN RADIO.

PERHAPS THAT COULD BE ARRANGED — WHAT DO YOU SAY, THEME?

THAT'S GREAT! I LIKE CHRISTMAS EARLY, BUT I AIN'T GONNA CUT OFF MY HAIR OR WEAR ANY SISSY CLOTHES.

AND I WANT TO THANK YOU, MISS TRUEHEART, FOR BEING SO SWELL TO ME.

MAYBE SOMEDAY, THEMESONG, YOU'LL BE A GREAT RADIO STAR.

I KNOW OF A FINE OLD GENTLEMAN WHO USED TO BE AN ACTOR — I'M GOING TO HAVE HIM COACH THEMESONG.

YES? WHAT IS THIS OLD ACTOR'S NAME?

I CAN'T RECALL HIS NAME HE DOESN'T ACT ANY MORE. HE RUNS A HAMBURGER STAND. BUT IN HIS DAY HE WAS A GREAT ACTOR. HE'S GIVEN ME SEVERAL POINTERS.

TRMCT NOV-17 KEY

SHALL WE LOOK IN ON THAT OLD ACTOR AND HIS HAMBURGER STAND? A ONE-MAN STAFF AND A ONE-MAN FLOOR SHOW — STOOLS FOR 4 CUSTOMERS. THAT'S THE PLACE.

YOU ARE MY ALL! YOU ARE MY ALL!

YOU ARE MY ALL, ALL, ALL! YOU ARE MY ALL, ALL, ALL! YOU ARE MY ALL!

THE TITLE OF THAT LAST RENDITION, DEAR FRIENDS, WAS "YOU ARE MY ALL."

Tarzan

by EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

A WRECKED PLANE IN THE STRANGE TERRITORY HE HAD SOUGHT SO LONG! COLD SWEAT TRICKLED DOWN TARZAN'S FACE AS HE ASKED HIMSELF THE DREADED QUESTION.

COULD THIS BE THE PLANE IN WHICH JANE CRASHED? PULLING THE TANGLED FOLIAGE ASIDE, TARZAN SAW THE INSIGNE OF THE ROYAL AIR FORCE.

'LOOK, OM-AT,' TARZAN CRIED, 'THIS WAS A BRITISH PLANE AND JANE FLEW IN AN AMERICAN TRANSPORT!' OM-AT GRUNTED AND SMILED, BUT HE DID NOT UNDERSTAND SUCH STRANGE TALK.

'WE MUST SEEK FARTHER FOR THE SHIP IN WHICH MY MATE CRASHED,' TARZAN SAID. STARTING TO LEAVE, HIS EYES SEARCHED THE UNDERGROWTH. 'WAIT! WHAT IS THAT?' HE EXCLAIMED.

'THE SKELETON,' THE APE-MAN GROWLED, 'OF A DEAD FLIER! AND LOOK--THE SECRET SYMBOL--THE SAME AS I FOUND ON THE MAN WHO TRIED TO KILL ME IN THE PLANE.

'MY SUSPICIONS OF THIS UNKNOWN AREA ARE CONFIRMED,' HE CONTINUED. 'THAT WRECK WAS NO ACCIDENT. COME, OM-AT, LET US FIND A CERTAIN LANDMARK!'

TAKING TO THE TREES, AFTER THE FASHION OF APES, THE PAIR SWUNG THROUGH THE JUNGLE IN ABSOLUTE SILENCE, EVER WATCHFUL FOR EVIDENCE OF LURKING ENEMIES.

TARZAN KNEW THAT HIS LONG SEARCH WAS NEARING AN END. THE MOUNTAIN REVEALED IN THE WITCH DOCTOR'S VISION, AND CONFIRMED BY THE BRITISH, WAS HIS OBJECTIVE.

HE BELIEVED JANE STILL LIVED. HAD NOT OTHER VISIONS REVEALED BY THE WITCH DOCTOR COME TRUE? HIS HEART RACED AS HE SPIED AN OPENING AHEAD.

ALTHOUGH THE ROAD HAD BEEN LONG AND DEVIOUS AND THE DANGERS MANY, AT LAST TARZAN SIGHTED HIS GOAL, THE MOUNTAIN SHAPED LIKE A GORILLA'S HEAD.

SOMEWHERE ON THE ROCKY SLOPES OF THIS MOUNTAIN, HE BELIEVED HE WOULD FIND THE WRECKED PLANE THAT HAD BROUGHT HIS BELOVED WIFE TO AFRICA.

AT THIS MOMENT OF ELATION, TARZAN'S THOUGHTS WERE SHATTERED BY THE SHARP REPORT OF A RIFLE. A BULLET, FIRED BY AN UNSEEN ASSAILANT, WHIZZED PAST HIS HEAD.

JUNGLE JIM

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

THANKS FOR SHOOTING THOSE TIGERS! YOU SAVED OUR LIVES, KOLU," JIM SAYS. A SUDDEN HONKING OUTSIDE INTERRUPTS HIM..

Copr. 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.

"BLAST YOU, I TOLD YOU TO STAY INSIDE!" BULL ROARS.."NOW I'VE GOT TO TRAP MORE TIGERS TO GUARD ME AGAINST NIGHT-PROWLING DACOITS!"

11-17-46

CARSON IMPATIENTLY DRAWS ON BULL: "QUIT STALLING. TAKE ME TO LITA--I'VE COME TO RESCUE HER!" JIM FROWNS AT THIS RASHNESS.

"SO THAT'S YOUR GAME?" BULL LAUGHS. "OKAY, YOU YOUNG FOOL, LET'S GO SEE LITA . . . YOU'RE DUE FOR A NASTY SURPRISE!"

NEXT WEEK: BULL'S TRIUMPH

FLASH GORDON

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

THE CAVE MEN WAVER AS THE FUR-MEN FIGHT DEEP INTO THE ICY TUNNEL.

FLASH COMES TO THE RESCUE -- AND HIS FLAME-GUN DRIVES THE FUR-MEN BACK IN SUDDEN CONFUSION.

BUT THEIR WIZARD FORCES THEM BACK TO THE ATTACK: "I'LL KILL ANY FUR-MAN WHO RUNS AWAY!" KANG THE CRUEL WILL SPEND ALL HIS MEN TO GET FLASH.

"IS THIS THE ONLY WAY OUT OF THE GLACIER CAVES?" FLASH DEMANDS. THE CHIEF CAVE MAN HESITATES. "NO. HIDDEN PASSAGE ALONGSIDE ICE RIVER."

"STAND BACK, CAVE MEN!" FLASH ORDERS AS HE HEARS THE FUR-MEN COMING. HE AIMS A FLAME-RAY THAT MELTS THE GLACIER ROOF AND SEALS THE TUNNEL WITH AN AVALANCHE.

MOON MULLINS

by Frank Willard

HAVE YOU AN APPOINTMENT WITH THE DOCTOR?

NO-JUST HIS I.O.U. FOR FORTY BUCKS.

I'M SORRY, BUT DR. SMITH IS OUT NOW, MR. MULLINS.

OH, BOY- AIN'T SHE A PIP!

HE SAID HE'D BE BACK, DOCTOR.

THEN I'M GOING TO REALLY GO OUT.

I GUESS I'D OUGHTA GET HER HOME TELEPHONE NUMBER.

WELL, YOUNG WOMAN!

WHEN YOU'RE THROUGH RUBBER NECKING OUT THE WINDOW, YOU MAY TELL DR. SMITH THAT MRS. SMITH IS HERE!

OH, I'M SORRY, MRS. SMITH— BUT THAT MAN IS SO IRRESISTIBLE I COULDN'T HELP LOOKING WHEN HE WHISTLED.

OH, DEAR ME— THIS MAN I MUST SEE!

OH.

SO!

POW!

I TOLD YOU DR. SMITH WASN'T IN.

DON'T WORRY ABOUT HIM, HONEY. THIS IS DR. SMITH!

THE GUMPS

CHESTER AND HIS FRIENDS HAVE MANAGED TO ESCAPE THE VOLCANO THROUGH THE SECRET PASSAGE-- BUT—

THE LAVA! IT'S CATCHING UP TO US!

WE'VE GOT TO MAKE THAT HILL OR WE'LL BE COOKED ALIVE!

CHESTER! ARE YOU HURT?

NO— JUST A LITTLE RINGING IN MY HEAD!

LETS GO IN THIS OLD TEMPLE— IT'S PROBABLY COOLER THERE— I WANT TO TAKE A LOOK AT DR. MOTA'S LEG!

IT'S A BIT EERIE IN HERE— BUT THERE IS SOME KIND OF LIGHT AHEAD!

LET'S SEE WHAT IT IS—

TUNNO-CHEE!

"THE ONLY FREEDOM WHICH DESERVES THE NAME, IS THAT OF PURSUING OUR OWN GOOD IN OUR OWN WAY, SO LONG AS WE DO NOT ATTEMPT TO DEPRIVE OTHERS OF THEIRS…" JOHN STUART MILL

IT WASN'T OUR FAULT THAT WE RAN INTO SNIDE SORREL AGAIN! HE JUST SEEMED TO SORT OF KEEP OUT IN FRONT OF US…

HE SURE TRIED HIS BEST TO HELP THOSE KILLERS GET ME! IT WAS KIND O' FUN TO SCARE HIM, FOR A CHANGE, AND SEE HIM RUN!

BUT THIS! GUESS HE WAS SO SCARED HE NEVER NOTICED WHERE HE WAS GOIN'… WELL, LIKE AS NOT HE WON'T BE MISSED A GREAT DEAL…

WARNING ABANDONED MINE SHAFT KEEP OUT

I DON'T FEEL TOO WELL! LET'S SHOVE ON, SANDY… ON AND ON AND ON… WE'RE OUT O' SMOKY HOLLOW NOW…

ALMOST OUT O' TH' HILLS, SEEMS AS HOW… SORT O' GENTLY ROLLIN' COUNTRY AHEAD… HEY, LOOK! A RAILROAD… THAT'S FOR US!

A RAILROAD IS GEN'RALLY TH' BEST ROAD TO TRAVEL, WHEN YOU'RE ON FOOT… TH' GRADES ARE EASY… AND IT ALWAYS GOES PLACES…

ANOTHER THING, ALONG A RAILROAD YUH AREN'T SO LIKELY TO RUN INTO SOME DO-GOODER, ASKIN' A MESS O' NOSY QUESTIONS!

IT'S BEEN SOME TIME SINCE WE'VE BEEN ON TH' ROAD ON OUR OWN… MAYBE THINGS HAVE CHANGED… MAYBE TH' BUSYBODIES AREN'T AS THICK AS THEY WERE…

BUT, UNTIL I'M SURE O' THAT, WE'RE STAYIN' OUT O' CROWDS, SANDY, AND KEEPIN' OUR NOSE TIDY, AS TH' FELLA SAYS…

I LIKE GOOD-HEARTED, KINDLY FOLKS, BUT I DON'T AIM TO LET ANY OF 'EM SWEET TALK ME INTO ANY OLD ORPHANAGE …AND YOU INTO TH' DOG POUND, "ALL FOR OUR OWN GOOD", O' COURSE!

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.: Copyright, 1946, by News Syndicate Co. Inc.

NOPE! I'VE GOT MY RIGHTS… BUT I'M NOT GOIN' TO BE BULL-HEADED… SO LET'S GET OFF TH' TRACK, SANDY, AND LET THAT FREIGHT TRAIN GO BY!

SUSAN'S SISTER, EMBER, WAS SENT TO TH' PENITENTIARY YESTERDAY, RIPSAW!

WOMEN SHORE DO PRESENT TROUBLESOME PROBLEMS, DON'T THEY, MR. MARTIN?

BY THE WAY, HOW'S YOUR SITUATION, RIPSAW?

WELL, MY LITTLE DE-ICER'S POPPA STILL HAS WOLF TRAPS ON THE WELCOME MAT!

MAYBE I SHOULD HAVE TOLD JACK ABOUT TH' ODD GOINGS-ON THAT I'VE STUMBLED ONTO!

I'M AFRAID THAT MY HONEY'S OLD MAN AIN'T ON TH' UP AN' UP IN HIS BUILDING MATERIALS BUSINESS!

THEN COME ALONG-- I NEED A WITNESS!

HEY! WHO'S THIS TIED UP ON TH' FLOOR?

IT'S LI'L MOUSE MY ROOMMATE!

HEY, RIPSAW--- ARE YOU AFRAID OF AEROBATICS?

WHY NO, HUBBA HUBBA! I'VE DONE SPINS AN' STUFF IN MY FLYING COURSE!

LATER: LI'L MOUSE HAS A HABIT OF TALKIN' IN HIS SLEEP!

--WHILE NAPPING, HE MUMBLED SOME STUFF THAT MADE ME THINK HE MIGHT HAVE FRAMED YO-YO AND EMBER!

LI'L MOUSE ADMITS NOTHING! BUT I KNOW THAT HE IS SCARED OF AEROBATICS! DO YOU CATCH ON, RIPSAW?

I SURE DO, HUBBA HUBBA HUBERT. GIVE 'ER TH' GUN!

HUBBA HUBBA, REMEMBER THE HOUSING SHORTAGE! I SHARED MY ROOM WITH YOU, OL' PAL!

THAT WAS YOUR MISTAKE, LI'L MOUSE! ---SNAP ROLLS ARE SO REFRESHING, AREN'T THEY!

ARE YOU READY TO ADMIT THAT YOU FRAMED YO-YO AND EMBER, LI'L MOUSE?

NO! NO! I DIDN'T FRAME ANY-BODY!

JACK MOSLEY NOV. 17

YOU DIDN'T? WHAT A PITY! I HAD SO HOPED I WOULDN'T HAVE TO DO A TEN-TURN SPIN TODAY!

HOLD YOUR TUMMY, MOUSEY---YOUR GIRDLE MAY NOT BE A TWO-WAY STRETCH!
